OTTAWA CONFERENCE TO LAUNCH BATTLE

War Against Crime Shaping

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Cardin announced today provincial attorneys-general will meet federal authorities here Dec. 2-3 to discuss all aspects of crime in Canada.

The decision to hold such a conference was taken July 22 at the federal-provincial conference here but exact dates were left to be settled through correspondence between Mr. Cardin and his provincial counterparts.

Mr. Cardin announced the dates in an interview but said details of the conference agenda must await further correspondence with the attorneys-general.

He said the agenda will be as "comprehensive and useful as possible."

Asked about a Quebec report that the conference is expected to discuss fraudulent bankruptcies and arson rackets, Mr. Cardin said it was possible these topics would be on the agenda, depending on whether any attorneys-general recommend their inclusion.

He estimated 25 to 30 officials will attend the conference and that heads of police associations likely will be invited.

Moslem Youths Fire Indonesia's Red Quarters

JAKARTA (AP) — Young Moslem demonstrators burned the Indonesian Communist party's headquarters to the ground today in a riotous reaction to the leftist coup attempt last weekend.

Several thousand youths staged the raid, ignoring President Sukarno's efforts to protect the Communist party. Known as the PKI and claiming 3,000,000 members, it has been a powerful element in Sukarno's support.

Also ignored was a declaration by the Communists that they had nothing to do with the abortive uprising, led by Lt.-Col. Untung, a battalion commander of Sukarno's presidential guard.

The youths, demonstrating in a fashion developed by the Indonesian Communists, demanded dissolution of the party and its leader. They paraded with shouts of "To hell with the PKI" and "Long live America."

Indonesian troops who broke the back of the attempted coup last Friday, cordoned off streets leading to the PKI headquarters and made no attempt to interfere.

'KILL AIDIT'

The demonstrating youths shouted "Kill Aidit" and "Dissolve PKI." D. N. Aidit is the first secretary of the PKI. He has been out of sight since the coup failed last weekend.

(A Jakarta radio broadcast, heard in Kuala Lumpur, said 50,000 persons held an anti-Communist rally in Jakarta's main stadium today. The broadcast said "the rally was held in very tense atmosphere" and got somewhat out of hand when some of the crowd began to shout "Kill! Kill! Kill immediately!")

Most of the demonstrators were from Ansor, the youth wing of the biggest Moslem political group.

The Indonesian Army meanwhile continued its anti-Communist campaign despite President Sukarno's attempts to check it.

The army newspaper Berita Yudha reported the arrest of three Communist Youth Front members who it said had confessed taking part in the murder of six Indonesian army generals during the attempted coup last week.

Since martial law was proclaimed last Saturday, the army has had control of the capital and its suburbs.

Sukarno at a cabinet meeting at his summer palace in Bogor Wednesday said he disapproved of the army's anti-Communist campaign and declared, "we should not take revenge."

Marine police in Singapore today reported gunfire and explosions on the Indonesian island of Samboe, in the Riau archipelago 15 miles from Singapore.

A revolution appeared to be in progress," police sources said but they had no information.

NATO Split Bid Rejected

NEW YORK (CP)—The United States today rejected France's suggestion that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization be divided into a European and a North American structure which would work together in defence of the Atlantic alliance nations.

Wayne L. Hays, head of a U.S. House of Representatives delegation to the NATO parliamentarians' conference, said "France is wrong in its approach" to the reform of the Atlantic alliance.

57 Deaths On Roads Predicted

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Highway Safety Council said Thursday the number of traffic deaths during the Thanksgiving Day weekend might total 57.

The council said in a statement relatively warm weather will draw more drivers to the highways.

Last year the weekend produced 40 deaths, 12 below the eight-year average of 52.

Oil Inferno On Cyprus Controlled

NICOSCIA, Cyprus (UPI) — British troops worked in shifts today to contain a multi-million dollar blazing inferno at a Shell Company oil depot in southeast Cyprus, believed started by Communist sympathizers.

The huge blaze which destroyed five storage tanks began Thursday morning after four masked raiders set time bombs at the depot 20 miles from here at Larnaca.

At one point late Thursday night, a strong wind blowing from the sea sent fears that the blaze would reach several other tanks in the enormous oil complex.

But the wind stopped and with it fears of a major catastrophe.

More than 150 troops from the British bases on the island worked in shifts with Cypriot firemen. The Royal Air Force also lent a hand by providing equipment and foam.

Greek Cypriot Interior Minister Polycarpos Georgadjis said "enemies of the people" were responsible for the blaze. No one was reported to have been injured.

TROOPS USE TEAR GAS IN ATTACK

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. paratroopers launched a big new operation on the fringe of the Viet Cong's D zone and used non-lethal tear gas, a U.S. military spokesman said.

No further details were immediately available on the gas attack.

In a major change of policy, the field commander had been authorized before the operation to use non-lethal tear gas if he deemed it necessary. The object was to flush out the Viet Cong without wounding or killing non-combatants.

A U.S. military spokesman said the Americans made "significant contact" with the enemy.

Thousands of U.S. troops combed a densely jungled area about 30 miles north of Saigon. Australian forces supported the operation.

B-52 bombers from Guam hammered the area twice before the U.S. ground offensive.

MOVE IN CONVOYS

The paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed by helicopter and moved into the Viet Cong area in convoys along Highway 13, near the district capital of Ben Cat.

The fighting was believed to have been heavy. A personnel carrier hit a Viet Cong mine and overturned. Casualties were reported moderate.

Informed sources said the authorization to use tear gas in the D zone operation was given by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, because it was felt that non-lethal gas was the most humane weapon that could be used in certain situations the paratroopers probably would encounter.

The Viet Cong often take cover among non-combatant civilians, many times among women and children, in the trench systems, underground holes that dot much of the countryside in D zone.

KIDNEY STONE, GALL BLADDER REMOVED

Johnson Doing Well After Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's gall bladder operation was performed without complications today and three hours later he was reported "doing well."

However, White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson, as would any patient recovering from a gall bladder operation, was "experiencing mild discomfort."

The operation itself went "beautifully and as expected" in the words of one of the doctors and was pronounced a "complete success."

The surgical team did find and remove a kidney stone in the ureter as well as removing the faulty gall bladder. The ureter is a passage through which urine is voided.

Johnson was in the operating room from 7 a.m. to 9:15 a.m.

Moyers reported Johnson began to emerge from an anesthetic sleep less than an hour after the surgery by a medical team enlisted in part from the famed Mayo Clinic.

He said he himself had talked with the president about 11 a.m.

Moyers said the doctors told him the operation was "routine." There was no cardiac irregularity and the president's blood pressure remained normal throughout.

A month ago, Johnson suffered stomach pains that led medical experts to conclude—after extensive tests—that he had a poorly functioning gall bladder with stones.

Dr. George A. Hallenbeck of the Mayo Clinic, who performed the operation, said Johnson might be able to get out of bed later in the day—surely by Saturday. But, said Hallenbeck, the president won't feel good-as-new for perhaps six weeks.

Vice - President Hubert H. Humphrey is remaining in Washington at least through the early stages of Johnson's hospital stay. He has authority to make any presidential decisions that might be necessary while Johnson is under anesthsia or later, in the event of any medical crisis that might disable the president.

Mrs. Johnson and their 18-year-old daughter, Luci Baines, spent the night in hospital, in rooms adjoining the president's third-floor suite.

Johnson's hospital stay is forecast for 10 to 14 days, to be followed by several weeks of reduced activity during recuperation either at the White House or, perhaps, his Texas ranch.

Lime Pit Murders May Go to Ten

Fourth Victim Found

(Times News Services)

QUEBEC CITY — Quebec's lime pit murders totalled four today and Quebec Justice Minister Claude Wagner said he expects more bodies will be found.

"I don't know when it will end — whether there will be six murders, or seven, or ten or more," he said.

Police Thursday night found the body of Henri-Paul Chandonnet, 38, who was to have been a witness in arson and false bankruptcy cases now before the courts.

The body covered in quicklime, was in a thickly-wooded area near the village of Hamsud, Que., near Sherbrooke. Three bodies had earlier been found in quicklime near St. Gilles, 30 miles south of Quebec City.

All the murders have been tied by police to the arson and bankruptcy cases.

The latest victim was a close friend of suspected fraud and arson kingpin, Moise Darabaner, who has been sent to trial on two charges of arson and conspiracy for arson.

The justice department said the victim was a director of a company belonging to Darabaner.

Darabaner appeared in court this morning at Quebec City but the preliminary hearing was postponed until Oct. 15.

The charges involve a fire last May which badly damaged a building here housing offices of the roads department. Earlier this week Darabaner was ordered to stand trial on charges involving a 1961 fire at a home in nearby St. Lambert de Levis.

At Darabaner's preliminary hearing on those charges, witness Oliva Boulet testified he saw Robert Faucher shot and killed with a revolver near St. Gilles, 30 miles south of here. The body of Faucher is one of four police have found in an alleged underworld killing spree to get rid of witnesses.

FRAUD CHARGE

Darabaner is scheduled for trial Oct. 12 on a fraud charge involving $115,000.

The arson charges against Darabaner and several other persons are the result of a provincial investigation into a series of fires believed to have involved arson in Quebec province over the last few years.

In an interview today, Justice Minister Wagner said that the fourth victim, Chandonnet, was a travelling salesman from Champigny, just outside Quebec City. He disappeared Sept 25.

On Sept. 27 he was shot to death by underworld gangsters, and buried—covered with caustic lime—in a pit near the small village of Ham South about 40 miles north east of

'No Evidence MPs Linked With Offences'

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Cardin said Thursday night in a statement that the Montreal police have no information indicating any member of Parliament has committed, directly or indirectly, any offence in connection with any of the bankruptcy cases being investigated in Quebec.

He said: "I have been in touch with the deputy director of the Montreal police and he informs me that, contrary to certain press reports, the Montreal police have no information that indicates that any member of Parliament of any party has committed, directly or indirectly, any offence in connection with any of the bankruptcy cases they have investigated."

Mr. Cardin said there is nothing in bankruptcy documents in his department's files to indicate "that any offences or irregularities have been committed by any member of Parliament or other public servant."

Mr. Cardin said he was replying to statements made by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and Erik Nielsen, Conservative MP for the Yukon in the last Parliament.

RELATE TO COMPANIES

He said two of the three departmental files referred to by Mr. Nielsen relate to companies with which Max and Adolph Sefkind were associated.

"All three files contain routine financial reports. They do not contain any information related to any allegation of fraud or to any other aspect of the administration of the Bankruptcy Act."

RED ENSIGN FOR MANITOBA

WINNIPEG (CP)—Manitoba has received royal approval for its proposed provincial flag and the way now is clear for formal proclamation of the Provincial Flag Act, Premier Roblin announced today.

The flag is a red ensign with the provincial coat of arms on the fly.

PULSE OF THE NATION APPEARS SATURDAY

Canadian political scientist S. Peter Regenstreif, who forecast accurately the results of the last two federal elections, will again take the political pulse of the nation for Times readers.

Mr. Regenstreif, of the University of Rochester, is on a 10,000-mile coast-to-coast tour aimed at predicting what the Canadian voter is going to do on Nov. 8.

The first of his reports will appear on Saturday.

In 1962, Regenstreif forecast the minority Progressive Conservative government and the resurgence of the Social Credit party.

Just before the 1963 voting, he said the Liberals, "poised on the brink of a majority," would have a 35 seat edge over the Tories. Their margin was 34.

OVER RHODESIA

Talk Breakdown Sharpens Crisis

LONDON (AP) — Top-level talks aimed at settling the future of Rhodesia, Britain's central African colony, broke down tonight, posing the threat of a Rhodesian grab for independence.

A joint British-Rhodesian communique announcing the collapse said simply:

"Despite intensive discussion no means have been found of reconciling the opposing views.

"No further meeting has been arranged."

The statement was issued after Prime Ministers Wilson of Britain and Ian Smith of Rhodesia had tried for the second successive day to find some basis of compromise.

Smith emerged from a 2½-hour meeting with Wilson at 10 Downing Street and told correspondents the only agreement he had reached with Wilson was that "we have agreed to differ."

It was considered likely Smith would defy Britain and declare independence, bringing down on his head a British economic boycott.

No arrangements have yet been made for new exchanges, Smith said.

He told one questioner the two governments have "for the moment" reached the end.

"Has Rhodesia lost the battle?" another reporter asked. Smith replied slowly but firmly: "No, I wouldn't say that."

The big question dominating all thinking now is whether the empty-handed Smith and his fellow-ministers will fly back to Salisbury and fulfil their threats to seize independence for Rhodesia in defiance of Britain's legal right of veto.

In four days of intensive talking, Smith has run into a brick wall of British resistance to his demands Rhodesia be given independence unconditionally now.

FAILED TO PERSUADE

Wilson and his ministers have failed to persuade Smith to accept their terms for Rhodesian independence. Central condition is that the white-minority Smith government must recognize the inevitability of Negro majority rule in Rhodesia within the foreseeable future and must help to speed the process.

As the talks began British government spokesmen emphasized there is no question of Britain modifying its terms.

Most-Wanted Criminal Arrested

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial Police announced today the capture of Edwin Yule, 37, No. 1 on their list of 10 most wanted men.

He was arrested Thursday night a few hours after police had captured the third and fourth men on their list, Georges Normand and Andre Daoust.

Yule was sought following his escape in January, 1963, from the Verdun Protestant Hospital where he was being held after a coroner's jury found him criminally responsible but insane and unfit to stand trial for the 1951 rape and murder of a seven-year-old girl.

Analyst's Comments — Saturday Entries

By HAL MALONE

FIRST RACE: In a typical scramble, racing luck could be the deciding factor. Colinda looked like money in the pocket in her last but couldn't withstand Whaang Leather's charge. We expect her and Golden Bough to lead them with Yamoto and Smoke Call in the second flight. Loodani, Donmaid and Cross Message all get well out of it the first part and need a faltering pace to show to advantage. Mild preference is given to Yamoto who obviously needed that last one . . . YAMOTO (Colinda).

SECOND RACE: There isn't much to choose between these and trying to figure out the pace is like hanging wallpaper with one hand tied behind your back. Little Rooster, Commander Joe, Busy Morn and Man of Mark may be early leaders with Fifteen Freckles, who is dropping, and Miss Ky Lea the late runners. Busy Morn drops three pounds and gets a different rider. Miss Ky Lea ran into a wall of horses when she was making a big move but she may miss Salas. In a grab-bag . . . LITTLE ROOSTER (Busy Morn).

THIRD RACE: Since they elected to bring Whaang Leather off the pace, she's been much more impressive. Horses don't always run as well on a drying track as they do in the slop but in her case the spot looks ideal. Lloyter drops eight for this but he needs handling in the lane. Aleja should be able to draw clear early and without anybody pushing her might hang on better. Sunrise Gal is an interesting possibility at a price . . . WHAANG LEATHER (Lloyter).

FOURTH RACE: Bossy Belle, if she goes, Some Royal Flush and Bold Mister, if he's in the mood, should reel off fast early fractions here. Some Royal is the most reliable but he'd like it better if there was nobody to push him. Gulf Island gets Broomfield today and could get on the board. The fast pace could set it up for Fighting Hawk. He doesn't have legs like Betty Grable but his courage could carry him home. . . FIGHTING HAWK (Gulf Island).

FIFTH RACE: There's nothing in here of whom you can say "no chance." With all the early lick we suspect they'll take Read It off the pace. She's dangerous either way but in this spot her chances, we suspect, would be enhanced if they let her play it cool the first part. Pils Friday, Speedy Arrow, Some Standard and Brown Wheat all roar from the gate. Harlion has four wins under his saddlecloth and looms as the one to beat but at the weights and considering how she should appreciate the fractions we came up with . . . PATRICIA BAM (Harlion).

SIXTH RACE: We've always regarded Ky Look as a sprinter, but unless there are mass changes in strategy here Combs could get her a long way in front. Trejos gave Cadala a perfect ride over much the same and if she's one of those mares that gets good in the fall it might be all over. Meditator can run better than he showed, but they're switching jocks. Normatol was flying at the finish of his sprint but until he proves he can do the same thing at this distance we're not convinced. If he draws in, weight, post and all, it's going to take a lot to whip Lord Renraw . . . LORD RENRAW (Cadala, Meditator).

SEVENTH RACE: Hum along with Rebel Hawk will be the theme song of this Derby — at least for the first part. How far this one will go depends on the strategy of the handlers of Track Record, Dolwin and Permano. Rebel Hawk drops three for this and Cormack fits him well. Peaceful Nite, the improving Esperante, Golden Drake and Christopher B are nice sophomores but at the distance it will take a good one to win it. Dolwin hasn't shown her good early Vancouver form and, frankly, we're not fussy about fillies taking on colts. Pidge's Pride is an unknown quantity; he won the only race of his career in the slop but there was little behind him. Our serious thinking lies between Track Record and Permano. The latter was quite wide in the slop but if it's hard he could do the trick. Track Record got three pounds from Permano the last out but they're even today. In a close one . . . PERMANO (Track Record).

EIGHTH RACE—Lovely Story has been hooking slightly better and could carry them home here. Corval is dangerous from this post although her courage is slightly suspect. Royal Fair, Mr. Glendale and Will Roll are the dangers from behind. If Old Baker draws in he could get on the board . . . LOVELY STORY (Corval).

HOME GARDEN

Plenty of Jobs For Stay-at-Homes

By JACK BEASTALL

The stay-at-home Thanksgiving gardener will find plenty of clean-up jobs to occupy the holiday hours.

The annual bedding plants, if any are left, go to the compost heap to decompose and provide a valuable humus for adding to the soil, or top dressing beds, in spring.

Jack

Potato tops, squash and tomato vines, other plants wastes, together with weeds, take the same course.

Over each six-inch layer of vegetation sprinkle a little complete fertilizer or ammo-phos, and a dusting of lime every second or third layer. Water well and stack loosely.

Blackberries, logans and other trailing brambles have all the old growths removed which bore fruit this year, and the new growths for next year reduced to three to six a root.

The canes of raspberries which have fruited are also removed, cutting them about one inch below soil level. New growths are tipped at a convenient height (five feet) and only five left to a root.

Anything that can be classed as rubbish should be gathered and composted if plant parts, or burned if branches. This will eliminate the source of many pests and diseases, also the protection they would find for winter. Burn all fallen fruits.

Lawns can be trimmed, edges cut, and a complete lawn fertilizer applied and watered in, unless the work was done in September.

Coldframes can be made ready and the roots of early chrysanthemums lifted, cut back and placed in the frames for winter.

Frost-tender plants that have been outside for the summer should be thoroughly cleansed and moved into the greenhouse or other place of shelter.

Be sure to give them plenty of air night and day until they become adjusted to indoor conditions.

WOMAN BEARS SEXTUPLETS, FAIL TO LIVE

STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—A Swedish woman who received hormone treatment for sterility gave birth to sextuplets Sunday, but all the babies died a few hours after birth, a spokesman at Uppsala Academic hospital said today.

The two boys and four girls were born at the hospital in which a 54-year-old Swedish gynecologist, Professor Carl-Axel Gemzel, developed the treatment.

The mother was in good condition but he gave no details about her.

Gemzel, has said his hormone treatment has resulted in more than 100 children being born in Sweden to women once believed sterile.

Hunter Lives After 200-Ft. Glacier Slide

KIMBERLEY (CP)—Donald Keough, Kamloops, was rescued from the 7,200-foot level of a mountain near here Thursday after he slid more than 200 feet down a glacier.

Keough and his brother, James had been hunting mountain sheep when the accident occurred. His slide down the glacier near the Estalla Mine ended when he crashed into trees.

His brother walked seven miles to Wasa Lake and telephoned for a helicopter.

Splints were placed on Keough's broken wrist and he was airlifted to Wasa and taken by ambulance to Kimberley hospital.

Police said Keough suffered possible broken ribs, a broken wrist and hip injuries.

. . . LIME PIT MURDERS

Sherbrooke in the eastern townships.

Thursday about a dozen Quebec Provincial Police from Montreal uncovered the body with Quebec City Chief Crown Prosecutor Anatole Corriveau looking on.

Like the three bodies found in the last ten days this one was mutilated beyond recognition by the burning lime.

The body was not moved immediately pending the arrival of experts from Montreal to analyze the soil surrounding it.

The autopsy will be held today.

There was no guesswork about this discovery.

Acting on an underworld tip-off in the last few days the police went straight to the area and dug.

"It was the result of much information received since Mr. Wagner's press conference in Montreal Monday," one of the justice minister's aides said.

Wagner himself said it was the "logical result of what has been going on."

"This is the reality of organized crime," he said.

Chandonnet was actually number six in the bodies the justice authorities had expected to discover, Wagner said.

FIRST THREE

The first three were dug up from lime pits in swampland south of Quebec City. Police are now digging in several areas.

They expect to find the remains of victims four and five, Maurice Gingras and Paul Nadeau, in locations southwest of Quebec City. Gingras has been missing since 1962 and Nadeau since 1959.

Wagner agreed the mehtod used in the gangland murders was "grisly."

"But that is the only way the underworld knows of silencing witnesses," he said. "We are getting at them fast and they know it."

"These men could serve as witnesses and blow the whole thing open, and therefore they are silenced."

The justice minister said it was nothing new in organized crime—"These are the methods they use."

There is a "strong possibility" of a widespread international hook-up in the $100 million fraudulant bankruptcy and arson ring which the Quebec government is trying to smash after a year of intensive investigation, he said.

Bridge Tournament

Eighty bridge players are expected to compete Saturday in the annual City of Victoria Mixed Pairs championship.

Pearson Silence Over Denis Affair Sparked Cabinet Crisis, Says Book

By JOHN LeBLANC

TORONTO (CP) — A new book loaded with purported inside stuff on the federal cabinet's dealings with recent scandals — and with potential election campaign explosives — is due to hit the stands Oct. 15.

A major claim in Richard Gwyn's book is that two senior cabinet ministers came close to resigning last fall over Prime Minister Pearson's long delay in making known that he originally misinformed Parliament about when he first heard of the bribery offer allegation against executive assistant Raymond Denis.

Mr. Gwyn, a member of Time magazine's Ottawa bureau, writes that Transport Minister Pickersgill and Defence Minister Hellyer considered quitting because the prime minister's public silence for more than a fortnight was allowing the reputation of then justice minister Favreau to be "torn to shreds."

At Ottawa Thursday night, Mr. Pickersgill said "I never for a single second considered resigning." On the campaign trail at Dauphin, Man., the prime minister said he hoped to read the book during the weekend—"and I hope you will ask me about it after I read it." And in Quebec City, Mr. Hellyer denied he had thought of quitting, adding that the report was "nonsense."

The book, The Shape of Scandal, is being brought out by Clarke-Irwin.

RELATES RIVARD CASE

The Lucien Rivard case with its political entanglements and subsequent criminal charges against Denis—former assistant to then immigration minister Tremblay—occupies much of the book.

The background of the Pickersgill-Hellyer report was this:

The Commons learned Nov. 23, 1964, that Denis was alleged to have offered a $20,000 bribe to prosecutor Pierre Lamontagne to pave the way for bail for Rivard, held at Montreal on narcotics charges for United States authorities. Next day, Mr. Pearson told the House he had first heard of the affair Nov. 22.

There was an immediate outcry for Mr. Favreau's scalp, partly because, as the minister responsible for the investigation, he apparently had not mentioned it to the prime minister. Actually, he had tipped off Mr. Pearson while flying from Charlottetown to Ottawa Sept. 2.

When he got back to the Commons Nov. 30 after a western tour, Mr. Gwyn writes, he planned to correct that day the misinformation he had given the House. He entered the House with a prepared statement but did not speak.

"By failing to act, the prime minister succeeded in turning a single problem into two: The record still had to be corrected and it now became necessary to explain also the delay in making the correction.

"Even those closest to Pearson are uncertain why he hesitated . . ."

JAPANESE FISHBOATS MISSING IN TYPHOON

TOKYO (AP) — Six Japanese fishing boats with about 200 crew members were reported missing today in the South Pacific after mighty typhoon Carmen raked the area Tuesday and Wednesday.

The typhoon, with maximum winds of more than 190 miles an hour, was east-southeast of Iwo Jima today and moving north.

Moon Shot 3rd Failure For Russia

Most Operations Carried Out But Not Soft Landings, Admits Tass

(Times News Services)

MOSCOW — The Russian space probe Luna 7 reached the moon today but apparently failed to make a soft landing.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said: "Some operations were not carried out in accordance with the program and need additional development."

The Russians for the first time admitted that the shot was an attempt at a soft landing on the moon's surface which would have meant that instruments would have sent valuable information back to earth.

Tass said: "Most operations necessary for a soft landing were fulfilled during the approach to the moon."

The agency did not theorize on whether Luna 7 may have crashed or been buried in the dust which some scientists think may blanket the moon's surface.

THIRD REPORTED FAILURE

This was the third unsuccessful Russian attempt at soft landing—all within six months.

Observers said the announcement seemed to indicate the unmanned spacecraft crashed into the moon and landed "hard," probably disintegrating instead of making what would have been an historic soft touch-down.

Alternatively, it may have landed softly but was buried in thick layers of lunar dust, making it impossible for ground control to keep contact.

Tass said the scientific instrument package landed on schedule on the moon in the area of the Ocean of the Storms, west of Kepler crater.

Despite the failure to make the soft landing the flight appeared to be a partial success. Luna 7 was able to correct its course in flight, something Luna 6 had failed to do.

No specific reason was given for the failure to make a soft landing. But a failure in the retro - rockets of the braking system was one of possibility.

Crying Jurors Convict Youths Of Gang Rape

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Twelve women jurors, crying as they returned their verdict, Thursday found four youths guilty of the rape of the teenage daughter of a policeman. A fifth defendant was acquitted.

Convicted on one count each of rape and two counts of aiding and abetting the rape of Shirley Diane O'Neal were George Ulatowski, 18; Mathew E. Melville, 20, and Ford Wood, 20.

Eric Forrest, 19, was convicted of aiding and abetting the rape. Ron Wood, 21, Ford's brother, was acquitted.

The defence maintained the sexual act was accomplished by consent and not by force. The three defendants convicted of rape admitted they had relations with Miss O'Neal, 19, but said she was willing.

Miss O'Neal testified she was selling cookbooks door-to-door last June 29 when she was lured into a house and forced to submit to sexual attack by three of the youths while the others stood guard.

CHINA SEES PLOT

Laos War Revival Alleged U.S. Plan

HONG KONG (Reuters) — China today claimed the United States has started a new military venture in Laos as part of a plan to widen the war in Indochina.

The official Communist party newspaper People's Daily said in a long-range strategic U.S. plan for Southeast Asia was drawn up at a conference in Honolulu, U.S. Pacific headquarters, in June.

As quoted by the New China news agency, a People's Daily commentator said the plan envisages the occupation of central and lower Laos and the advance of U.S. ground forces into Thailand to seal off South Viet Nam and menace Cambodia.

By way of contrast, the British-owned South China Morning Post newspaper here today commented editorially that China was embarking on a policy of maximum involvement of American forces in Southeast Asia.

The English-language newspaper said there was ample signs that Peking was turning its attention to Thailand and recalled that a "Thailand patriotic front" was set up in the Chinese capital on New Year's Day.

Outbreaks of insurgency had so far occurred in north and northeast Thailand, near the pro-Communist Pathet Lao - held areas in Laos, it said.

Fiery Brazilian Politician Resigns as 1966 Candidate

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuters) —Carlos Lacerda, the dynamic right winger who cleaned up much of Rio's slums, resigned Thursday night as the National Democratic Union party's candidate in the 1966 Brazilian elections.

The dynamic Lacerda, just out of hospital after collapsing during an election campaign, announced his resignation in a fiery 100-minute speech in which he said President Humberto Castello Branco's toleration of opposition parties had caused the "collapse" of the 1964 revolution.

He spoke bitterly of revolution's failure which he said was caused by fostering a united opposition.

The retirement of Lacerda, the outgoing governor of Guanabara province which includes Rio de Janeiro, came after opposition candidates won most of the 11 state governorships in last weekend's elections, including Guanabara and Minas Gerais

He charged Castello Branco with paying more heed to international public opinion than to Brazilian interests, by giving free rein to the opposition and allowing the return of Juscelino Kubitschek, president from 1956 to 1961 and closely associated with several of the victorious candidates in the elections.

WINNIPEG MAN CHARGED IN VICIOUS STABBING

EDMONTON (CP)—Gerald Landry, 22, of Winnipeg, has been charged with attempted murder and attempted robbery in police court in the stabbing of an Edmonton car rental agency attendant Oct. 4.

Landry, who appeared in police court Thursday, was arrested at a downtown hotel.

Andrew Pennock, 31, was in fair condition in hospital today following the holdup attempt in which he was stabbed 25 times.

No money was taken from a safe and cash box, agency officials told police.

U.S. Ban 'Crazy,' Says Jagan

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. Cheddi Jagan, former premier of British Guiana, arrived here Thursday night for a lecture tour and immediately criticized the United States.

Dr. Jagan, now leader of British Guiana's official opposition, said he had planned to visit the U.S. too, but was informed that his diplomatic visa had lapsed. He had applied for a transit visa so he could fly by way of New York, but this had been refused.

"This is crazy," said Dr. Jagan, who had to travel via Bermuda.

He also accused the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency of fomenting disturbances in his country in the past to get him out of office.

In elections a little less than a year ago, Dr. Jagan emerged without an absolute majority and his political foes combined to form a government. Dr. Jagan refused to resign and was not removed until the colony's constitution had been altered by Britain.

Prospects for NATO

IT IS ENCOURAGING TO LEARN from this week's conference of NATO parliamentarians in New York that France may adopt a more co-operative attitude toward the Atlantic defence organization.

It had been feared, on the basis of an earlier threat by President de Gaulle, that France might seize the opportunity to give one year's resignation notice in 1969, when under the treaty any member may take this course. Such a move would in all probability dissolve the Atlantic alliance, since France must by virtue of geography and the country's leadership in Europe form a necessary central pivot for the organization.

Capt. David Groos, one of Canada's representatives at the New York conference and Liberal candidate in the current election contest in Victoria, reports that the French stand is much more hopeful than was indicated a few months ago. It appears that NATO is viewed as essential by Paris; that it is not the principle of the alliance but certain details of the operative arrangements which are questioned, and there is every hope that France's objections may be removed.

While the world has greatly changed since the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was formed in 1949, there is still a great stabilizing role to be played by the Western group. The danger of Soviet attack on any of the twelve original members, which was the prime reason for NATO's formation, has receded far into the distance, but the idea of trans-Atlantic co-operation, not only in collective defence but in trade and other relations, is still a vital one.

NATO might well put more emphasis on the non-military aspects of the alliance—the preservation of "conditions of stability and well-being" and the "economic collaboration" that are outlined in Article 2 of the treaty, but which have largely been neglected in favor of the defensive function.

For Richer Or Poorer

THE MEETING OF THE INTERnational Monetary Fund in Washington last week might well be summed up in an ironic paraphrase of the old song, "The rich get poor, and the poor get poorer."

The rich, of course, are the industrialized countries of Europe and North America; the poor are the under-developed countries of Asia, Africa and South America. The rich are not really getting poor. But the poor are definitely getting poorer because the handful of governments that control international finances in the non-Communist world have nearly all decided to retrench on a number of fronts—including the vital one of foreign aid and investment.

This is a bitter blow to the poor countries. They voiced their growing hostility and suspicion of the so-called "Group of Ten"—the leading wealthy nations, including Canada — at the IMF meeting. The Malaysian delegate spoke impatiently of "this exclusive club" while the Philippine representative called it a "virtual financial Security Council."

The Group of Ten, it is felt by outsiders, including some of the middle-range countries such as Australia, Austria, Denmark and Spain, is running the non-Communist world's finances primarily to suit the rich and, fundamentally — whether deliberately or not—in a way that makes it increasingly difficult for the outsiders to augment their wealth.

The crux of the problem is international liquidity, the availability in sufficient quantity and proper distribution of a medium of exchange for the financing of world trade.

The international bankers who gathered in Washington last week generally acknowledge that international liquidity is a problem and they even went so far as to agree that The Ten would study the problem over the next eight months to determine whether it was as serious as some believe and whether there is a possibility of arriving at a solution acceptable to all the leading financial powers. There was also a vague commitment to consult with the outside countries and with the IMF.

All of this makes up what The Economist of London described as "Bankers' Syndrome, which is to foresee disaster but prefer inaction."

The reason why inaction is preferred at the present time is a complex blend of politics and economics. Involved are the need to support the pound, the sharp disagreement between France and the United States over the international role of gold, the spectre of an economic "bust" with attendant domestic problems in several industrial countries; chronic balance of payments deficits in some areas, inflationary pressures and other matters.

For the time being the wealthy nations seem to prefer to paper over these cracks in the facade with financial expedients such as the gold pool and currency swaps, restrictions on imports and embargoes on external investment. The emphasis is on stability and not on innovations.

The question is, how long the poor will wait before turning elsewhere for the help they so desperately need to raise their economic status.

What Should B.C. Give?

MR. BENNETT CLAIMS THAT his government advocated eight years ago the federal participation in capital costs and per capita grants for universities which the Bladen commission report now proposes.

Other provincial leaders could no doubt make similar statements. Almost all of them for the last decade have been arguing that federal financial help for colleges and universities should be greatly increased.

During that period the provinces have been giving more money to the universities to meet in part the increased number of students and the higher per capita cost of educating them. But there is throughout Canada a wide disparity in the proportion of general revenue which each province devotes to higher education.

In British Columbia, as elsewhere, budget appropriations for higher education were increased this year. But a recent survey shows that this province, for all its wealth and dynamism, rates only fourth in the support it provides. The government allocation for the capital and operating costs of British Columbia universities last year was equivalent to 5.65 per cent of the total provincial budget. Manitoba reported a percentage of 6.9, Ontario 6.75, and Alberta 6.5.

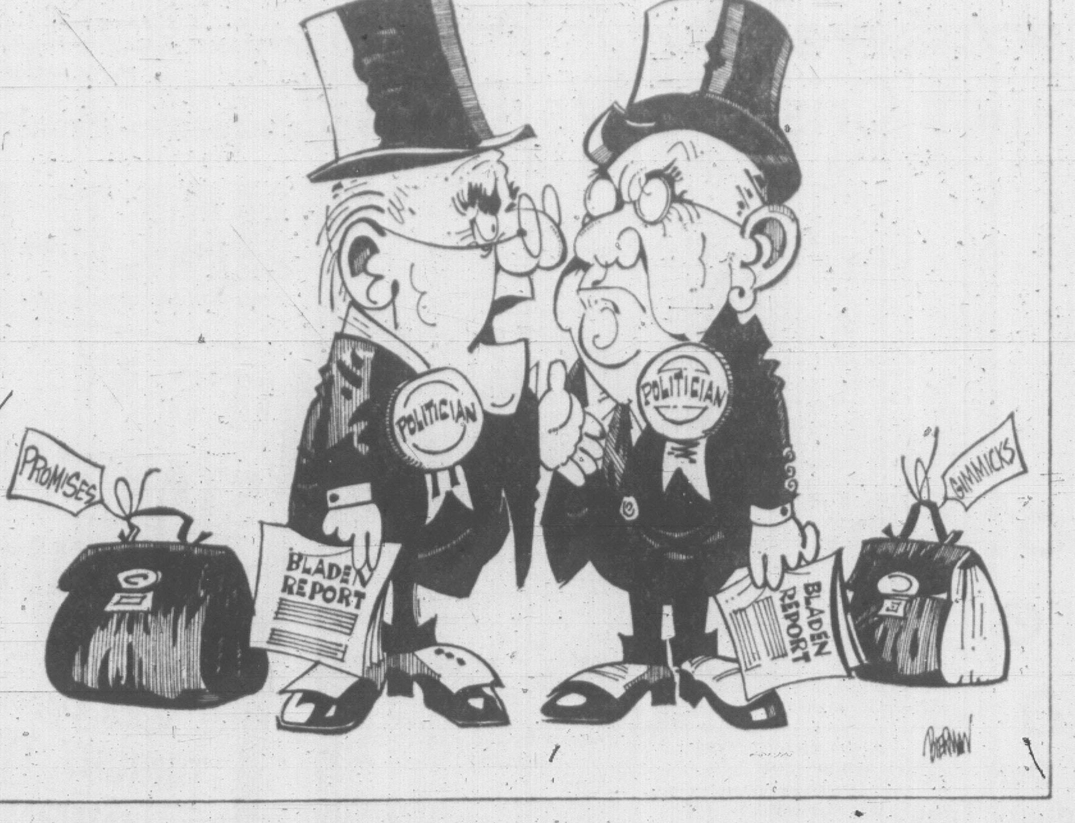
There is wide agreement with the Bladen thesis that the federal authority must contribute much more to higher education than it has done. But this is only part of the answer. A close look should also be taken at provincial financing to ensure that the regional governments provide for an adequate share of the costs.

Hope for Television?

MR. BERT LAHR, THE "COWardly Lion" of "The Wizard of Oz" and more recently the potato chip man of a television commercial, who also happens to be a 35-year veteran of Broadway, was recently asked by critics if he foresaw any hope for television entertainment.

His reply was simple: "It may be that the people will get so tired of the same sort of programming that they will demand a change."

The problem seems to be one of devising a means of making the demand heard. In a theatre, empty seats speak volumes to a producer. But how does a sponsor hear the click of television sets being turned off all over the continent?



"This could put us right out of business . . . you know . . . with everybody educated . . ."

The Merit Issue in Student Aid

Western

THE appearance at this time of the report of the Bladen commission should ensure that the problems of financing university education will receive a higher priority in the election debate than they might otherwise have been accorded. Some of the proposals of Mr. Bladen and his colleagues seem bound to stir considerable controversy. Two of them, for example, appear to conflict with policies already implemented by the Pearson government or else intended for implementation at the next session of Parliament. It is by no means clear that the advantage is altogether with the commission.

The first conflict concerns Canada scholarships. Mr. Pearson on Tuesday announced a revision of the Liberal scheme which does not change its essentials but which would make it considerably more flexible while relating it partially to need.

On this subject, the report argues that tax concessions to students and their parents would be more effective and more easily administered than the scholarship project. This may be true if the criterion is student need. But the Pearson plan is frankly intended to subsidize excellence and may be strongly defended on the ground that any country at any time is peculiarly dependent upon the contributions of the brilliant few. Tax concessions, being non-discriminatory, would dissipate—certainly to the advantage of many—the resources which a scholarship plan, based on merit, would concentrate upon the best.

The government scheme, as now revised, does make concessions to the Bladen viewpoint. It would spread the available scholarship money over a larger number of heads by relating the actual awards to the resources of the student. Conceivably, in the case of a wealthy family, a Canada scholarship might mean distinction without funds; or, in another case, an award of perhaps half the $1,000 originally suggested. But certainly, without merit, there would be no scholarship any more than there is now in the case of scholarships based on private endowments.

Concern Over Loans

It was, of course, the government's intention to meet the more general problem of student aid through the program of student loans already in effect. The commission, however, expresses concern over the "high proportion of student aid in the form of loans." Its main points are that students entering lower paid professions may be unduly burdened with debt; that students with large loans may be deterred from pursuing advanced studies, that women students who marry do so with a "negative dowry" and that the present program is open to abuse and even fraud.

The present program may very well call for re-examination in the light of experience with student applications. No program is likely to be proof against abuse and this is, accordingly, a marginal criticism.

As for the other points, however, it would seem that the philosophy of the commission is colored by perfectionism. Education is costly to parents or students even in countries where it is allegedly "free." If aid is not won through merit, there is no obvious reason why it should not be re-paid and, with the waiving of interest during university years, repayment would not appear particularly onerous when measured against present salaries.

If, as the report states, needy undergraduates now, on average, receive only $300 in loans and bursaries, it is even more difficult to see how the burden on graduation can be excessive. Prospective indebtedness is evidently considered by the commission a deterrent to further studies. But there always was a deterrent in the sense that a student, by electing to spend additional years in college, sacrificed for that period an opportunity to earn money. This has generally been considered worthwhile. The notion of the deterrent suggests, in fact, that the desire for higher education cannot be very pressing. Is it pressing enough, in the case of such students, to add force to the commission's criticism of the loan scheme?

Graduate and Pay Taxes

May I express my strong disapproval of the proposed march by the Uvic students in protest over the high cost of education?

This march will more firmly convince the general public, in mistaken belief that education is the only service that costs the government and the taxpayer any money.

I would suggest that these same students wait until they obtain their degrees and start to pay income tax. Their present fees will seem small indeed.

There are loans for higher education that can be had at a low rate of interest and the list of scholarships and bursaries that a Uvic student can win is so long that it reads like a who's who in all forms of business in B.C.

Why do I write and complain? The answer is simply this: I know from personal experience how much work, worry and midnight oil is burned to get people to vote in favor of a referendum for needed schools, and this proposed march by Uvic students makes it all the harder for the school trustee.—F. H. Boulter, 2834 Knotty Pine.

Fine for England, But . . .

I wholeheartedly agree with the student whose remarks you recently published concerning the monarchy in Canada. The monarchy may be a fine institution for England but it isn't for Canada. The Queen is not really ours; she wasn't born in this country, never lived in this country and does not speak English with a Canadian accent. She is a foreigner, a stranger to us, and people who advocate that kind of monarchy for Canada are not genuine Canadians and do not belong to this country.

People should also be reminded that the battle of the Plains of Abraham was not the decisive event in the Seven Years' War.

But that is ancient history now and nobody should care. Do the French ever remind us that they drove the British out of the New England colonies? Do the French remind us that they defeated the British at the Battle of Hastings in 1066 and conquered England? Do the French remind us that one-third of our English language comes from their own? Do the French remind us that they actually founded the British parliamentary system under the leadership of Simon de Montfort? All that is ancient history; let us think of Canada now and for the future!—A Genuine Canadian.

NOT ALONE

It is difficult to doubt that life is widespread throughout the universe. At this moment, in some remote world associated with another star, it is highly probable that some author is writing, in an alien language: Life elsewhere must be regarded as virtually certain. We are not alone in space.

Looking Back

From The Times of Oct. 8, 1905:

On her trip to Vancouver, the CPR steamship Princess Victoria created no small amount of enthusiasm among her passengers. She made the trip from Brotchie Ledge to Brockton Point in three hours and 21 minutes. Better time has never been made on the route. The performance beats the Princess Victoria's previous record by 10 minutes. The ship was under ordinary full speed and the officers made no attempt to create a record.

Voices Of Quebec

Quebec Le Soleil

As Premier Lesage's tour of the West continues, it becomes obvious that its principle merit will be to awaken in these provinces far removed from the French-Canadian homeland of Quebec a better comprehension of the bicultural nature of the Canadian nation. No, he won't convince his audiences just like that of the soundness of all Quebec claims. The important thing is that he has raised the question with them. . . .

In some places — the Prairies, for example — there was coolness, in others, such as British Columbia, enthusiasm. . . .

The Prairie provinces have large minorities, many of them from central Europe. This makes them ethnically the least homogeneous provinces of Canada. They feel the need for unity more strongly.

Biculturalism for them opens the gates to multiculturalism, which would make the region a mosaic of nationalities. Hence their defensive reaction, rallying around the English language as a unifier of various cultures.

But the Prairies should understand that there, as elsewhere in Canada, history gives it to English and French to be the voices of a truly bicultural nation. To give the minorities of the Prairies all their school rights does not threaten to shake up the provinces. It rather brings them fully into Canadian biculturalism, one of this country's hallmarks, and hardens them against Americanization.

Contrary to the tendency in Quebec, it seems to be the youth of the West who seek comprehension and want to build a Canada that recognizes two historic nationalities on solider foundations. This is an encouraging sign. . . .

Quebec L'Action

When a country like Canada registers a $750,000,000 trade deficit in six months, she is suffering an imbalance which no upsurge of prosperity can hide. Foreign investment may carry our commercial deficit from day to day, but ultimately our economy is living on credit. . . .

Identical thoughts apply to Quebec. When Mr. Lesage tells Westerners separation for Quebec is an "economic impossibility," he is stating the obvious. If Quebec had to set up her own international or interprovincial accounts, her balance of payments would be even more deeply in the red than Ottawa's. For a handful of primary industries provide almost all Quebec exports, and we are dependent on the exterior for everything else, from food and clothing to manufactured products.

And collaboration between Ottawa and Quebec is absolutely necessary to guide and boost the productive activity of the population. Neither Quebec nor Ottawa can do it alone.

Happily, this convergence of Ottawa and Quebec efforts in the economic field is taking more and more precise shape.

Bomb With a Wet Fuse

Dewey

BRITAIN'S Resale Prices Act — the piece of legislation that "made" Edward Heath — was designed as a bombshell that would blast away the underpinnings of the country's system of factory-controlled retail prices and let in the bracing winds of competition. The act has certainly done its job so far as Mr. Heath himself is concerned. His spectacular success last year in pushing the measure through an apprehensive Parliament later turned out to be a ticket to the Conservative leadership.

For the purposes for which is was intended, however, the Resale Prices Act has been a spectacular dud. The blast was timed to go off on April 30 this year. From that date resale price maintenance by manufacturers — or RPM, as it has come to be called — became illegal except for goods for which application for exemption had been made. From that date price competition was back in style after an absence of several decades. The fat was about to be trimmed from the British economy.

That, at least, was the idea. Far from blasting anything, however, the act has produced barely a tremor. Today, nearly five months after RPM became illegal, a packet of garden seeds — or virtually anything else you care to name — still costs the same on opposite sides of the street or on opposite ends of these islands.

No Price Wars

Widespread price wars have not materialized as forecast. Small businessmen have not been driven into bankruptcy in their hundreds, as the shopkeepers' associations were grimly predicting. Nor, unfortunately, have there been general price reductions or signs of increased marketing efficiency, as the Conservative government of the day promised. Like Ol' Man River, Britain's system of artificially set prices just keeps rolling on as if nothing had happened.

If Mr. Heath's ambitious act has gone awry in grand fashion, the reasons are not far to seek. For a start the framers of the act, as if frightened by their own boldness, decided to remove most of its teeth by creating five beautifully vague categories under which manufacturers could seek exemption. As they should have foreseen, the exceptions provided gaping loopholes through which regiments of manufacturers quickly began to scamper.

To dodge the drafts of competition, all a manufacturer has to do is convince the registrar of restrictive practices that price competition would (1) impair the quantity or quality of his goods; (2) eventually increase prices; (3) diminish the number of traders; (4) encourage retail conditions that endangered health; or (5) reduce necessary services in connection with sales. If a manufacturer can't find a way out in such a list, he obviously isn't looking very hard.

The thinking behind the creation of these loopholes was, presumably, that there may be exceptional branches of retail trade in which the free play of the market might conceivably work against the common good. It is an admission which deserves to be made reluctantly, for if it is true that certain important retail commodities cannot be provided under a system of free enterprise it means either that the retailers in question are doing something wrong or that there is something wrong with the free enterprise system itself. To concede more — that exemptions might have to be made on a broad front — is to make a mockery of that system.

But the act did invite applications for exemptions on a broad front and Britain's manufacturers, for once quick to act, have taken the government up on it. To date, more than 600 manufacturers or trade associations have applied for exemption on some 130 general categories of goods ranging from furniture to fertilizer, from corsets to corks, from bandages to banjos.

Stalling Policy

Many of them have applied knowing full well that they will never qualify for exemption but knowing, too, that they can continue to set prices so long as their applications are on file. Thus, though many act-dodgers will likely be forced to comply in the end, the element of fairness in imposing the original deadline has been destroyed. The greater share of the profits will go to the firm that can wriggle and litigate longest.

Obviously, this stampede towards the loopholes is not what the framers of the act bargained for. Trapped in a legal web of their own weaving, government officials have so far managed to start on only 30 of the 600-odd cases already before them and the first decision will not likely be made before 1967.

All this would be bad enough if the act were doing its job in areas of trade where exemptions have not been sought. But it has had little perceptible effect even in cases where manufacturers have publicly announced that they were abandoning RPM.

The exceptions are rare enough to prove the rule. A packet of razor blades costs roughly eight cents less than before, certain brands of liquor have dropped in price and so have a few things like auto tires and some electrical appliances (significantly, the prices of many of these items have already become standardized at their new levels).

Retail Prices Held

But what has generally happened is that retailers who weren't allowed to mark down prices last year have freely decided not to do so this year for fear that someone else might cut them lower.

The only class of retailers who have been villainous enough to break the solid front are the supermarkets, and it is largely due to their efforts that there have been any reductions at all. With few exceptions, even the huge retail chains — the ones that could afford to fight a price war—have so far been unable to steel themselves for the plunge.

Eventually, and provided there are enough cut-price villains around to start the ball rolling, the Resale Prices Act may begin to do the job it was designed to do, although it would have to be more in the manner of a glacier than a bombshell. But on the record so far British businessmen seem to be saying that it will take more than an act of Parliament to make them do anything so reckless and ungentlemanly as compete with one another.

Can a University Drop-Out Find Happiness?

Increasing Numbers of U.S. Students Look for a 'Real' World

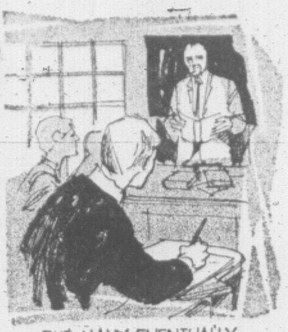
By MEREDITH MOSS

(Mr. Moss is associate editor of Moderator, a magazine circulated to student leaders on campuses throughout the United States.)

EVEN "A" STUDENTS QUIT COLLEGE ---

SOME GO TO ISRAEL AND PLANT TREES ---

OTHERS WORK AND TEACH IN SLUM AREAS --



BUT MANY EVENTUALLY RETURN TO THE CAMPUS.

PHILADELPHIA—It's beginning to look as if the current trend in American college education is to drop out of it.

One out of four of the Johnnys and Janes who trooped off to universities this fall will be packing their bags permanently by the end of June, according to recent studies from the U.S. Office of Education.

Only two out of five of these same freshmen will be hanging diplomas in the spring of 1969. The others will be working in flower shops, sunning themselves in South America or labeling another college their alma mater.

Statistics aren't impressed by status. Princeton reports a dropout rate of 20 per cent; at Yale it's 25. Pennsylvania State shows 40 per cent; it's 50 at the University of Illinois. And on and on.

Amazingly enough, a dropout need not be a potential flunk-out. Many of those who choose to leave school are academically near the top of their classes. One Northwestern junior co-ed who decided to quit possessed an accumulated "A" average, was a member of the National Woman's Honorary, an officer in her sorority and a member of various campus organizations. She resigned from school one month before she was to receive her Phi Beta Kappa key and has no plans of returning.

Others do come back. Dr. Lawrence Pervin of the Princeton University Health Service states that 97 per cent of Princeton dropouts from the class of 1960 have returned either to Princeton or another college to wrap up degree requirements. At Illinois, 40 per cent of the students who left resumed their studies eventually.

What causes students to leave school? Moderator polled its readership in an effort to solve the enigma. Results show that the dropout is often an introspective individual who decides that he simply isn't getting anything out of college, that he's wasting time and money.

Says one boy who quit school to become a dishwasher on a freighter bound for Buenos Aires: "I felt that there was a vitality in life which couldn't be found in a textbook. I was certain that there was something more exciting to life than attending classes and going to fraternity parties. I wanted to live in the real world, not a vacuum. Education means a combination of formal learning and true-life experience; I was getting plenty of the former and a deficiency of the latter."

Many report a lack of interest in their studies. "I suppose I only came to college because my folks wanted me to and because I wanted a decent job eventually. I got restless; I wanted out. So I took a job as a mechanic for a while and then went back."

Do Better

Those who have left and return manage to do significantly better academically than those who tackle their schooling in one long stretch. Richard Carrol, associate dean of Yale, stated that statistically the students who stay out longer tend to do better when they come back than those whose exile is brief.

Most importantly, the students themselves appear to be happier. They feel a sense of accomplishment, of greater maturity, a willingness to apply themselves to learning with a broader base of experience. "I've switched my major; now I know what I really want to do. And I've seen for myself that I need a college degree in order to do it," is a typical comment.

To the reflective collegian, "dropping out" of college is beginning to mean "dropping in" on the world, and educators are being forced to accept this.

Said Dr. Pervin at a recent conference on college dropouts: "More and more, these students are reporting immediate and long-range positive effects from their actions. Dropping out is potentially a profitable experience in the education of some students."

What do students do with dropout time? Most do not tackle their planned career. Some travel. Some go to Israel and plant trees. Some become clerks, some waiters. Others sell encyclopedias or teach in slum areas.

Making Sense

They do whatever seems to make sense to them at the moment. They do something that promises tangible accomplishment. They prove to themselves that they can indeed function in the world "out there."

Those educators who sense the innate value in such experiences are beginning to conceive of ways in which dropping out can become an integral part of the college programs. Schools like Antioch and Bennington require semesters of work and travel where students are expected to adapt themselves to the job situation.

Paul Goodman, the educational philosopher who wrote "Growing Up Absurd," proposes the following: "Suppose that half a dozen of the most prestigious liberal arts colleges in the United States—say Amherst, Swarthmore, Wesleyan, Carleton, etc.—would announce that beginning in 1966 they required for admission a two-year period after high school spent in some maturing activity; e.g., working for a living (that's very maturing); community service, such as the Northern Student Movement or the Peace Corps; work camp; army; a satisfactory course of travel. The purpose of this would be to get students with enough life-experience to be educable at the college level. Otherwise," concludes Goodman, "the schooling inevitably becomes spirit-breaking regimentation."

In this way college students would be given a slight push in the appropriate direction, and still have the chance to "make it on my own." The stigma of being a "college dropout" would cease making mothers disown sons and cry into their pillows at night.

Said Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps, in an address entitled "Should We Encourage College Dropouts?":

Campus Fatigue

"In our trainees we notice an overwhelming desire to get out and do something. Many of them suffer from campus fatigue. They are in search of reality and are fugitives from the grove of academia. When they return from two years in Africa, they are likely to be concerned about the relationship between studies and the problems of their own lives and the problems of the world. The pace and sophistication of their school work will be edifying and exhilarating to their teachers and rewarding to their fellow students.

"There's no room in the 20th century for the tender turtles who sit at rest while others take pains. So drop out if necessary."

Many will take his advice.

The Liberals' Hard Sell For Majority Government

By DOUGLAS FISHER
Former NDP MP for Port Arthur

Fisher

"Lie" like "sin" is a strong word, "a good English word" but it should be used accurately and sparingly. All politicians — probably all people engage in exaggeration. It is colorful to say "George Hees is campaigning like a house afire."

But there is a difference between the exaggeration and the dubious, even outrageous, interpretation or the "white" lie and the deliberately plotted decision to say the opposite of what is known to be the truth, and to keep on saying it, day in and day out, until it is drilled into the sub-conscious recesses of the minds of millions. The key to the Liberal strategy in this election is such a ruse.

However, it is my chore to point out the magnitude of the problem these Liberal thinkers faced. Firstly, the Liberals took power as recently as 1963 on the slogan of "strong, effective leadership."

From the fateful "Sixty Days of Decision" with the highlight in the first Gordon budget through to the Rivard affair or the mishandling of the postal strike, hardly a week went by without Canadians being given evidence of weak and ineffective leadership.

It was much more than Mr. Pearson's conduct in office and the effect of this performance upon the "Sixty Days" image of the prime minister. It was the fact two of his weakest and most troubled colleagues, Walter Gordon and Guy Favreau were in the first-rank, sensitive posts of minister of finance and chief lieutenant in Quebec.

This was the first part of the Liberal strategists' problem. It is there in their primer where the line says. "Now, that means that a national voice and a national posture have become difficult to sustain."

The second part of their problem was that the emerging Quebec policy of the Pearson government was carrying Canada along to a de-centralization of power to the provinces. A weak central government was being added to a weak leadership in Ottawa.

The Liberals took a part of the New Democratic Party concept of "co-operative federalism," i.e., the language and the general idea. But instead of the so-called "two-nation" construction of the NDP which would leave the legislative responsibilities of Ottawa largely intact while making accommodations for Quebec, they allowed Messrs. Lamontagne, Favreau, and Pepin, to re-interpret co-operative federalism into a general raid of all the provinces upon the jurisdiction of Ottawa.

How were the twin spectres of weak leadership and a weak Ottawa to be overcome? The answer is easy and plausible; it may even become the new truth on election night. Remember how advertising men sell a "small" car. They bombard us with slogans about its "big" economy, "big" engine, "big" performance, "big" savings. The reality of smallness gives way to the myth of bigness.

The very word "majority" and the spectacle of a legion of spokesman demanding it from coast to coast conveys an image of strength, certainty, decision, and of policies to come. The reality is concealed by the myth.

There are three calculated risks in this strategy. First, the presence of the party leader could be a constant reminder of what lies behind the pretence. This risk is being met by keeping Mr. Pearson out of the campaign as much as possible. He is referred to as "Mr. Prime Minister," not as "Mike." When he does appear in public he is to be determined and decisive.

★ ★ ★

The second risk is that any discussion of English-French relations would spotlight the Liberal policy of reducing the role of Ottawa. This is to be met by avoiding a discussion of the matter. Where it cannot be avoided, there is the old-chestnut of "national unity." On the Pierre Berton show, Mr. Prime Minister expressed the opinion that English-French relations were not in a serious state.

The third risk was that the concentration upon the need for a majority would be at cross-purposes to the defense by the Liberals of their record in office. This risk they cannot counter but it is worth taking because the opposition parties find it difficult to say the Liberals did not need a majority without in the same breath crediting them with many achievements in office.

Thus the strategy is set. Sell the people consciously on a majority government. It sounds plausible, reasonable and strong.

Can it work? Of course it can. Will it work? It probably will. If enough money is spent, and the big splurge, the saturation, starts later this month, if enough Liberal newspapers repeat their lines often enough it will work.

Any voter paying any attention to his paper, his radio, or his television, will hear "majority government" at least a thousand times before Nov. 8. It can easily submerge the long record of ineptness and negotiating away of power and authority.

Well, is it lying or is it a case of "anything goes" in politics?

'The Golden Days Go By' In an Old Country Orchard

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Forbes

October drifted over the horizon last week in a haze of blue mist that warned us winter is not far away.

The frost has been here. Briefly, 'tis true, but long enough to introduce a new line of autumn colors. The maples are now dressed in golden red and the oak trees are brown.

The mornings are smitten with chill, and when the haze drifts over the face of the sun, there's a stillness in the air that hints that Nature is resting. The time of growth is over and the days of the year are numbered.

Suddenly everything is exciting and important and full of promise.

In the winter we settle into the swing of service and social life. In the spring we feel romantic and stary-eyed and gay. In summer we are carefree, casual and lazy. But in the autumn we feel as if the world is ours.

The subtle warmth of an October sun the other day set us to wondering about the old orchard that borders a friend's hideaway in the country.

We had seen the orchard in the spring, when its gnarled and greying branches were decked with blossoms. Daffodil bulbs, planted years ago and left now to grow wild, painted the ground a golden yellow.

In summer, we went back to picnic under the trees. First, when purple and white clover and clumps of alfalfa in pale flower scented the air. Next, after the hay was cut and pears, apples and plums were pushing ahead out there, without benefit of thinning or pruning.

This time we came on an afternoon when the sun shone mellow and gold.

The fruit was ripe. Much of it had dropped and was rotting on the ground.

In the muted sunlight, the field was a mosaic of color. There were red apples, russet-tinted pears, blue and red plums and, over the tumble-down shed behind the cottage, dusky blue grapes.

The youngest amongst us climbed the trees to reach the topmost branches were the biggest fruit is always found. The rest were content to pick within arm's reach or to harvest from the ground.

We shook the branches of the trees and ducked our heads as the fruit showered down. We stripped the cherry plums with one smooth movement of our hands along the boughs. We found the greengages ready to make jam and the grapes just right for jelly.

We filled our baskets and boxes and we came home to fill our houses with the good smell of fruits in process of being preserved for the winter.

When we left the old orchard, the sun was a red ball, low on the western horizon. The trees were bathed in its golden fire. Fruit, left on the ground, glistened in the light.

As the mist deepened and the first star of evening appeared, one in our group remembered an Archibald Lampman poem:

"Thus without grief the golden days go by,
So soft we scarcely notice how they wend,
And like a smile half-happy, or a sigh,
The summer passes to her quiet end."

Famous Last Words

Patrick Arnold White (1947-1965)

This brilliant 18-year-old Santa Barbara, California, youth returned from the University of Seville and told friends he considered the Vietnamese war senseless. "I'll kill myself before I fight in such a war" he said, and a few hours later hanged himself in the family garage.

Abraham Lincoln 1809-1865

The president and his wife were attending a performance of "Our American Cousin," and when she asked coyly what the others in the box would think of their holding hands Lincoln replied: "They won't think anything about it." At that moment, John Wilkes Booth came behind him and fired his pistol.

INDIANS SUSPECT IN AFRICA

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

KAMPALA, Uganda—The young African zealot gestured angrily toward a cluster of shops—Indian doukas.

"We won't be content until our cities look more like Africa and less like Bombay," he declared emphatically.

His sentiment in one form or another is expressed throughout Uganda, Kenya and Tanzania over and over again as East Africans wage a new war of independence—this time against the commerce-ruling Asian traders

Population of Asians, a term that mainly includes Indians and Pakistanis, in the three former British territories is estimated at nearly 400,000 and they hold a powerful grip on the retail trade in the area of 25,000,000 people.

Don't Compete

The number compares with a total European or white population of only about 80,000 —and the whites do not generally compete with the African in small stores and artisan trades on the same basis as the Asians.

The result is that, with yesteryear's political conflict over white rule put aside, racial friction today is far more sharp between the Asian and African than between white and African.

The problem in East Africa presents an odd sidelight on Afro-Asian relations, so prominent in the international field. The Indian government has consistently defended the rights of Indians in white-ruled South Africa, but has taken a different attitude to its people in black Africa.

"Africa for the Africans," has been the Indian government's policy in this respect.

The late prime minister Nehru said in 1950: "We have declared often enough that we do not want any Indians in Africa to claim privileges at the cost of Africans . . . They must always put the interests of the indigenous population first."

Early Arrivals

The Asians are by no means Johnnys-come-lately in East Africa. They were here long before the Europeans arrived. Not only had Arabs traded down the coastline from early times but Indians had crossed the Indian Ocean before Vasco da Gama. In fact, it was a Muslim pilot who guided the Portuguese explorer to India in the 15th century.

The building of a railway from the coast to Uganda in the 1890s attracted a large number of Indian laborers to the interior. By the time of the Second World War, they dominated much of the trade and commerce in the three British territories, both in the towns and in the bush.

As British author John Hatch says in his The History of Post War Africa: "In some ways they resembled the Jews of medieval Europe, indispensable as money lenders and traders, but hated for the power this gave them over those who made use of their services."

Negroes in Canada: 'A Little Better Off'

The Manchester Guardian

HALIFAX — In terms of ordinary distance in North America, Nova Scotia could hardly be farther away from Los Angeles. But for one week in August, while the racial riots set the Californian city in flames, Los Angeles seemed uncomfortably close here. For among the 760,000 people of Nova Scotia lives half the Negro population of Canada.

There are 14,000 of them, scattered in some 50 communities; and there are officials in Ottawa who will admit that conditions for many of them are "only a little better than in the Deep South."

They have been better off in civic-rights, at any rate. They have always been free to vote, and for many years Halifax County has returned some Negro councillors. The schools, too, have mostly been integrated; that is, in places where the different races lived close enough to share schools.

The disabilities have been a little more subtle. Many Negroes, descendants of freed or runaway slaves from the south, withdrew in groups to farm or make a living in the rougher parts of the province. Some lost their livelihood when a quarry closed, or when potato-farmers gave up using the kind of barrels the men of one large community made. In other places Negroes were refused work, and certainly promotion, because of their color.

Hopeless Mood

Although schooling was free to all, the mood spread among Negro parents that it was hopeless to leave their children at school since they could not hope to find good jobs after all the waiting years.

This mood was never universal. There is a family in Wolfville with four university graduates and there are thriving groups in Sydney and New Glasgow, making up a tenth of the province's Negro population. But elsewhere demoralization went deep, and today provincial officials say their hardest problem is to stimulate ambition or an eagerness to learn.

Africville with its fifty families perched at the end of Halifax by the harbor has recently become notorious; and the city council is demolishing this sewerless slum, rat-infested from the nearby rubbish dump. The hope is that the Africville families will spread round the city and be rehoused in integrated areas. But there are worse areas, remoter and so shaming fewer people: for instance, in one ironically called Lincolnville most of the adults are illiterate, the school and the church are segregated, and nearly every family depends on social assistance.

The conscience of the provincial leaders was stirred in earnest 10 years ago. A fair employment practices act was followed by a fair accommodation practices act in 1959, and then two years ago these and an equal pay act were consolidated into a human rights act with a resounding preamble.

Laws Helped

More practically, labor department officials have busily investigated complaints of transgressions against these laws. Billiard room operators and barbers who tried to discriminate were visited. A man who argued that his refusal to employ a Negro girl was quite legal, since he fell short of the law's definition of an employer as someone with five people in his pay, found the law was soon amended. And for six years it has been illegal for any landlord renting rooms to more than three tenants to refuse anyone because of race or religion.

Still, the problem remains of getting more Negroes to draw level with whites in achievement. Nearly all the 2,500 Negro immigrants who now enter Canada each year bypass the Maritimes in search of better paying jobs in Ontario and Quebec, so that no stimulus comes from them to the Negroes in Nova Scotia. But Dalhousie University, with well known medical and law faculties, draws bright men from the Caribbean who are having an impact; while one (all-white) school in a Halifax suburb has a West Indian Negro principal.

Listed Needs

A large role has been played by Rev. William Oliver during three years' work with the provincial department of adult education. He has listed the conditions and needs of every Negro community, and begun to set up a network of education committees to stir ambitions and open horizons. The success by a group of women in establishing a pre-school centre, with equal numbers of white and Negro children, has led other communities to want to follow.

Now Mr. Oliver and his colleagues of the Negro Baptist Church, which has been a main force for communal solidarity, are facing the beginnings of a challenge from more radical leadership. These new men are not explicit in their aims, but the language they use suggests Nova Scotia may soon be heading into a more turbulent period of race relations.

Two Men Missing In Plane

COMOX—An RCAF Albatross with a para-rescue team aboard left here today in search of a missing pilot and his passenger.

The pilot, G. Moore, of Bellevue, Wash., was reported missing in his single seater plane at 6 p.m. Thursday.

That was the time he was due to land in Calgary on a flight from his home-town.

His radio was last heard as he passed over Kimberley, B.C., but attempts to contact him failed.

A quick check of airports both sides of the border failed to find any trace of the missing men.

The passenger was identified as Harvey Ringe. His address is not known.

In addition to the Comox rescue team, other search craft joined in the hunt today

Training Camp Open

LAKE COWICHAN—A logging camp complete with bunkhouse, cookhouse and fully equipped logging operation has been set up near here to teach men to be loggers.

The vocational training course began Monday.

Twenty students were billeted under remote camp conditions at Nanaimo army camp.

After two weeks of classroom instruction the logging students will be taken to a prepared logging site on Wolf Mountain.

There is 400,000 board feet of Crown timber there for a "classroom."

Chief instructor Michael Severn of Duncan has six assistants who could graduate up to 24 classes a year.

The curriculum includes working in the field with wooden spar rig-ups and steel spars, cat logging, power saw instruction, rigging, yarding and loading. Pass is 75 per cent.

Mr. Severn said: "Students will graduate as fully-fledged chokermen and logging companies will later provide on-the-job training."

Pair Facing Trial

CHEMAINUS — Gerald Morgan, 28, of Nanaimo, and Trevor McLeod, 23, of Chemainus, have been committed for trial charged with the attempted rape of a 19-year-old Ladysmith girl.

They will appear at the next Nanaimo Assize Court.

Morgan and McLeod were committed after a two-day preliminary hearing.

Accidental Death

CHEMAINUS — A verdict of accidental death was returned here Thursday night by a jury investigating the death of Frank Eastwood, 58, of Chemainus.

Eastwood died September 23 in Royal Jubilee Hospital, Victoria, after suffering multiple injuries.

He was working as a swamper at Chemainus sawmill when heavy timbers fell on him from a loading machine.

Expansion Program

MILL BAY — More facilities rather than more students is the aim of a $250,000 expansion program at Brentwood College.

Headmaster David MacKenzie said despite construction of a new $136,000 dormitory the school will expand its capacity of 178 boys by only a dozen.

Brentwood College was reopened in 1961 after being closed since 1948 following fire.

A fund drive started in June has raised $250,000 and the program now under way includes a $60,000 science block and a playing field besides the new 55-bed dormitory. Existing facilities will be improved.

Before the fire destroyed the boys' school in 1947 the college was at Brentwood. It later took over the site and buildings formerly occupied by the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay.

25 Cars Towed Away

DUNCAN — If you can't or won't read then your night school fees here can go up by $5.50 a night.

Motorists who ignored warning signs in Cowichan High School grounds this week found their cars impounded.

Monday night three wreckers were busy in the school yard. Twenty-five cars were towed away.

Tow truck drivers were acting on instructions from the school board and RCMP.

Parking at the school, a problem for some time, was brought to a head this week.

Volunteer firemen turned out to practice on the school roof but couldn't get the fire truck near the building because of illegally-parked cars.

ARMY RECRUITS from Vancouver Island no longer have to travel to the mainland to sign up. They can follow in the footsteps of Kenneth W. Helfrich, 1149 Hampshire Road, Victoria. Seen here (left) enrolling as a private, he was first to make use of the tri-services recruiting centre at 1002 Wharf Street, Victoria. In the past army recruits have had to sign up in Vancouver. Watching on (left to right) are Capt. Ian W. Gibbons, career counsellor; Lt.-Cmdr. T. W. Marsden, recruiting centre commanding officer, and Cpl. Jack MacAuley, administrative clerk.

Council Leans Toward Marina

NORTH COWICHAN—Municipal council Wednesday voted 5 to 2 to give a third reading to the controversial bylaw rezoning 25 acres at Genoa Bay for a marina and mobile home village development.

Final reading comes up in two weeks.

If the vote remains the same the bylaw will have the necessary two-thirds majority.

At Wednesday's meeting, Coun. Elaine Dobbyn added her opposition to the previously lone dissenting voice of Coun. Gerry Smith.

Mrs. Dobbyn said she was persuaded by the strong opposition of Maple Bay residents.

After the meeting she said: "I feel public opinion is worth consideration. "It is almost impossible to control pollution from over 100 boats which would be attracted by the proposed marina."

Reeve Donald Morton said it was the most solemn council meeting he ever attended.

Spokesman for a residents' delegation, Mrs. Wanda Varty, said if the area was rezoned, development should be contingent on council approving detailed plans for water supply and sanitation.

INSTANT HOMES RISE IN NEW PULP TOWN

VANCOUVER (CP) — Work has started on two new housing subdivisions at Gold River, the Tahsis Company announced today.

The newly-incorporated municipality is being built primarily to provide urban living facilities for employees of the company's logging division and proposed $60 million pulp mill.

The first Gold River subdivision of 45 houses is nearing completion. Residents are scheduled to move in this month.

The two additional subdivisions comprise 42 homes—20 being built by A & B Construction Company Ltd. of Nanaimo, and 22 by Dawson Housing Development Ltd. of Vancouver.

RUSSIANS POACHING B.C. FISH?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Russian fishing vessels were intercepted within Canada's 12-mile fishing limit off the west coast Thursday morning, Fisheries Minister Robichaud disclosed.

He said fisheries' patrol ships ordered the Russian boats to move outside the limit and the Russians "obeyed the orders."

Mr. Robichaud made the disclosure during a hurried press conference Thursday night at which he was asked about Russian and Japanese catches off the west coast of North America.

He did not say how many Russian ships were involved and did not pinpoint the area in which they were found.

Nanaimo Approves Spending

NANAIMO—City voters Thursday gave the go-ahead for a $1,250,000 five-year capital improvement plan and a $55,000 bus purchase referendum.

In all, 2,279 taxpayers voted, 36.8 per cent of those eligible. They passed the bylaw with a 71.04 per cent majority—1,590 to 648.

The referendum was passed with a 72.4 per cent majority—1,623 to 618.

Biggest job to be handled under the five-year plan is street improvement throughout the city at a cost of $608,000.

A further $125,000 will go towards a new firehall and equipment.

A recreation complex is scheduled for Bowen Park, accounting for another $112,000. A $40,000 senior governments grant will pay the remaining cost of this project.

POLICE STATION

Police station and magistrates court will be extended for $78,000.

Another $20,000 will help renovate the civic arena, while smaller amounts will help complete the city works yard, provide a caretaker's building at the cemetery, install automatic signals at all rail crossings and renew downtown ornamental street lighting.

The bus bylaw will allow city to borrow up to $55,000 to buy new buses for Nanaimo Transit Ltd.

The transit company will repay the loan annually with interest.

Said Mayor Pete Maffeo today: "The voters have shown their confidence in our plans. We can now go ahead with those plans."

Referendum Slated For Open Hearing

CHEMAINUS — Members of the public will be given details of a $1,398,600 school referendum—to be voted on Nov. 6—at a public meeting in Chemainus secondary school auditorium Oct. 16. Sponsored by Chemainus Ratepayers' Association, the meeting begins at 8 p.m.

4-H Council Meeting

DUNCAN — Cowichan-Cobble Hill 4-H advisory conucil will hold its next meeting at Cobble Hill 4-H building Tuesday at 8 p.m. Among topics under discussion will be the Duncan Plaza sale Oct. 15 and 16 in which 4-H'rs are taking part.

Chum Fishing One Day Only In Fraser River

VANCOUVER (CP) — A one-day opening of the Fraser River for chum salmon fishing next week was announced Thursday by Fisheries Minister Robichaud.

The minister told a press conference fishing for chum will be permitted on the river for 24 hours from 8 a.m. Tuesday to 8 a.m. Wednesday.

However, he stressed that only the Fraser would be open and the 12-mile fishing "blue" line would remain closed.

The minister said his department had investigated complaints by B.C. fishermen that chum fishing had been restricted to 24 hours this year while United States boats had three days a week in the Strait of Juan de Fuca. These boats were said to be taking chum salmon bound for Canadian rivers.

Mr. Robichaud said his department had warned fishermen earlier that restrictions would be imposed because of a poor chum run in 1961.

Reserve Asked Near Wharf For Boat Basin

CROFTON—Ratepayers here have asked the provincial government to reserve a foreshore lease near the government wharf for construction of a public boat basin.

The ratepayers are also asking North Cowichan municipality to make the upland area above the proposed boat basin into park land.

The stretch of foreshore in question was subject of a protest petition earlier this year when Pacific Logging Co. wanted to use it for log storage.

Council killed the company's plans when it announced the foreshore in question was zoned commercially.

Chemainus Water 'Dirty, Smelly'

CHEMAINUS — Dozens of local residents drove to the provincial highway drinking fountain to get their water supply recently.

Coun. Gerry Smith said Wednesday this indicated how bad the water was for a three-week period during the extremely dry spell.

He said this week's rains improved the situation.

However, he asked municipal council what steps were being taken to effect a permanent improvement.

Coun. Smith said he received complaints from Chemainus hospital as well as many private householders.

The water supply was dirty and smelly, he said.

Public works chairman George Whittaker promised engineering examination of three alternatives to bring about improvement.

NORTH COWICHAN — Somenos residents are giving it a third try to get an improved water supply.

Twice this year Bell-McKinnon Road residents have defeated a bylaw proposing to extend Duncan city water into the area.

Wednesday, Somenos Water Extension Committee asked North Cowichan council to consider the feasibility of a system of deep water wells.

The committee said there are examples in the province of such systems to service pockets of urban development.

Reeve Donald Morton agreed to raise the question at a meeting today with the municipality's consulting engineers.

Small Boats Busy Rescue Men

The RCAF Rescue Co-ordination Centre in Vancouver handled a total of 508 incidents from June to September of this year, Search and Rescue officials revealed today.

Included in the June-September figures are 339 marine incidents, 28 aircraft incidents, 34 missing persons and mercy flights and 107 communication checks.

Overall, tabulating the figures from January, 1965, to September, the Rescue Centre has handled 800 incidents this year, an increase of 121 incidents over the 1964 figures.

Squadron Leader R. H. Strouts, officer commanding the Rescue Centre attributes the increase to the generally fine weather experienced during the summer months this year and an increase in the numbers of small boat owners in B.C.

He starts with finished engines

Doug Richards is foreman of the engine 'customizing' department at Finning. He takes the power of factory finished Caterpillar engines and makes it do precisely what the customer wants.

For example, the 765 h.p. giants in our picture are being modified to provide electricity for three of B.C.'s model industrial cities.

By the same token, four similar engines are being used to carry a 3000 h.p. punch to a big new tug boat's single prop.

Yet other Caterpillar engines (from 50 h.p. up) might become electric sets for microwave communications installations. Sample specifications: no load to full load instantaneously applied and no more than 1% variance in engine speed.

Or they may be tapped for duty as standby generators. Cut-in-time: 7 seconds. (Doug plays it safe and makes sure they do it in four.)

There are many 'customizing' possibilities and Doug Richards is on top of every one. Not by accident. He has had 14 years job experience at Finning plus special service courses and five years night school. He will be 33 next birthday.

It is men like this who have made Finning a company that's big where it counts most . . . in thinking and capability.

Costs of Court 'Will Work Out'

Apportionment and payment of costs for Greater Victoria magistrate's court will work itself out, members of Victoria city council legislative committee agreed Thursday.

A letter declaring non-participation by Saanich was read to the committee and referred to city council.

There have been no specific instructions received from the attorney-general's department, according to assistant city manager William Hooson.

Comptroller-treasurer James Bramley said the exact costs of the building are not yet known but he expected soon to be able to work out apportionment of operating costs and payments by each area to cover magistrates' salaries.

Saanich would be billed for its share in any case, he said.

A meeting between area comptrollers, treasurers and the attorney-general's comptroller would help straighten matters out, he said.

Ald. Michael Griffin said it appeared the situation would straighten itself out.

NEW COURT WINS PRAISE

The new Greater Victoria central court and jail facilities have been praised by Vancouver Island John Howard Society.

Directors were taken on a conducted tour of the new courthouse and the renovated city police station Thursday by Chief J. F. Gregory.

"One cannot help but be pleased with the new accommodations for those under arrest and awaiting trial," said society president F. T. Donegani.

Outspoken Chemist To Speak Saturday

Outspoken peace activist and physical chemist, Dr. Linus Pauling, will visit the University of Victoria this Saturday when he speaks before a symposium on international affairs.

The American scientist is scheduled to speak at 3:30 p.m. in the Elliot Building, room 168. The public is invited to attend.

Twice a Nobel laureate, Dr. Pauling received the coveted Nobel Prize for chemistry in 1954 and the Nobel Peace Prize in 1963.

Dr. Pauling, who has spoken out on the perils of nuclear war, has often taken a forthright position in major international issues.

Much of his work in chemistry has concerned the nature of chemical bonding and molecular structure, with application to living systems.

In his book "No More War!" he concludes that "the evil of war should be abolished", and proposes that the "great world problems be solved . . . by carrying on research for peace."

LOCAL BRIEFS

A mother of five children pleaded guilty Thursday in city court to obtaining goods by false pretenses.

Mrs. Ajeet Dheensaw, 37, of 1760 Taylor, was remanded to Oct. 15 for pre-sentence report and sentence.

Court was told she used two fictitious accounts to purchase a pair of shoes, three shirts, a sweater and a pair of socks.

The goods, valued at $30.18, were obtained from the Hudson's Bay Co.

Students Trapped

DETROIT (AP)—A high tension electric power line fell on a chain cyclone parking lot fence at suburban Grosse Pointe High School Thursday, imprisoning some 3,000 students and teachers for an hour. No one was injured, and students were dismissed for the day after Detroit Edison Company workmen turned the power off.

BAN PIGEON FEEDING?

Follow the Birds to . . . Not City Hall

A pilot pigeon project for city hall was proposed Thursday by Ald. Michael Griffin as a means of ridding the city of "these filthy birds."

"Fithy pigeons are mucking up the streets, buildings and everything else. I think we ought to do something about these filthy birds," he told Victoria city council legislative committee.

Assistant to the city manager William Hooson said many methods of pigeon control have been tried elsewhere.

"It is a costly matter to deal with them and as far as I know no satisfactory way has been found," he said.

A thin steel wire around building ledges and sills to prevent pigeons from roosting was suggested by Ald. Griffin. City hall could be the pilot project, he said.

"Even shooting them has no effect," said Mr. Hooson, doubting the effectiveness of the suggestion.

"It is something we are going to have to live with as part of our civilization," Mr. Hooson said.

Ald. Clyde Savage said pigeon feeding seems to attract a lot of birds and that this should be made illegal.

Ald. Robert Baird suggested turning the question over to the solicitor.

"He could stand there all day reading briefs to them, but they wouldn't understand," Ald. Griffin remarked.

The city manager and engineer were asked to report methods of bird control.

Mine 'Skip' Provides Real Thrill

By JIM HUME
Times Business Editor

Hume

For a cheap thrill people who can't afford trips to the PNE could try the "skip" which functions in the No. 1 shaft at the Sullivan Mine, at Kimberley.

It isn't designed for thrills, but that's what the amateur miner gets when he zips 1,000 feet down the 39-degree angle shaft at 1,620 feet per minute.

To Sullivan Mine underground workers the "skip" is just a means of getting to work. To the gathered white-skinned and somewhat flabby office workers visiting the mine Tuesday morning it was a breakfast-raising, head-ducking event unsurpassed since youthful rides on the Big Dipper at the local fun-fair.

After several sessions down small mines, the Sullivan is a little awe-inspiring. With its multi-tunnels, tramway systems, crushers, slushers, first-aid stations, powder magazines it is more like an underground city than a mine.

* * *

Some of the statistics compiled by Sullivan staffers make fascinating reading.

Production during 1964 was 2,710,832 tons of ore working out at 10,715 tons per working day or 7,407 tons per calendar day. Total production since commencement to December, 1964, was 91,623,659 tons.

That the mine is important to the economy of B.C. is obvious. As obvious as the importance of the mine to the economy of Kimberley in particular and the East Kootenays in general, for with 716 men on permanent payroll Sullivan's payroll keeps more than one small merchant in business.

B.C. Hydro reports that Vancouver Island is switching on the electricity and leaving it on—with greater frequency.

In an interim report Hydro says sales of permanent-type electric heating equipment in the Hydro service area has increased 570 per cent over last year in the first eight months of 1965.

The largest number of increase in the number of heating installations were experienced on Vancouver Island and the Interior.

On Vancouver Island the total sales in kilowatts over the eight-month period, with last year's figures in brackets, were 3,723 (620). In Metropolitan Vancouver by comparison the figures were 397 (92).

Shell Canada executive D. W. Smith, manager of Northern Division exploration, was careful with his phraseology when he addressed the Rotary Club at the Empress Thursday noon.

Talking on offshore drilling programs he touched lightly on the matter of rights and cleverly straddled that controversial fence.

". . . thus on the basis of a possible sedimentary basin . . . Shell Canada secured the petroleum exploration rights from the federal government on about 11 million acres in the offshore waters . . . this has since been increased to about 13 million acres . . . we later filed with the British Columbia government on the same acreage . . ."

Which reminds us, when will the ruling be handed down on the matter of offshore rights?

Not until well after the federal election, we suppose, for Premier Jean Lesage has indicated that his province, not recognizing the jurisdiction of the court, will fight a federally favorable ruling.

Premier Bennett hasn't gone quite that far, but he has left no doubt that he agrees with his Quebec counterpart that what oil or natural gas lies just off the B.C. coast belongs to the nearest province—not Ottawa.

Nesbitt, Thomson Appointment

Colin C. Creighton, C.A.

Nesbitt, Thomson and Company, Limited, announce the appointment of Mr. Colin C. Creighton as a sales representative associated with their Victoria Office.

Mr. Creighton was born and educated in Victoria where he obtained his C.A. degree. He has recently completed a sales training course with Nesbitt, Thomson in Montreal, where he completed the Canadian Securities Course with honors. Mr. Creighton is well known in local business and financial circles having practised as a chartered accountant here since 1960.

ANDRES WINES APPOINTMENT

E. S. ARNOLD, B.Sc. (UBC)

Dr. Joseph Peller, President of Andres Wines Ltd., announces, with pleasure, the appointment of Mr. E. S. Arnold to the position of Plant Superintendent and Assistant Production Manager. Mr. Arnold's extensive background in the Brewing Industry and his association with the American Society of Enology and with the British Institute of Brewing will be an invaluable addition to the executive team of this rapidly growing B.C. wine producer.

Japanese Firm Submits Low Bids

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Japanese firm of Mitsui and Company Ltd., has submitted apparent low bids totalling $10,800,000 for two contracts involving work at the giant Peace River dam and its substations, B.C. Hydro and Power Authority disclosed Thursday.

Mitsui was representing the giant Toshiba electrical interests of Japan.

A B.C. Hydro spokesman said Thursday that because the tenders presented from a number of international contractors are so complex it will be two weeks before the contracts are let. Hydro engineers must study the bids.

Unotex Petroleum Pays Out $627,000

EDMONTON (CP) — Unotex Petroleum Ltd. Thursday paid $627,000 for petroleum and natural gas permits on land in the Cold Lake area of eastern Alberta.

The sum, paid for three parcels totalling about 53,000 acres, was the largest paid out by any company in the sale, which netted the Alberta government $1,061,695.

New York Flirts With Record Highs

RETIRING after 20 years as chief negotiator for Canada's 100,000 non-operating railroad workers is Frank Hall, 72. He said he will leave the railway labor scene gradually, remaining as an adviser for another 18 months. At that time his retirement as Canadian head of his own union, the International Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, becomes effective.

Wall Street flirted with historic highs in late trading today as prices advanced, following news that President Johnson's operation was successful. Trading was heavy.

Airlines and electronics were conspicuous gainers. Eastern Airlines rose more than two.

Prices were fractionally higher in all sections on the Toronto exchange.

Industrials moved ahead behind gains of ½ to Algoma Steel at 65, Canada Iron at 59½ and Oshawa wholesale A at 49½. Dominion Bridge jumped 1¼ to 28¼ and Bell Telephone ¼ to 58¼.

AT TORONTO papers were lower. Great Lakes dropped 1 to 21⅜. Consolidated ¼ to 38¾ and MacMillan, Bloedel and B.C. Forests ⅜ each to 29⅝ and 24⅝ respectively.

Base metals spurted with Falconbridge up 1 to 104. Hudson Bay lent support for a gain of 1¼ at 69¾ while Noranda tacked on ⅝ at 50¼.

In oils, Place, a speculative issue, traded actively in gaining 8 to 81 cents. Recent-favorite Banff dipped 15 cents to $7.30.

AT NEW YORK among electronics, Zenith and Raytheon spurted more than four, Motorola and Admiral about two each, Magnavox and Fairchild Camera three, Radio Corp. one.

KLM Airlines, up nearly five, was heavily traded. Texas Gulf Sulphur was active and up about two.

AT MONTREAL, industrials and utilities were up but most other sections were off in moderately active trading today.

AT LONDON the market was quiet today and there was no definite trend to be seen. The Rhodesian situation was an unhelpful influence, especially in the mining section, although coppers were not as depressed as might have been expected.

AT VANCOUVER two stocks hit new highs for the year and two hit lows in moderate trade on the stock exchange up until noon today.

Highs were recorded by Aetna, up .03 to $1.33, and Croydon, which settled to .45, up once cent after a high of .46.

Chataway, off .05 to $1.15 and Canadian Breweries, off ⅛ to $7.87, hit lows for the year.

Northlodge led in volume selling 115,000 shares to rise .05 to .55. Vanmetals gained .03 to .19 on 78,500 shares.

GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Most of today's sparse activity on the Winnipeg grain exchange was in oilseeds, where prices were irregular to lower.

Export interest was quiet.

Flax was sharply lower, reflecting hedging sales, generally favorable prairie harvest weather and lack of export interest.

Rapeseed losses were less severe, due mainly to advances in Chicago soybean prices.

Oats, barley and rye moved narrowly in routine trade.

CHICAGO (AP)—A good milling demand for soybeans keyed the Board of Trade to firm prices through most of today's session.

There was even some buying of soybeans by traders who were encouraged by continued strong oil and meal quotations and hopeful that Monday's U.S. crop forecast will show some scaling down of previous production estimates.

The tone generally was good for other futures.

Party Chiefs Demand Canada Crime Probe

'Inertia Could End Democracy'

DOUGLAS
. . . big business

ABBOTSFORD (CP) — T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, Thursday night warned Canadians they could lose their political heritage through apathy.

He said in a speech to a federal election meeting here there are two kinds of democracy — political and economic.

Canadians lived in an economic dictatorship. They had political democracy, but they could lose it through apathy and inertia.

He made the reference after demanding an investigation by a judge of the Quebec Supreme Court into reports that some members of Parliament are involved in Quebec bankruptcies now under investigation.

He quoted from a story in the Toronto Globe and Mail that said seven members of Parliament were linked by police to the Quebec bankruptcy investigation.

He said the investigation should be confined to the "narrow field" of complicity of members of Parliament or cabinet ministers. The report of the judge should be made public not later than Nov. 1, a week before the Nov. 8 federal election.

Canadians must insist on government for the people, by the people and of the people, he said.

'RUN BY BUSINESS'

He said the economy of the country today is being run by big busniess for big business.

The "corporation boys" supported both the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parites and determined policies for both parties. They did not care which one formed the government.

"They put Bob Winters in one and George Hees in the other — both bare foot boys from Bay Street."

Mr. Douglas, speaking in this Fraser River farming area 40 miles east of Vancouver to an audience of 400 that two-thirds filled a school auditorium, outlined a two - pronged agricultural policy.

An emergency program would assist farmers hurt by such natural disasters as drought, excessive rain and frost.

In co-operation with the provinces it would make financial and material resources available. The help would range from acreage payments to non-interest bearing loans and a moratorium on debts to the Canadian Farm Credit Corp.

A long-term plan would aim at relieving the farmer of the "vicious" cost - prize squeeze. It would help establish marketing boards with guaranteed minimum prices.

Today Mr. Douglas addresses a Simon Fraser University student meeting.

'Clean Up Examples Of Graft'

THOMPSON
. . . rotten system

WINNIPEG (CP) — Social Credit Leader Thompson Thursday called for an immediate investigation into international crime in Canada to clean up examples of "graft and corruption."

Mr. Thompson, speaking during a press conference before a Social Credit rally, said graft and corruption "isn't new . . . it has existed for some time now and mostly centred in Quebec.

"But the Liberal government has failed on its record of dealing with graft and corruption . . . and the confidence of the people has been weakened by this."

He said an immediate investigation should be undertaken and, "failing the publication of a white paper, at least the various deartments should be authorized to publish regular reports on the situation."

Mr. Thompson carried his attack of the "rotten system of patronage" which, he said, was practised by both the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties, to his election rally in the predominantly rural constituency of Springfield.

FAULTS HEALTH PLAN

Mr. Thompson sharply criticized the Liberal party for "rushing out, pell - mell" to spend the taxpayers' money. A national medical care plan was an example, he said, where 80 to 85 per cent of the people would be forced to participate in a program they didn't want.

"We need a national insurance program but it must respect provincial autonomy and it should not be compulsory."

Mr. Thompson tailored his speech around a television address by Premier Manning of Alberta on medical care. Mr. Thompson began speaking and then stopped to allow the audience to watch the address on two portable television sets. He then picked up the topic in his address.

The Social Credit party, he said, does not oppose a medical care program but it should be voluntary with government subsidization for those unable to pay for themselves.

The Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties were criticized for making election promises. Mr. Thompson said so far these promises amounted to more than $3,000,0000,00.

"They should at least have the decency to ask you if they can have the money."

'PREMATURE TO LINK MPs WITH RACKET'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fisheries Minister Robichaud said Thursday the Quebec bankruptcy situation has existed for ages but he denied all charges of Liberal connections with the matter.

The minister told a press conference it would be premature to link any cabinet minister or member of Parliament of any party with the situation until charges have been proved.

He challenged Opposition Leader Diefenbaker to produce any report dealing with the situation "if such a report exists."

'Pitchfork The Liberals Out Of Office

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Liberals must be pitchforked out of office Nov. 8 in the interest of preserving Confederation and guaranteeing honesty in government, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Thursday night.

Opening his Western Canadian campaign, and after chewing lustily over the Rivard affair and bankruptcy racketeering revelations in Quebec, Mr. Diefenbaker said:

"We were in office for more than six years and not once did the scourge of dishonesty strike at our vitals."

On the other hand, Mr. Diefenbaker said, he wouldn't be surprised if Prime Minister Pearson came along one of these days with a new slogan for the Liberal party:

"Throw the rascals in."

For his Winnipeg rally, Mr. Diefenbaker's Progressive Conservative party provided a Dixieland band, bagpipers and a Ukrainian singing group.

The 5,000 - seat auditorium was filled and doorways were packed with standing listeners. An 800-seat adjoining auditorium was nearly filled.

And the heckling was the heaviest Mr. Diefenbaker has run into so far in his campaign. At one point a scuffle threatened before a heckler was ejected from the rear gallery.

WELFARE BOOSTS HIS AIM

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Que. (CP) — Creditiste leader Real Caouette promised Thursday night to fight for family allowances adjusted to the cost of living and pensions of $100 a month from the age of 65 on.

Mr. Caouette, speaking at an election rally in Riviere du Loup, said the Social Credit government in British Columbia is giving monthly pensions of $105, plus yearly allowances of $100 to ratepayers to help them pay their municipal taxes.

He also promised to work for interest-free loans for municipalities and school commissions and for a uniform agricultural policy throughout the country.

Rubble Kills Pair

MESCALERO, N.M. (AP) — Two construction workers were killed at a Future Job Corps training camp southeast of here when one wall of a 15-foot-deep ditch collapsed Thursday, covering them with tons of rubble.

Pearson Stomps Rural Manitoba With Tidings of Farm Security

DAUPHIN, Han. (CP)—Prime Miister Pearson went to the people of rural Manitoba Thursday, bringing a message of "moral . . . enduring values" in public and private life and the security of the family farm.

His campaign for the Nov. 8 federal election took him on an automobile tour of small centres south of Winnipeg where he met children in droves and addressed a luncheon meeting in Winkler.

Later he flew to this northwestern Manitoba town for an evening rally, telling a large crowd gathered in a former airport hangar that his opponents are gloom-mongering from frustration and desperation.

"I get kind of impatient," he said, with those who try to convince Canadians everything has gone wrong in the country.

"People who talk like that are frustrated; they're desperate."

He didn't name Opposition Leader Diefenbaker directly, but said blues-spreaders increase at election time, "especially if they are in opposition and trying to get into office."

Size of his audience here was impossible to estimate. With 300 seated and many standing, the crowd appeared to occupy about one-third of the floor area of the cavernous hall.

SEEKS $4,200 AVERAGE

The Liberal party's farm policy goal, he told them, "is that the family farm should produce a living as good as the average industrial wage, which is at present about $4,200 a year."

He said wheat sales had increased by 174,000,000 bushels a year since his government's election in 1963 and average price was $2 a busnel compared with $1.75. He accused the Conservative leader of making a "false statement" that the Liberals had opposed wheat sales to Communist countries.

Canadian unity, he said, remained the No. 1 problem and Canadians "must build one country as Canadians, united as Canadians."

At the luncheon gathering in the Winkler school hall, he spoke about honesty in government.

"We ought to be just as concerned with things that are enduring—the moral basis of our society. Stand for values that mean something, stand for integrity and honesty in everything we do in public and private life.

"And believe me, I feel just as strongly about that in political life as I would if I were in private life . . ."

Mr. Pearson spent most of the morning among children, first at St. Norbert outside Winnipeg where he spoke briefly at Riviere Seine School and later in roadside gatherings at Ste. Agathe and St. Jean. These districts have a large French-speaking population.

Compulsory Medicare 'Dangerous'

OTTAWA (CP)—The conmpulsory aspect of the federal government's proposed medical insurance plan is wrong and dangerous to the best interest of Canadians, Premier Manning of Alberta, said Thursday night.

The Social Credit premier, speaking on a CBC free-time political broadcast on television, said he is in complete agreement with the plan's objective—comprehensive medical services.

But making the plan compulsory took away Canadians' freedom of choice.

The medical care plan in its present form would place a totally unnecessary burden on the taxpayers because there were many people who were willing and able to pay their own medical bills.

Correspondent Dies

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—Terrence J. Olson, 27, appointed Associated Press correspondent here last Saturday, was killed early Friday, the highway patrol said, when his car skidded on U.S. Interstate 94 west of here and struck an overpass abutment. He was alone.

TIME YET TO REGISTER FOR NOV. 8 VOTE

Empty Mailbox Sure Sign Name Missed

Watch for an important post-card in the mail starting next week and if it doesn't arrive by Oct. 20, find out why.

That's not horoscope advice, but a warning that a citizen's franchise may have been overlooked.

It's an indication a voter may have been missed by enumerators when the big count was taken for the Nov. 8 federal election. However, there is no immediate need to panic and voters still have time to register.

Enumeration lists should go in the mail Oct. 16, reaching voters not later than Oct. 20.

"Many people don't realize there's a simple procedure to follow if a voter is missed by enumerators," says Ray Bryant, returning officer for Victoria.

The procedure involves a Court of Revision, which sits Oct. 21-23 in urban ridings and Oct. 21 in rural ridings.

In Victoria, which is composed entirely of urban polls, the courts of revision for the nine revisal districts all will be held at the Eagles Hall, 755 View Street.

In Esquimalt-Saanich, the four urban revisal courts will sit in separate church halls: St. Martin's-in-the-Field on Obed; St. Peter's at St. Peter and Quadra; United Church at Carey and Norwood, and St Luke's at Cedar Hill and Cedar Hill Cross Road.

The six polls in urban Sidney will be considered by the St. Peter's court of revision.

If in doubt, persons in the urban areas of Esquimalt-Saanich can check which is their court of revision site by watching the bulletins posted at all post offices.

Persons in the rural polls of the riding will have to check the notices of poll in their area because individual enumerators carry out the revisions, usually in their own homes.

LOOK FOR MAIL

A voter can tell if he was missed by enumerators in a number of ways:

1. No enumeration slip in his mailbox or under his door by Oct. 20.

2. No campaign literature in the mail. (Said Mr. Bryant: "All parties use the voters list as a mailing list.")

3. By checking for his name on the voters' lists posted on telephone poles in his neighborhood. ("A pretty weak reed to lean on. Kids pull them down as soon as they are put up.")

4. By asking neighbors if they were registered. ("In 1963 enumerators missed 19 people on three blocks of one street.")

"Every year we have people rushing in on election day demanding to vote," said a voting official.

"They can get pretty indignant when they are told it's too late.

"Actually, the procedure to straighten things out is simple."

All the voter must do is contact either his home riding or the headquarters of any political party. Word is passed to the Court of Revision and an agent is sent on a special trip to interview the voter.

The agent fills in forms and presents them to the Court of Revision.

CHECK POST OFFICE

If he's the do-it-yourself type, the voter can check the "Notice of Revision" in any post office and attend court himself.

The urban court sits Oct. 21, 22 and 23 for about an hour starting at 10 in the morning and from seven to 10 in the evening. In rural ridings revision is handled by an enumerator who sits from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The main thing is to keep an eye on the mailbox. If it remains empty of election material up to Oct. 20, take action.

WINE, CHEESE PARTY

New Twist Introduced Into Local Campaigns

A new twist on "meet the people" parties favored by local federal candidates will be tried Oct. 15 by Victoria NDP candidate Lloyd Brereton.

He will be host at a wine-and-cheese literary party at the Godon Head campus of the University of Victoria.

The same evening Victoria Liberal candidate David Groos will be engaged in a more conventional coffee party at Henderson Hall on Yale Street.

Conservatives, meanwhile, will be drinking up the words of national leader John Diefenbaker at Bay St. Armory and hoping they will spill over in favor of local candidate Rev. Clifford Waite.

Victoria Social Credit candidate Frank Hunter will open his campaign headquarters Tuesday in the old YMCA building at Blanshard and View.

He'll be serving tea or coffee for the occasion along with his campaign manager Geoff Ellis and official agent Dr. Charles Ennals.

The Communist Party's national leader William Kashtan of Toronto will be in Victoria Oct. 21 to speak on behalf of local candidtae W. S. E. Morrison. Campaign manager and official agent for the Communist candidate is Ernest Knott.

Stock Probe Report Praised

Findings Clear Way for Action, Stock Exchange President Says

TORONTO (CP) — Lt.-Gen. Howard D. Graham, president of the Toronto Stock Exchange, says the royal commission report on Windfall Oils and Mines Ltd. is "absolutely excellent."

Gen. Graham said Thursday he thought the report would be extremely useful to the exchange and the Ontario Securities Commission.

The commission attempted to sort out the causes of the rise to $5.60 from 56 cents and the collapse to 80 cents of Windfall in a frantic 19-day span in July, 1964.

In various sections of the report, Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly of the Ontario Court of Appeal, who acted as one-man royal commissioner, criticized the Toronto Stock Exchange and made recommendations for improving its role as a national securities exchange.

Mr. Justice Kelly said primary distribution of shares in speculative mining companies should be removed from the Toronto Stock Exchange. Primary distribution is the selling of treasury shares to the public through the facilities of a stock exchange.

Gen. Graham told a press conference:

"We've been waiting for this report before making any decision on primary distribution. We now hope to get down to discussions with the government and the Ontario Securities Commission and finally settle whether primary distribution should stay on the exchange."

He said there are good arguments for and against primary distribution and it "is difficult to know what is best to do."

In the report, the Toronto Stock Exchange was castigated for not making a definite move to make Windfall directors give an explanation of the stock's activity The exchange argued that the Ontario Securities Commission had entered the picture and as a result the exchange stepped out.

Mr. Graham said:

"I think the exchange acted properly in Windfall. Had it been left with us, instead of being taken out of our hands by the OSC, the stock would have been suspended or Windfall's assay results would have been released sooner than they were.

"The commissioner thought we were wrong. I thought we were right. It's a difference of opinion."

Fiery Train Crash Takes Four Lives

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A fiery head-on crash inside a tunnel of two private construction trains Thursday night killed four persons, sheriff's deputies believe.

The collision, 120 miles northeast of San Francisco, apparently occurred when one train failed to pull onto a spur line to allow the other to pass through the single-track tunnel.

Both trains were working on the $200,000,000 Oroville Dam project.

Butte County sheriff's deputies said the tunnel was a sea of flames. They said no one inside could have survived.

U.S. PLANES BOMB ISLE BY MISTAKE

HONOLULU (AP) — The tiny island of Niihau, the most westerly of the Hawaiian Islands, was bombed in error by U.S. Navy planes Tuesday night.

The navy, which disclosed the incident today, said a flight of navy A-1 Skyraider divebombers from the carrier Ticonderoga swooped in on the northeast side of Niihau after dark and released several small bombs.

They exploded on a remote beach. No one was injured.

Most of the island's 213 native Hawaiian inhabitants live on the opposite side of Niihau. Except to say the planes "accidentally dropped" the bombs, the navy had no explanation. An investigation is under way.

Firms Link Communists With Union

TORONTO (CP) — J. A. Donaldson, chief management negotiator in an Ontario dispute with the Teamsters Union, said today wildcat walkouts in the province are a direct result of "subversive" activity among the striking truckers.

Mr. Donaldson linked the activity with the Communist Party. He said the Canadian Tribune, a Communist weekly, had published a set of wildcat strikers' demands 24 hours before they were officially made public.

Representatives of five Ontario Teamster union locals and the Motor Transport Bureau, representing 88 provincial trucking firms, brought talks to an end Thursday when the bureau walked out of the meeting after the union issued its demands.

N.Y. BEAMED AS IT RAINED AND RAINED

NEW YORK (AP) — Welcome rain, described by forecasters as the most important general rainstorm in months in some areas, continued today in drought-stricken northeastern United States.

Stormy weather battered areas in the Carolinas, Ohio and Michigan, with tornadoes, violent windstorms and heavy rain. One man was killed in a twister which struck Asheboro, N.C.

Heavy rain drenched the eastern seaboard, where drought conditions in some areas have reached emergency status.

Parched New York City received 1.05 inches of rain within seven hours before midnight.

U.S. Forces Stabilize S. Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Secretary McNamara believes the situation in South Viet Nam has stabilized since the United States began funnelling large numbers of U.S. troops into war, it became known today.

However, he is not yet ready to join those who say the tide has turned and that the anti-Communist side is winning.

About the most optimistic evaluation he has made is that U.S. army, air force, marine and naval forces have made remarkable achievements and that the Communist Viet Cong have failed in their efforts to cut South Viet Nam in two and to destroy the morale of the South Vietnamese troops.

He is best described as remaining cautiously optimistic.

This tobacco seedling hopes to grow to be a Sportsman Cigarette

From this tiny seedling, nestling in the palm of a grower's hand, will come the best-tasting tobacco under the sun.

We grow these tender little plants from blue ribbon seed—the very best. And then we baby the plants along in good, rich soil with plenty of warm sunshine and cool summer rain. This is proud tobacco. As it grows strong and tall through the long, lazy days, it ripens into the best-tasting tobacco under the sun. This is Sportsman tobacco. Gifted with real tobacco taste. Yours to enjoy in Sportsman King Size Filter Cigarettes.

Oak Bay Defeats Attempt To Block Zoning Appeal

In B.C. Appeal Court Thursday, Oak Bay municipality defeated an attempt to block an appeal in the re-zoning bylaw dispute.

In Supreme Court earlier this year, Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton revoked a bylaw which would have permitted use of some Beach Drive property for apartment block development.

Oak Bay council is appealing the judge's decision.

In Appeal Court Thursday, Robert Ian Ross, Ann-Lee Ross and Alexandria Anne Goolden—the Oak Bay residents who started the action against the municipality—claimed that the council's appeal should not be heard.

They said it was invalid because council had refused to take part in the proceedings in Supreme Court.

But the court of appeal ruled that this, and two other motions before the court, should be heard at a later date.

In his Supreme Court ruling, Mr. Justice Wootton found there was no legislative precedent requiring the municipality to defend its bylaw. At the same time he was critical of council's failure to take part in the proceedings.

"This is not a contest between the owners of the property to be rezoned and the electors of the municipality," he said. "The contest is over the bylaw itself, and the proper party to defend the bylaw is the corporation."

Mr. Justice Wootton said he quashed the bylaw because he was not satisfied that the public hearing on Sept. 28, 1964, gave those attending a full opportunity to be heard.

It appeared, he said, that members of the public had been discouraged from speaking by a warning from the chair that there should be no repetition of argument.

Mr. Justice Wootton also found that the bylaw was not sufficiently explained.

The appellants claim that Mr. Justice Wootton erred in finding that the public hearing had a bearing on the legal validity of the bylaw.

They deny that anyone was discouraged from addressing the meeting and claim there was no uncertainty as to the meaning of the bylaw.

Thursday's appeal was heard by Chief Justice H. I. Bird, Mr. Justice H. W. Davey and Mr. Justice M. M. McFarlane.

U.K. Tories Urge Commonwealth Policy Changes

LONDON (CP) — Britain's Conservative party says growth in future Commonwealth co-operation should be confined mainly to such non-political fields as education, law and health. Co-operation in military and political spheres was bound to be limited.

In a new policy statement issued Thursday, the party says also the richer Commonwealth countries should help relieve Britain of some of the burden of defence and economic aid for the developing member countries.

P-TA Salutes District Teachers

This week has been declared Parent-Teacher Week by the British Columbia P-T Federation. The Victoria and District P-T Council is saluting some local teachers who have been outstanding in their contribution to the movement.

Mrs. C. B. Armstrong of Gordon Head Elementary School, has taught grades three and four there for the past 12 years.

Before that she was a member of the P-TA in 1948 she attended a meeting with a friend. Her interest was such that the next year she became president and she has been active in one capacity or another since. She has also served on the Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council.

Mrs. Armstrong was born in Indian Head, Saskatchewan, and taught in that province for four years before coming to British Columbia.

After time off to raise a family (she has two daughters, both attending the University of Victoria) she returned to teaching in 1953 and joined the staff of Gordon Head. She received her B.Ed. in 1963.

Gordon Head P-TA and Victoria Parent-Teacher Council salute Mrs. Armstrong, a real asset to parent-teacher work.

WORDS OF DEAD MISSIONARY

'More Martyrs Now Than in Beginning'

"There have been more martyrs for Christ in the 20th century than in the first," said the late Dr. Paul Carlson in a recorded message played in Parkdale Evangelical Free Church Wednesday night.

Dr. Carlson, a 36-year-old medical missionary from Los Angeles, recorded the message on tape a few weeks before he was shot at Stanleyville last November during The Congo uprisings.

He made the tape to send home to his parents in Los Angeles.

"I don't think he had any idea then that his end was near," said Mrs. Naomi Skoglund, a nursing missionary who brought the tape to Victoria.

55 MILES AWAY

"He had a short-wave transmitter in the basement of his home. He used it to communicate with his wife, who was then about 55 miles away, and advised her to go back to the United States.

"The Communists decided he was a spy and, after being held in a prison camp for some time, he was murdered."

Mrs. Skoglund has been a missionary in The Congo for 37 years. She said medical missionaries receive the equivalent of a postman's salary in Canada. But their work gives them great satisfaction.

"Dr. Carlson was a fine young man who did great work among the native people of The Congo. He was dedicated to healing the sick and he performed some wonderful operations."

Mrs. Skoglund appealed to young people to train as doctors—not just to make money but to "work for Christ in among the under-privileged peoples of the world."

"There is a desperate need for trained doctors and nurses in The Congo," she said.

During her visit to Victoria, Mrs. Skoglund is the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Mackey of Parkdale Evangelical Free Church.

SHEEP DISEASE FEARED

A bacterial lungworm infestation is spreading through Rocky Mountain sheep in eastern British Columbia and could wipe out 90 per cent of the sheep population there, the head of the B.C. game department said Thursday.

"We feel so helpless," said Dr. James Hatter. "There's nothing we can do except find the cause and start a new program of management."

The government recently ordered the sheep season closed in the East Kootenay zone. It opened Aug. 21.

Authorities emphasized there is no health hazard to humans in the sheep infestation. The closure was purely a conservative measure.

An investigation has been ordered to determine the extent of the disease and its cause. Dr. Hatter said the disease first came to the attention of his department through hunters who reported finding dead mountain sheep in the woods and from others who had shot sheep and reported them in terrible condition.

If you're cold in this underwear, better move South

Nothing (except, maybe, the tropics) will keep you warmer than Stanfield's Thermal underwear. This is because thousands of tiny knit pockets actually capture body warmth, and insulate you against below-zero weather.

This winter-proof underwear is made in a choice of weights in all-cotton, cotton and wool, and cotton and terylene. They will keep their shape washing after washing. You can get short-sleeve shirts from about $1.95, or long sleeves from $2.95. Men's elastic-waist longs from $2.50 to $4.95. Boys' shirts will cost you around $1.50, and longs with full double seat about $1.95 to $2.50. Also in combinations, long or short sleeves.

You'll be comfortable in Stanfield's. And they're a lot cheaper than moving south.

Scrap of Paper Started Melee

A city detective and a housewife struggled over a piece of crumpled tissue paper during a raid on her home, city court was told Thursday.

The woman, Rebecca Bowden and her husband, Robert, have pleaded not guilty to a charge of recording bets.

Mr. Bowden has also pleaded not guilty to assaulting a peace officer.

Det. Douglas Grant said in evidence he had grasped Mrs. Bowden's fingers as she crumpled a piece of paper.

He was then knocked to the floor by a blow to the left side of the head "and the next time I saw Mrs. Bowden she no longer had the tissue paper in her hand," he said.

Det. Grant and police matron Else Elverhoy went to the Bowden residence, 1216 Oxford, on Sept. 11. They carried a search warrant.

BITTEN BY DOG

The matron was bitten on the arm by a dog during the raid.

Det. Grant said Mr. Bowden was standing over him "yelling something about assaulting his wife" after he received the blow to the head.

Detectives John Mason and Lyle Sommers, also in possession of a search warrant, entered the building from the rear.

Police took possession of a yellow writing pad, with impressions of numbers on the top sheaf, and a roll of pink tissue paper.

The hearing will resume Wednesday.

MANAGERS TOLD

Ticket Taker Can Be Tense As Executive

Madison Avenue executives suffer no more from tension than toll booth ticket collectors, a psychiatrist said Thursday.

Addressing 250 delegates attending the 27th annual Pacific Northwest Personnel Management Association conference, Dr. Bernice S. Sachs said tensoin was felt by every human being whatever his walk of life.

"It is true that we are living under greater strain than ever before," she said. "That strain is felt by everyone. Tension is not particularly a Madison Avenue term. The man there suffers no more than a toll booth ticket collector."

Dr. Sachs practises psychosomatic medicine at the group health clinic and hospital in Seattle.

NEW METHODS

She said the day when a medical doctor could understand his patients just by knowing the heart, lung and liver has gone.

"Today the physician must have an understanding in the skills of psychiatry before he can be a whole doctor," she told the delegates.

"The old family doctor was probably closer in touch with his patients than the busy physician today. He knew his patients well, knew their family history and their environment and therefore understood them better.

"Today, with all the great advances made by medicine, there is still no known test to reveal a broken heart, or the stresses built up by overwork, or living conditions which lead eventually to a nervous breakdown.

MUST HAVE INSIGHT

"The modern physician must know the deep background of his patient and understand the precise relationship between the mind and bodily illness."

Dr. Sachs urged the personnel managers to try to understand the relationship.

"We all know it exists, but we sometimes forget that with every emotion there comes a bodily change," she said.

Thursday night delegates relaxed at a smorgasbord and dance at Crystal Garden after being entertained by Gerry Gosley and his group.

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — A tremendous explosion ripped open a two-storey home and engulfed it in flames Tuesday night, killing a family of four.

Prominent City Chinese Herbist Dies on Prairies

Funeral services will be held in Edmonton next Tuesday for Joe Gar Chow, a prominent member of Victoria's Chinese community, who died Wednesday. He was 88.

He came to Canada in 1896 and operated a drugstore here, dispensing herbs and traditional remedies.

In 1951 he moved to Edmonton to be near his son and family.

A member of the Chinese Benevolent and Consolidated Society, Mr. Chow for years was one of the most active members of the organization.

Jack Lee, president of the CBCS, said he was one of the most distinguished of the city's Chinese since they first arrived here 100 years ago.

Speaker's Wife To Launch Newest Queen

Wife of the B.C. legislature's speaker will launch the $6 million Queen of Prince Rupert at 3:30 p.m. Oct. 14.

Victoria Machinery Depot, builder of the provincial government's first long-range ferry, today sent out invitations for the occasion when Mrs. W. H. Murray cracks the champagne bottle on its bow. Mr. Murray represents Prince Rupert in the legislature.

The ferry goes into service in the spring to carry cars and passengers from northern Vancouver Island to Prince Rupert.

MORE TROOPS IN VIET NAM

SAIGON (CP)—The rest of the U.S. 1st. Division began arriving Thursday to swell the total number of American troops in South Viet Nam to more than 140,000.

At the same time, Gen. Hunter Harris, U.S. Air Force commander in the Pacific, said at Da Nang that the USAF is ready to increase its commitment to the war in Viet Nam.

Experts Probe Child Well-Being

A group of Victorians — all specialists in their own field — will fly to Montreal at the end of the month for the Canadian Conference on Children.

The five-yearly conference — this will be only the second time it has been held — is designed to bring together different bodies connected with children's well-being.

Among those from Victoria are: Dr. Charles Gregory, Canadian Mental Health Association; J. Phillipson, director of education; John Porteous, Victoria School Board; E. E. Hyndman, district schools' superintendent; Don Bingham, superintendent of child welfare; Dr. W. H. Gaddes, department of psychology, Uvic, and Rev. William Van Druten, Gordon United Church.

More than 450 delegates from across Canada are expected to attend the conference Oct. 31 to Nov. 4.

Although the conference has no official powers, its recommendations are circulated to welfare, educational and medical centres throughout the country.

Theme of the conference is "Roads to Maturity."

Chief speaker will be Dr. Alva Myrdal from the ministry of foreign affairs, Sweden.

Mele Thinks of Series Sweep After 'Best Southpaw' Loses

Great Catch Turning Point In Second Win for Twins

By ED SAINSBURY

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (UPI) — The Minnesota Twins beat the "best southpaw" manager Sam Mele ever saw, so today he declared he'd "love to go for a World Series sweep."

"(Sandy) Koufax is better than any pitcher we saw in the American League," he said after his Twins drove Koufax to cover and grabbed a 5-1 victory Thursday for a 2-0 lead in the series.

"Yes, he's the best southpaw we've ever faced, and we were fortunate to beat him, but we've been playing that way all year."

Mele, along with the other victorious Twins, believed that Bob Allison's phenomenal catch of a sinking liner hit down the left field line by Jim Lefebvre might have been the turning point of the game.

The drive came before either team had a run and when the Dodgers had Ron Fairly on first and none out.

"I didn't think he had a chance for it," Mele said. "It was a ball curving away from him. If he didn't get it, they could have had a rally going with men on second and third."

Winning pitcher Jim Kaat also said the catch saved him too.

"That's what saved the game," he said. "I didn't think he had a chance."

"I'd have been out of there without the catch, and I was hoping it would go foul."

Allison apparently was the only person in the park who thought he could get it.

"I got a good jump on the ball despite the wet grass," he said. "I figured I had a chance at it the second it was hit."

"It was sinking away from me, but I managed to get it in the web of my glove. I don't know how far I went in the air for it, but it was a backhand catch."

Kaat declared the game was "strength against strength."

"I'm a low fast-ball pitcher, and they're low fast ball hitters," he said. "I never looked at the scouting reports and I didn't use the book on them.

"If you try to be too cute, you get yourself in trouble. Strikes are the name of the game."

ELBOW IN ICE

Kaat threw 105 pitches in the nine innings, 31 of them balls. Later he followed the same pattern as the Dodgers' Koufax, packing his left elbow in ice. He's followed this routine since June due to tendonitis.

Zoilo Versalles, again a sparkplug for the winners, said he tried to cause a wild pitch, to enable him to score, when on base after his seventh-inning triple. Coach Billy Martin agreed.

"We've worked the same play five or six times this year," Martin said.

"I reminded Zoilo of it just before he took that lead. I don't know if (Ron) Perranoski actually took his eye off the plate to watch Zolio, but I'm sure he caused the wild pitch. I think he might have taken a quick look.

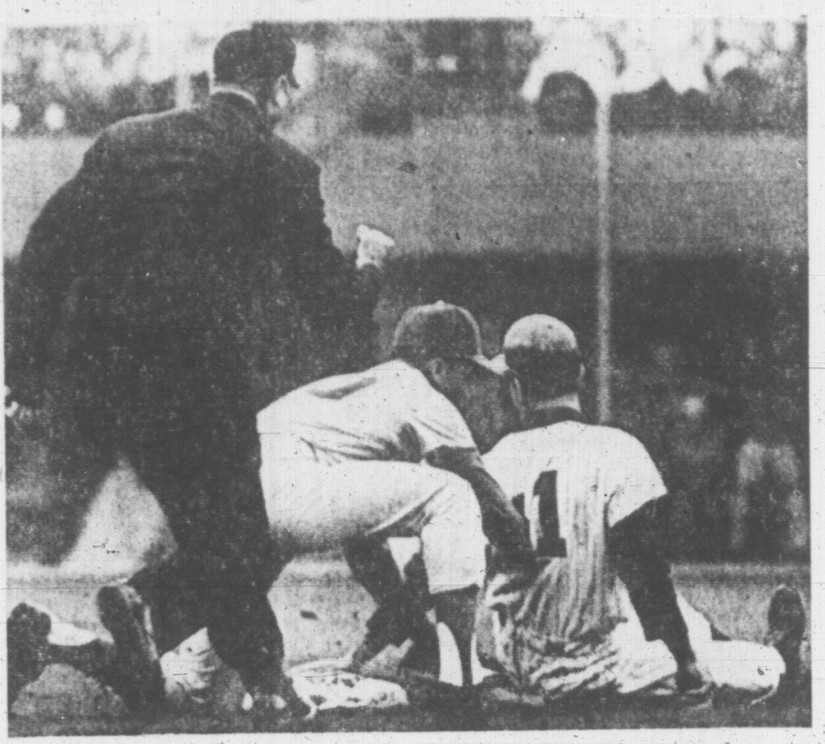
DOING IT ALL YEAR

"If they weren't expecting it, they better start doing it, because we're going to do it. We have been doing it all year," Martin added.

Mele said he might have hit for Kaat late in the game "if they had scored any runs, but a lot depended on how he felt."

"I asked him once when I went out there and he said he felt fine and (Earl) Battey said he still had very good stuff, so I left him there. He knocked in two runs and then he made that fielding play for the last out. That's what you like a pitcher to do.

"Winning the first one gave us a big lift, and winning the second gave us a bigger one. Now they got to win two to catch up."



SITTING DOWN ON JOB is Frank Quilici, who is called out by umpire Ed Sudol as Dodger shortstop Maury Wills applies tag. Quilici had walked in third inning and was cut down on attempted steal on throw from Los Angeles catcher John Roseboro. (Associated Press Photos.)

Twins' Hitting In Dodgerville Was Under .200

By JOE REICHLER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After beating Los Angeles Dodgers' fearsome pitching pair of Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax, Minnesota Twins expressed confidence today they can add nemesis Claude Osteen to their list of victims when the World Series resumes here Saturday.

Halfway to the world championship after beating Koufax 5-1 at Minneapolis Thursday on top of their opening 8-2 defeat of Drysdale, the Twins were even dreaming of a four-game sweep.

"I'd love to sweep," said manager Sam Mele, "but they're a tough outfit, and you've got to play heads up all the time."

Perhaps the toughest assignment of the series goes to Camilo Pascual, the Minnesota right-hander slated to open in Los Angeles following today's off-day for travel.

Not only will the American League champions be playing in the Dodgers' home park, but the Twins' record against the Angels there has been nothing to write home about.

Minnesota's batting average for nine games at Dodger Stadium during the regular season was less than .200. They hit only one home run at Dodger Stadium all year.

In addition, left hander Osteen was exceptionally tough for the Twins during his years with Washington Senators. The 26-year-old southpaw, traded to Los Angeles last winter, holds five victories over the Twins without a defeat.

The Twins beat Koufax without hitting a home run. The big blows were Tony Oliva's sixth-inning double, which drove in the Twins' first run, a clutch run-scoring single by Harmon Killebrew and Zoilo Versalles' triple that led to a run in the seventh. Jim Kaat helped his cause with a two-run, bases-loaded single in the eighth.

Gilliam's Error Opened the Gates

The Dodgers' only run came in the seventh on singles by Ron Fairly and Jim Lefebvre, Wes Parker's sacrifice and a third single by John Roseboro.

The Twins hit two home runs to one for the Dodgers in the opener.

Pascual, who missed seven weeks because of back trouble, was an interested dugout spectator during the Twins' first two triumphs. Did he think he learned something while watching Jim Grant and Kaat tame the Dodgers hitters?

"The only way to learn is to go to the mound and do your own job," said the 31-year-old Cuban. "No two pitchers are alike. Grant pitches one way, Kaat another and neither pitches the way I do."

Koufax, a 26-game winner during the regular season, didn't pitch badly. He permitted six hits in six innings, striking out nine.

"I didn't feel I had it," said the stylish southpaw. "If my control would have been good, I might have gotten away with it, but it wasn't."

Kaat, only 25, turned in a superb job with a seven-hitter while the Dodgers defence collapsed with three errors. Jim Gilliam, the 36-year-old coach who returned to action at third base in May, opened the gates in the Twins' two-run sixth inning with a two-base error.

For the second straight day Versalles outshone Maury Wills, his shortstop rival, both at bat and on the bases. Zoilo, the 155-pound Cuban, scored two runs and contributed a triple to the Twins' attack. He also danced down the third base line and sped home as he forced Ron Perranoski into a wild pitch in the seventh.

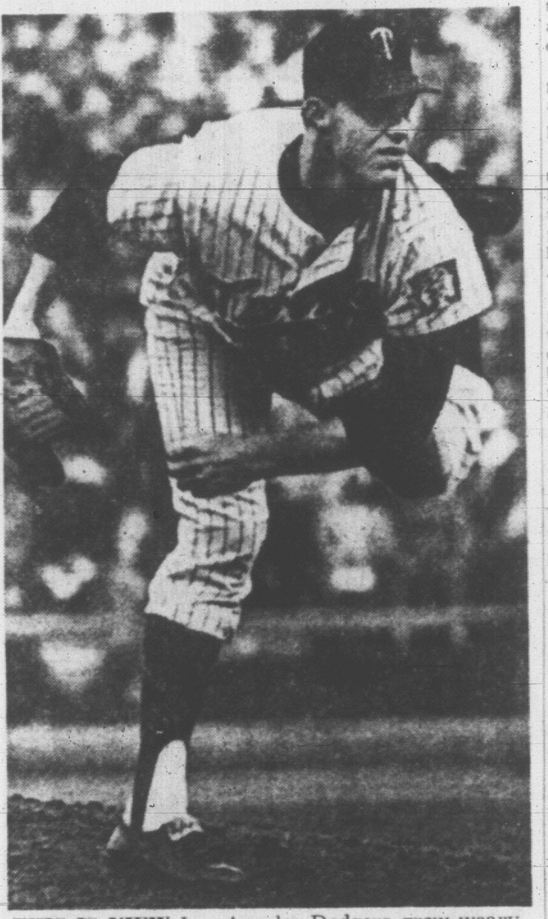
To put icing on the cake for the sellout crowd of 48,700 that watched in 56-degree temperature and a persistent drizzle, Kaat came through with a single with the bases loaded and drove in two more runs in the eighth.

The Dodgers, who had gone into the Series as 7½-to-5 favorites, now face an uphill struggle. Only the 1921 New York Giants the 1955 Brooklyn Dodgers, and the 1956 and 1958 New York Yankees have overcome such a back-breaking handicap.

TENNIS KING REJECTS BID FROM KRAMER

BRISBANE (Reuters)—Wimbledon champion and Australian Davis Cup star Roy Emerson said Thursday he has rejected a new professional tennis offer from U.S. promoter Jack Kramer.

Emerson, 29, said he intends to retire from tennis in two years time. Kramer was reported to have said Emerson could make up to $100,000 in a year if he accepted his offer, but he would not guarantee that figure.



THIS IS VIEW Los Angeles Dodgers grew weary of watching Thursday in second game of World Series. It's Minnesota southpaw Jim Kaat firing pitch toward plate. Kaat went all the way for Twins in 5-1 triumph over Dodgers.

Germany Divided At Next Olympics

MADRID, Spain (CP)—Separate teams will in future represent East and West Germany in the Olympic Games, the International Olympic Committee decided today.

The IOC decided that beginning at the 1968 Winter Olympic in Grenoble, France, there would be two German teams marching in two different blocks but behind a common flag and with a common hymn.

IOC members also reported the West German team will be known as "Germany" and the other team will have the name East Germany.

A joint German Olympic team appeared in Melbourne, Australia, in 1956, at Rome in 1960 and in Tokyo last year, wearing the same uniform and having their victorious athletes honored with a Beethoven fanfare to avoid the playing of anthems.

Today's decision was taken on a show of hands, not a secret ballot as had been predicted. The German delegations said there was a large majority in favor of giving East Germany full Olympic status.

VETERAN winger with Seattle, Jim Powers will be in Totem lineup Saturday night when team meets Victoria Maple Leafs in Western Hockey League exhibition at Memorial Arena.

Series' Problem Solved

The B.C. Jockey Club has solved a problem for baseball fans and racegoers.

They won't miss a thing at Sandown track on Saturday.

A number of television sets will be set up at the Sidney track which will enable racegoers to watch the World Series action as well as their favorite thoroughbreds.

The sets will remain at Sandown as long as the Series lasts.

Dodger Turning Point Came as Rain Stopped

By BOB MYERS

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—All was not catastrophic in the Los Angeles Dodger dressing room Thursday despite their second straight loss to Minnesota Twins in the World Series.

Relief pitcher Ron Perranoski managed to quip when a friend in jest asked the question: "What was the turning point in the game?"

"When it stopped raining," he answered. Manager Walter Alston, retaining his good humor following Dodgers' 5-1 loss echoed the quip.

Heavy rain had threatened to force postponement of the game.

NO COMPLAINTS

"I'll be glad when we change ball parks," said Maury Wills. He emphasized he had no complaints about the Twins' Metropolitan Stadium.

"No, the weather, the mound, the park had nothing to do with it," said the Dodgers' star left-hander, Sandy Koufax. "I just didn't have the control I needed against this team."

Alston said he'd be glad to get back to Los Angeles, too, when the series resumes Saturday.

"I know we'll have better weather, and I hope we can score more runs," the skipper said.

He recalled that in 1955 the then Brooklyn Dodgers fell two games behind and came back to win the series, and in 1956 they were two games in front and lost.

Alston explained why he had Wes Parker sacrifice in the seventh with two runners on base and none out.

"With our kind of power we try at a point like that for a tie and hope to get the winning run later," Alston said.

George Royal Has Longden Back In Tack

TORONTO (CP) — Veteran jockey Johnny Longden, 56, will be aboard Vancouver-owned George Royal for the $15,000-added Jockey Club Stakes in Toronto next Monday.

Longden, due today from Paris, was aboard George Royal when the colt won the $125,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap in March at Santa Anita, Calif.

The rider, who was raised in Taber, Alta., will be seeking George Royal's first win in the east. Owned by Ernie Hammond and Bob Hall, the four-year-old placed second in both his previous starts at Woodbine.

The only other Canadian-bred horse to win $100,000 or more in one race was Northern Dancer, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, in the 1964 Kentucky Derby.

Longden, born in Wakefield, England, rode his 6,000th winner at Vancouver Aug. 17.

He will also ride George Royal in the $50,000-added Canadian Championship, over a mile and five furlongs of grass, Oct. 23.

MACNEIL SITS IT OUT . . .

. . . AS LEAFS TOPPLE HAWKS

Blueliners Uncover Potent Scoring Punch

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The unhappiest member of Chicago Black Hawks has to be Al MacNeil.

The black-haired defenceman from Sydney, N.S., was in hospital Thursday night recuperating from a back injury while his team-mates took a 6-1 shellacking from Toronto Maple Leafs in the first pre-season meeting between the two National Hockey League clubs.

And what made it worse was that five of the seven goals were scored by defencemen.

MacNeil, with 15 goals in 341 games, doesn't normally stack up as a big scoring threat. But neither does Doug Jarrett, the man who replaced him in the game at Toronto. Jarrett, who has scored twice in his NHL career, was the only Hawk marksman of the night.

For the Leafs, Kent Douglas strengthened his claim to a spot on the strong Toronto rearguard with a three-goal performance and Carl Brewer, MacNeil's defence partner in their junior days, fired a fourth. The only Toronto forwards to hit the score sheet were captain George Armstrong and Larry Jeffrey.

The Leafs got sharp goaltending from Johnny Bower, who made 21 saves in blanking the Hawks over the first two periods, and rookie Gary Smith, who made 13 stops in the third.

The Leafs had fewer shots but made them count, beating Glenn Hall three times in nine tries in the opening period and getting three of 13 past Denis DeJordy the rest of the way.

Montreal Canadiens, still barnstorming with their farm clubs through rural Quebec, whipped Houston Apollos of the Central Professional League 6-3 for their sixth consecutive exhibition victory at Matane.

Jean Beliveau, Bobby Rousseau, John Ferguson, Ralph Backstrom, Henri Richard and Dave Balon scored for the Stanley Cup champions, who used Charlie Hodge all the way in the nets while Gump Worsley rested a leg injury. Bill Inglis, Jean Gauthier and Jim Paterson scored for Houston.

Four players, including right-winger Wayne Rivers of last year's club, were farmed out by Boston Bruins. Rivers and defenceman Barry Ashbee went to Hershey Bears of the American League while goaltender Bernie Parent and defenceman Joe Watson were sent to Oklahoma City Blazers of the CPHL.

On hand for Boston's exhibition game against Detroit Red Wings tonight at London, Ont., will be George Swarbrick, a member of the 1964 Canadian Olympic team and Western League Rookie-of-the-Year with San Francisco Seals last season.

The Bruins sent defenceman Ron Harris to the Seals in exchange for Swarbrick but general manager Hap Emms said the 24-year-old right winger was acquired on a loan basis and will be returned if he fails to make the club.

The Red Wings will face Boston without captain Alex Delvecchio, who is undergoing hospital tests of a troublesome allergy.

New Targets For Hunters

New targets will be added to the shooting menu Saturday for Vancouver Island hunters as the fourth annual "Hunter Safety Week" gets under way throughout the province.

TIME OUT by JEFF KEATE

Coming into season Saturday will be pheasants, quail, ducks, geese, snipe and coots. Going back onto the protected list Monday will be band-tailed pigeons, which are fast leaving these parts on their southern migration.

On the portion of the Island south of the Shawnigan Lake Cutoff Road, hunters will be permitted to take a daily limit of four pheasants, two of which may be hens. In other parts of the Island, the daily limit is two pheasants, one of which may be a hen.

Daily limit for quail is 10.

Gunners will be allowed to take eight ducks daily, but may include only one wood duck in each day's bag. Other daily limits are five geese, eight coots and 10 snipe.

★ ★ ★

Be Safe—Be Seen, is the slogan for Hunter Safety Week, which continues until Oct. 16.

B.C. Wildlife Federation officials remind hunters that "while many factors contribute to hunting accidents, high visibility in the woods is still the major safety factor, and the wearing of some readily visible color while hunting is a simple, positive way in which every hunter can contribute to firearms safety."

★ ★ ★

Rains this week have greatly increased prospects of success for trout fishermen, although some streams are still somewhat discolored. Most of the lakes are beginning to produce better catches and cutthroat trout are congregated near river mouths and following salmon into the rivers, hoping to feast on salmon eggs.

Coho salmon fishing has been reported good in several areas, including off Nanaimo, Qualicum, French Creek and Northwest Bay. Some good coho catches have been taken on bucktails at Cowichan Bay, where the annual three-day derby starts Saturday.

Winter springs have been producing occasional flurries of action off Oak Bay and Sooke.

Giants Decide To Transfer Tacoma Team

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco Giants have decided they will move their top minor league baseball farm club from Tacoma to Phoenix.

Tacoma has been the Class AAA Pacific Coast League club owned by the Giants since 1960. In 1958 and 1959, the club was in Phoenix. Since then the Arizona city has constructed a new baseball stadium.

In a letter to the county commissioners at Tacoma, President Horace Stoneham of the Giants said the club had too much money invested in Arizona not to protect the territory.

The Giants' farm system training headquarters is located at Casa Grande, about 40 miles from Phoenix and the National League Giants play their spring training home games at the new Phoenix municipal stadium.

'Unbelieveable Day' In Ryder Cup Play

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) —The United States and Britain collided head-on in the bienniel Ryder Cup golf matches Thursday, smashed par dizzy but wound up all-square at 4-4 after the first of three days of competition.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Byron Nelson, the American non-playing captain. "It was an unbelieveable day of golf."

His description of the first day's carnage was not exaggerated. Eight foursomes matches, played with alternate shots, came out even, each team winning two and losing two in the morning and then duplicating that after lunch.

In the course of 119 holes of golf, the pros took full advantage of clear and almost windless weather on Royal Birkdale's 7,037-yard, par-73 seaside links to shoot 48 birdies and three eagles

GALLERY AMAZED

A gallery of 12,000 gasped at the performance, knowing that Royal Birkdale is a course where even the best hope only to equal par in bad weather and seldom make it.

The results of the morning matches:

Dave Thomas of Wales and George Will of Scotland defeated Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., and Dave Marr, New Rochelle, N.Y., 6 and 5.

Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., and Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C., defeated Lionel Platts and Peter Butler of England, 1 up.

Christy O'Connor of Ireland and Peter Alliss of England defeated Ken Venturi of San Diego, Calif., and Don January of Plainsview, Tex., 5 and 4.

Billy Casper and Gene Littler, both of San Diego, Calif., defeated Neil Coles and Bernard Hunt of England, 5 and 4.

In the afternoon:

Palmer and Marr defeated Thomas and Will, 6 and 5. Lema and Boros defeated Jimmy Martin and Jimmy Hitchcock of England, 5 and 4. Hunt and Coles defeated Venturi and January, 3 and 2. O'Connor and Allis defeated Casper and Littler, 2 and 1.

READY FOR ROYALS

Stothard Putting Best Foot Forward

Victoria United is looking for a finalist's seat in the Pacific Coast Soccer League's Anderson Cup competition, and it could be that Dave Stothard may be the one to buy the ticket.

United and New Westminster Royals, who fought to a scoreless draw last Sunday in Vancouver, are scheduled to replay their semifinal match Saturday at Royal Athletic Park. Winners move into the cup final against either Firefighters or Burnaby Villa, who play their semifinal on Monday afternoon.

United coach Frank Grealy plans to field the same lineup that held Royals of a tie last weekend. And the key to Victoria's chances could rest with Stothard.

GOING GREAT

Stothard is showing the form that won him B.C. all-star acclaim in past years.

Testimony was supplied at Thursday evening's workout by reserve fullback Len Anderson.

"Dave's always consistent, but I don't think he has played a better game since coming to Victoria than he did last Sunday," said Anderson.

"His passing was great and he took the ball away from anyone and everyone that came his way. He controlled the play, and one of the reasons was because he seemed to hold on to the ball a bit longer.

"Normally, Dave's a great one for distributing the ball quickly."

A fullback originally, Stothard is being used as a "swinging half" in Grealy's recently-instigated 4-3-3 system. United's system worked well against Royals last weekend, and undoubtedly the Royals will be seeing much more of Stothard on Saturday.

Kickoff time is 2 p.m.

CORNER KICKS: United again will go without the services of Russ Ball, still resting an injured leg . . . Grealy will start Al Davies in goal and keep Barry Sadler in reserve . . . Addition of Carlos Franco to Royals' lineup has provided a steadying effect on Jack Spry's Westminster youngsters . . . McGavin Cup final between Luckies and Canadian Scottish will be played Monday at Royal Athletic Park . . . District League games Sunday will have Kickers and Victoria West playing at Heywood Avenue Park while Brodies face Navy at Athletic Park . . .

MEDAL ROUND WINNER

Mrs. G. Lovitt, scoring a net 74, led "A" division scorers in a medal round for ladies at Uplands Golf Club this week. Mrs. R. Merryweather and Mrs. B. Blay tied for "B" honors while Mrs. J. Jones topped the "C" division.

McIntyre, Sturdy Top Colwood Duo

Southpaw Pete McIntyre and John Sturdy defeated the Colwood pair of Larry McCooey and Roy Johnson on the 15th hole at Gorge Vale Golf Club in a match for the city senior golf buttons.

The Victoria Golf Club partners will defend the buttons at Uplands, home course of challengers Bert Nex and Hugh Smith.

EXPECTED to be big addition to University of Victoria Vikings hockey team is Mike Woodley. Woodley played with Yorkton Terriers in Saskatchewan Senior League past two seasons. He'll be in Viking lineup tonight when defending Esquimalt League champions play All-Stars in annual all-star clash at Esquimalt's Sports Centre. Game time is 8 p.m.

Brumel's Future Remains in Doubt

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet doctors said Thursday they will not know for three days if Valery Brumel, world record holder in the high jump, will be able to compete again following a double fracture of his right knee in a motorcycle accident Wednesday.

The 23-year-old student, winner of the gold medal in his pet event at the Tokyo Olympics, suffered the injury when the motorcycle on which he was riding home with a friend skidded. Brumel fell to the street and the machine toppled over on him.

WORLD RECORD

He set the world mark of seven feet, 5¾ inches in Moscow in July, 1963.

Brumel was operated upon during the night. Doctors said he suffered "complicated fractures" of two bones in the joint.

The doctors said the operation was a success but added it would take at least six months for the fractures to heal.

Brumel pushes off on his jumps with his left foot and the injury is not as severe as if it had happened to his other knee.

WHAT HEATING SYSTEM IS BEST FOR YOUR HOME ?

Whether you use coal, oil, gas or electricity, some heating systems give you and your family hot heads and cold feet while burning up your pocket book. There is one heating system though that protects your health and comfort while curtailing your heating expenses. It is called "HYDRONICS" and is a modern hot water heating system which is the best you can buy. Plumbing and Mechanical Contractors, who are experts on all types of heating systems, are almost unanimous in recommending hydronics. This is why:

Hydronic heating gives a uniform wall-to-wall, floor-to-ceiling heat, maintaining just the right temperature and humidity for true comfort and good health.

Since it is completely sealed, the hydronic system is cleaner, eliminating dust and dirt, and minimizing housework. In addition, a Hydronic system is amazingly quiet.

Hydronic finger-slim piping can be concealed in baseboard panels, or along walls without interfering with placement of furniture, rugs or drapes.

In the hydronic home, each room can be heated separately, providing different desired temperatures in the living, working, sleeping and recreational areas of the home. This can reduce fuel bills by as much as 25 per cent.

A hydronics system is lower cost in the long run for it provides lifetime equipment with lower maintenance and operating costs while allowing full freedom to choose the fuel that is preferred.

A hydronic system adds to the value of a home. Resale is quicker and mortgage loans easier to obtain when your home is hydronically heated.

In brief, plumbing and mechanical contractors recommend hydronic heating for your home because they know from experience that it provides greater comfort, convenience and safety while curtailing your maintenance and operational costs.

Whether you are building or remodeling, consult your plumbing and mechanical contractor. His advice and services will prevent unnecessary costs while ensuring you a lifetime of comfort, convenience and safety. No one knows the answers to your heating problems as well as your plumbing and mechanical contractor.

ARGOS MEET STAMPS

Shaw, Trimble Juggle Rosters

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Argonauts, all but out of the running for an Eastern Football Conference playoff berth, aren't certain just who they'll have in the lineup when they meet Calgary Stampeders in an interlocking game in Toronto tonight.

Tonight's game at Toronto is scheduled to be televised over channel 8 at 5 p.m. and Saturday's game at Edmonton between B.C. Lions and Eskimos is slated for channel 2 at 8 p.m.

The game is the only one in the East until Monday afternoon when the Stampeders move to Montreal to battle the Alouettes while Ottawa Rough Riders are at Hamilton against the Tiger-Cats in a battle for first place in the EFC.

The Argos have only one win in 10 outings and are six points behind third-place Montreal.

But Calgary coach Jerry Williams isn't taking Toronto or Montreal for granted.

"We haven't beaten them down east yet," he said Wednesday as his team prepared for its two-game jaunt.

STAMPS FAVORED

The odds are overwhelmingly in favor of a Stampeder victory tonight, however.

The Stamps are first in the Western Football Conference with an 8-3 mark and share honors as the Canadian Football League's most prolific scoring team with British Columbia Lions at 20.8 points a game.

Toronto coach Bob Shaw must first determine what players he'll use against the Stamps. He hopes to have defensive back Grant McKee for the game after claiming him on waivers from Edmonton Eskimos of the WFC. But the Esks have the right to recall him and Shaw won't know until today if McKee will be available.

Shaw knows he won't have defensive backs Marv Luster and John Wydareny, sidelined by injuries for the season, but Dick Shatto is reported to have made a fast recovery from a shoulder injury he incurred against Montreal last Sunday and will be in Toronto's offensive backfield.

The game, which begins at 8 p.m. EDT, will be carried on the CTV network.

ARE INJURY FREE

The Alouettes are free of injuries for their encounter against the Stamps Monday and coach Jim Trimble has an explanation.

The Als have ditched calisthenics, except for brief limbering-up drills, in favor of isometrics, a type of exercise based on muscle tension and designed to increase strength.

Trimble has still been carrying on wholesale juggling in preparation for Monday's game, beginning at 2 p.m. EDT. Don Paquette, recently released by the Stamps, will start at defensive end and Joe Williams is being shifted from that position to offensive end to provide more blocking strength. Don Davis is moving from end to flanker.

The Ticats must overcome a batch of injuries if they expect to win over Ottawa and move into undisputed possession of first place. Each team has won at home in their two meetings to date.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Most people pass about three pints of liquid a day or about three pounds of liquid-waste. Now, if kidneys become sluggish, urinary irritation and bladder discomfort may follow. The result can be backache and restless nights. This is when Dodd's Kidney Pills can help bring relief. Dodd's stimulate kidney action, help relieve the irritated condition that causes the backache. Take Dodd's and see if you don't feel better, rest better. Used successfully by millions for over 70 years. New large size saves money. Advt.

Walters Lefties Threat

Jack Walters of Tacoma, former National Association of Left-Handed Golfers' amateur champion, heads a 42-man field entered in the annual Vancouver Island southpaw tournament.

The 18-hole event will be played at Colwood on Saturday.

Also entered is Willard Gilmour of Vancouver, president of the NALG's 1966 amateur tournament, to be played in Victoria next summer, and B.C. champion Simon Fraser.

Starting times:

11:00 a.m.—F. Cowan, D. Ritson, G. Robinson, D. Scott.
11:08 a.m.—N. Horton, P. King, R. Lawson, A. Phillips.
11:16 a.m.—W. Dunaway, G. M. Smith, G. Robinson, D. Scott.
11:24 a.m.—G. Dunaway, C. West, F. Edwardson, D. Smart.
12:36 p.m.—S. Cameron, S. Fraser, H. Jacobsen, E. Beauchemin.
12:44 p.m.—J. Walters, W. Gilmour, J. Furmston, M. Dow.
12:52 p.m.—D. Naysmith, H. Daykin, C. Locatelli, J. Irving.
1:00 p.m.—J. Fraser, W. Robertson, W. Butler, W. C. Sargent.
1:08 p.m.—P. McIntyre, J. Sturdy, A. Manson, J. McKay.
1:16 p.m.—C. D. Pedersen, P. Bowe, B. Jewitt, A. N. Other.
1:24 p.m.—A. H. Wilson, G. Bell, J. Duncan, A. N. Other.

HAL PATTERSON

Patterson Returns To Ticats

HAMILTON (CP)—End Hal Patterson, 32, who retired from professional football last July, will rejoin Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Football Conference for the remainder of their schedule.

He isn't expected to play in Monday's EFC tilt here against Ottawa Rough Riders, but he will finish the season with Hamilton and participate in the playoffs.

Hamilton team is weak at quarterback and injuries to fullback Art Baker and middle linebacker Herb Paterra have not helped. And there has been no adequate replacement for Patterson at left offensive end.

Bobby Kuntz, a strong two-way player who also quit football this summer, has agreed to return to fill the vacancy left by Paterra on defence.

Soviets Veto Volleyball Plans

It's probably just a national habit, but the Russians have come up with another veto.

This time it is Soviet volleyballers who have said "nyet."

International volleyball teams from Russia and the United States will open a cross-country tour at Memorial Arena next Friday. It was expected that Russian men would face the U.S. men's squad and women's teams from the two countries would clash in a second game.

As far as the second game is concerned, Russian team manager Vladimir Sokol is quite content.

But he says, he doesn't want his male ball-pounders to face the Americans in Victoria. It's not that he has anything against our town. He just says he doesn't want to play the Americans too many times during the tour.

EXTENSIVE STORY

In explaining his veto of original plans, Sokol says that the Russians have made an extensive study of the game and are reluctant to have U.S. coaches studying their playing and coaching methods over too many games.

The Americans say they will have observers on hand to learn more about the game from Sokol's world and Olympic champions.

Sokol says his men's team will be divided into two six-man squads here, making it a match between the first Russian national team and the second six.

Rivalry between the squads is high, he adds, and some of the best matches he has seen have been inter-squad tussles.

Tickets for the matches at Memorial Arena are now on sale.

FORMER PINUP GIRL GRABLE DIVORCES BANDLEADER HUBBY

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Former movie actress Betty Grable was granted a divorce Thursday from bandleader Harry James.

Miss Grable, 48, a blonde singer-actress, was a favorite pinup girl of the Second World War. She and James were married in 1943.

The announced reasons for the breakup were extreme cruelty and mental cruelty.

James, 49, and Miss Grable have two daughters, Vicki, 22, and Jessica, 18.

CBC Offers to Use More Canadian Work

TORONTO (CP)—CBC radio and television stages, darkened since Oct. 1 by a union embargo on performances and rehearsals, will light up again today following a major offer Wednesday by the Crown corporation.

The CBC proposed increased work opportunities for Canadians i the 1966-67 program season, thereby meeting a demand by the Association of Canadian Television and Radio Artists and ending for now a threatened country-wide strike.

The stage now has been set for resumption of negotiations between the two parties, although a continuing strike vote across the country still looms offstage.

Henry Comor, ACTRA president, said that by Tuesday more than 10 per cent of ACTRA members had mailed their ballots. He said he expected "there will be an authorization" for a strike.

He said he hopes negotiations can start again as early as next Tuesday.

Two Down, One to Go Then Home

ALBERT STERLING
. . . painting premiers

Victoria artist Albert Sterling is a premier painter.

In the space of a week, the 28-year-old Hawaiian will have completed his third portrait of a premier.

He started Wednesday with Premier John Robarts of Ontario.

That done, he boarded a plane for Saskatchewan where he had been commissioned to put Premier Ross Thatcher on canvas.

Two down—and one to go—E. C. Manning of Alberta.

His week's work completed, Albert, an Hawaiian by birth, will return to his Victoria studio, 550 Johnson—and his television set.

For Albert, the television set is a must.

He gained all three commissions by first knocking off sketches of the men after seeing them on television and in newspapers.

The sketches are mailed off to the subject and if they like what they see, Albert flies out to finish the job.

He has lived in Victoria since 1957.

BRIDGE RESULTS

Winners of the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club's monthly master point event were:

Section A—North-South: 1, Gwen Graham and Laura Tingley; 2, Elizabeth Warren and Jack Goldie; 3, Ron Smith and Ken Magee; 4, Bill Browne-Cave and George Marsden. East-West: 1, Phil Hagel and Eric Goodwin; 2, Dorothy and Steve Jennings; 3 (tie), Evelyn Lamont and Walter Allen, Ida Bruce and Jo Waddington.

Section 8—North-South: 1, Cam Wallace and Bob Turner; 2, Fran Champion and George Morgan; 3, Chris Murray and Harry Rolls; 4, Marjorie Fortye and Anne Dye. East-West: 1, Joan Smith and Tony Marsh; 2, Hilda Reid and Edna Stewart; 3, Ruby Randlesome and Bill Ferguson; 4, May Errington and Pansy Raymond.

There were 20 tables in play.

First Branch For Library Step Closer

Greater Victoria's first branch library came a step closer Thursday with a recommendation to lease space at Town and Country shopping centre in Saanich.

Victoria city council finance committee recommended the city sign a lease for $400 a month rental on behalf of the public library board, which may not enter into agreements itself.

The plan has full support of Saanich council, which has been trying for branch library service for years. Operating costs would be shared.

Save Christianity, Chiang Tells Meet

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — President Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China appealed Friday to Christians of the world to safeguard their religion and combat Communism. Chiang, 77, was converted to Christianity in 1931. He made the appeal in a message to the Asian Christian ainti-Communist conference, opening in Taipei.

GIANT MUSICAL FOR CENTENNIAL

OTTAWA (CP)—The Centennial Commission said Thursday Sir Tyrone Guthrie will direct open-air production on Parliamet Hill in the summer of 1967.

The production, which will have a musical score, probably will boast a cast of thousands in one of the biggest spectacles of the year.

Centennial spokesman said it will probably run for about two weeks. The government had agreed to the unprecedented use of space before the Centre Block.

Sir Tyrone now is looking for writers to prepare English and French scripts, as well as a composer-conductor for the musical score.

NEW ROLE FOR B.C. KILLER WHALE

Namu to Star in Motion Picture

SEATTLE (AP) — Namu, the killer whale, is going to take a crack at the movies.

Ivan Tors Films Inc., producer of the television show about Flipper, the talented dolphin, has started work on a motion picture of Namu, who was caught off the B.C. coast and towed to a Seattle Aquarium last summer.

Robert F. Blumofe, vice president in charge of west coast operations for United Artists, said his organization has completed arrangements with Tors for a film featuring the four-ton, 22-foot whale.

Namu is holed up for the winter in Rich Cove, near Port Orchard, across Puget Sound from Seattle. A pier and a camera scaffold are being built there.

Ted Griffin, Namu's owner, has started training the whale for the film and he probably will double for the actors in scenes in the water with Namu.

OLD YELLER
Family Entertainment
Capitol Theatre

Possibly no man has done more to encourage kindness to animals, than Walt Disney. And no man has earned more dollars doing so.

With remarkable astuteness, Mr. Disney brings back one of his best films whenever he feels a new generation is ready for it. Old Yeller is a notable example. It was last shown eight years ago and is now being seen for the first time by millions of young enthusiasts.

Old Yeller (as many will remember) is a big, battle-scarred stray mongrel who shows up at a homestead in pioneer Texas during the 1860s.

The man of the house (Fess Parker) is just leaving on a cattle drive to Kansas and entrusts the care of his wife Dorothy McGuire) and their six-year-old (Kevin Corcoran) to their teen-age son (Tommy Kirk).

But it is Old Yeller who protects them all, and his battle with a 500-pound bear is one of the highlights of the film. The action calls for him to stand off an enraged mother bear long enough for the six-year-old to be rescued from her clutches.

* * *

Later, the big dog battles a savage loafer wolf and takes on a mob of vicious, half-wild hogs. As in most Disney films, the animal photography is superb and the cast includes bears, deer, frogs, raccoons, wolves, cows, horses, squirrels, buzzards, mules and a horned toad.

An early sequence shows a startled squirrel running across a log at the very moment two frogs are seen jumping in a pond. There are many ingenious photographic tricks of this kind but, for sheer excitement, nothing can equal the scrap between the bear and the dog.

Kevin Corcoran is delightful as the six-year-old boy, and Jeff York contributes to the comedy element as a paunchy, ne'er-do-well farmer with a talent for dodging work.

Basen on a novel by Fred Gipson, the film was directed by Robert Stevenson and has an appropriate musical score by Oliver Wallace.

Musical Arts Program Set

First meeting this season of the Victoria Musical Art Society will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday in the home of Miss Lorna Langley, 1010 Foul Bay Road.

Performers at the meeting will be Mrs. Freide Waelti, folk songs; Mrs. Julia Hunt, Bach sonatas, unaccompanied; Miss Joyce Chope, piano olos; Miss Lorna Langley, harp solos, including 16th and 17th century Spanish music, and Miss Shelagh Hall, lyric poems.

Executive officers for the 1965-66 season are: Miss Lorna Langley, president; Mrs. Winnie Snape, vice-president; Mrs. Freide Waelti, secretary; Richard Snape, treasurer; Larrie Forbes, program convener; Art Barnes, assistant program convener; Miss Yvonne Muir, publicity convener; Mrs. Otto Neiderman, membership committee.

U.S. Plane Missing, China Claim Checked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. defence department said Wednesday a U.S. Air Force F-105 attack plane is missing on a bombing mission in North Viet Nam but that "at this time available information does not substantiate" China's claim that American planes flew over Chinese territory.

A Peking broadcast Tuesday said one of four U.S. planes intruding into Kwangsi province, which borders North Viet Nam, was shot down.

They laughed
when they saw a Scot start to make gin.

He smiled.

In 1769, all London had a great laugh at the idea of a Scot trying to beat the English at their own game. Making gin.

But Alexander Gordon was a spirited man. With a line of spirited ancestors that reached clear back into Scottish antiquity.

And so, while London laughed, he smiled a knowing smile.

The rest is history—how a Scot made English gin famous the world over.

Today, Gordon's is the best-selling gin in the world. Because Gordon's descendants are as canny as he was:

Nobody but Gordon's makes Gordon's Gin, no matter where it's made—and it's made in nine different countries, including Canada.

The exact and original formula is never varied for any reason whatsoever. Ever.

And nobody but Gordon's can approve the finished gin for bottling.

Now, some people won't understand all this fuss about making good gin. But you understand, don't you? You like gin. So do we.

CRITICAL OF U.S.

French Report To Spark Clash

NEW YORK (CP) — A clash between United States and French ideas on the future of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was expected today during the final day of the NATO parliamentarians' conference.

Up for debate before the plenary session of the week-long conference is a French-prepared report critical of the U.S. domination of the alliance.

The political committee has refused to approve the report, submitted by rapporteur M. Boscher, head of the French delegation, but said it would allow it to go before the plenary session in order to permit "freedom of expression and debate."

The report was the last major item of business before the 175 delegates from the 15 NATO nations which Thursday dealt with a number of committee reports, including the military committee report submitted by rapporteur David Groos, Liberal member of Parliament for Victoria.

All the committee reports except that of the political committee had been approved in committee and were assured of approval by the plenary session today. After approval, they will be handed over to the North Atlantic council for consideration.

The military committee report dealt primarily with the question of standardization of military equipment among the NATO nations and said that in a number of areas a generally acceptable level of standardization has been achieved.

Groos said in the military report that the delegates could provide a most valuable service to NATO itself by paving the way for change to satisfy all member nations.

Named Minister

HAVANA (AP) — Jose Llanusa, former director of the National Institute of Sports, Physical Education and Recreation, was named minister of education Friday. He replaces Armando Hart, who now is the secretary-general of the Cuban Communist party. Jesus Betancourt, former assistant director, was appointed to head the sports institute.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1965—PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

While the new 1966 chariots were still in embryo, I read that one of the networks planned a show to be titled, "My Mother, the Car", a circumstance that caused me to mutter, "Well-I'll be a son of fastback, stick-shift, bucket-seated Wheezis!"

That particular model is now obsolete, of course, and has been since the day before yesterday, when its sponsors announced a new, exciting queen of the blacktop, with a longer, lower look, more horses under the hood, and an interior jam-packed with luxury (pronounced lugzury on TV).

As for the show with the disturbingly significant title, it's still lugging along, and so am I, on the same four wheels that rolled me on my errands before the automotive industry staged its annual extravaganza.

By so doing, I'm well aware that I threaten the North American economy, which is based solidly upon the premise that the union between man and car should be dissolved at two-year intervals or even oftener, and that only squares who have forgotten how to live young will keep an automobile longer.

This bothers me, especially during Unveiling Week, when the industry kicks through with a batch of those full-page display ads that put the jam on a newspaper guy's bread and butter.

★ ★ ★

Nobelesse oblige, the code whereby if you do something nice for me I'd better darn well reciprocate, urges me to head for automobile row; and some year soon, I will.

There are, however, difficulties. For one thing, the outside of my garage has become through the years a mere shell for a pretty complex interior structure.

This my present car fits like hand in glove. But what happens if I try to insert a vehicle of different dimensions into the arbitrarily defined space?

First, the lovely intruder nudges with her left front bumper tip a child's sled that has hung undisturbed from the wall since the last hard winter.

This swings, crashing into a stepladder on top of which sits the can of latex I meant to paint the roof gutters with a month or two ago. The can falls on the car hood, and, naturally, its lid flies off.

Meanwhile, the ladder has struck my herring rake, which triggers a complex reaction in the right rear corner of the garage.

This involves two sacks of ammonium sulphate, one of agricultural lime, a garden basket piled with flower pots, and an old boat-trailer hitch certain to catapult through that flawless, though now paint-spattered, windshield.

★ ★ ★

Another difficulty is that when I get within a block of a dealer's palace, my usually faithful car coughs, floods and stalls.

Then, while I'm lifting her bonnet, taking off her air cleaner and hammering on the knuckle that houses the needle valve, she talks to me.

"Hey, son," she says, "remember that time you ran me between two trees on what you claimed was a road and I knew was a deer trail? Remember how we couldn't go forward or back, and you kept spinning my hind wheels like an idiot, and then I gave one last wiggle . . .?"

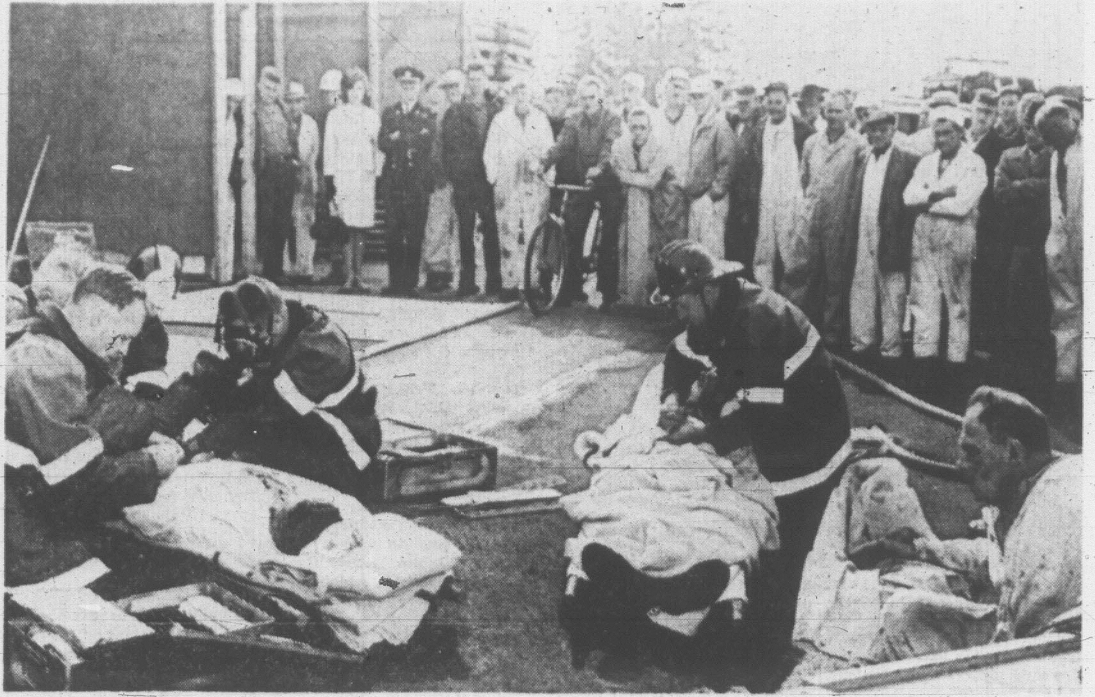
"Sure," I growl, "and let's not forget how you threw that rod last June, and the time you chewed up your voltage regulator and burned out your lights, and the way if there's glass arounud, you tramp on it."

"We can't all be perfect," says she, and begins to whimper, keeping on until I promise to take her home. Then she purrs.

There was a time when I would have felt kind of silly, personalizing a car in this fashion; but that was before the advertising geniuses really turned on the heat.

Well, I haven't had a good walk in years, thanks to a fellow's best friend, so I think I'll stroll down to automobile row.

Not to buy, you understand, I'll just gaze through the show windows at the 1966 models in all their power and pride, glamour and lugzury, while whistling "Mammy" off-key between my teeth!



MAKE-BELIEVE victims of explosion at Rocky Point naval arsenal get fast first aid from naval firemen in National Fire Prevention Week exercise. Watching workers hope such scenes always will remain in realm of fiction. But preparedness is necessary. (Strickland Photos.)

INJURIES of simulated victims at explosion drill at Rocky Point naval arsenal Thursday were realistic enough to cause shudders. Navy firemen first-aiders rescued the "victims" from building demolished by fake blast.

THREE 'VICTIMS'

Explosion Drill At Rocky Point

The situation was explosive at the navy's amunition depot at Rocky Point Thursday.

Shortly after noon three underwater demolition bombs "exploded," injuring three men.

There was no cause for alarm, though, because the navy's five-man first-aid team was on hand to deal with the simulated emergency.

The firefighters, 1963 provincial first-aid champions, were taking part in a demonstration designed to show employees at the depot exactly how a real emergency should be handled.

The mock disaster was arranged by Ken Soles and Howard Nelson, both employees of HMC Dockyard who are industrial first-aid experts.

●

The first explosion knocked the front off a building.

Then the firemen, who were not aware exactly what was going to happen, entered the building and brought out one "casualty." Another "casualty" managed to get out on his own.

A few minutes later faint cries of help were heard coming from the building.

Firemen rushed back inside and brought out a third injured man.

The victims were expertly made-up to show injuries which included large blisters from burns, jagged edges of bones protruding from legs and arms and "blood" was flowing from several wounds.

The RCN's Miss Fire Prevention, Marilyn Poulton, was also on hand to comfort the "victims" following the disaster.

The members of the first-aid team, under Captain Charles Williamson, are Bob Hull, Stan Armstrong, Cec White and Hardy Lane.

Mayor Suggests Downtown Sports Centre

By AB KENT
City Hall Reporter

Development of land adjoining Memorial Arena and Victoria Curling Club as a sports-convention-exhibition building was proposed today by Mayor R. B. Wilson.

He linked the plan with renewal of Royal Athletic Park facilities and a stadium at University of Victoria.

He said funds from the T. S. McPherson estate could be used to erect a 1,500-seat soccer stand and fire insurance money would construct stands for baseball at Royal Athletic.

This would cover the smaller organized sports and the proposed building uniting the curling rink and arena would take care of indoor sports such as basketball.

The building could also utilize McPherson money to provide what the mayor called "an admirable area for auto and equipment shows, conventions, large concerts and assemblies."

"You could walk under cover from Blanshard through to Quadra—a wonderful structure that would fulfill many community needs."

Rock from excavation could be used for a breakwater at Gonzales Bay, he suggested, improving small boating and beach recreation.

University Site for Stadium Backed

He said the scheme would augment a proposed outdoor sports stadium at University of Victoria, a compromise site for a Greater Victoria Confederation centennial project.

He called the university stadium, which a Uvic spokesman said would be formally proposed to Greater Victoria municipalities in about a week, "a very happy solution to what would appear to be a stalemate."

But the municipalities would have to have representation on a stadium board "to ensure fair use by the community," the mayor said.

The proposed university stadium would be built on about 40 acres of land on the northwest corner of Gordon Head campus. About $450,000 of centennial grants would be available if the plan were approved.

Saanich had opposed an earlier city-backed site at Topaz Park for stadium development, arguing that space limitations made it impractical.

But Reeves of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt speak favorably of the university site for stadium development.

"It makes a great deal of sense to me," Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich said.

"I think this is a very good solution to what seemed to be a deadlock . . . although I want to see it outlined in much more detail," said Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox.

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele said, "It sounds like a good idea . . . better than having the stadium in the city."

Both reeves said the proposal would be discussed formally by their councils.

Pat Frumento, chairman of Victoria Sports Council stadium committee which earlier supported the Saanich site, said he would prefer a civic rather than university stadium, unless it could be guaranteed that a control board would protect community sports interests.

Eror Errors, Wedding Struck Out

A Nanaimo girl's marriage plans have been shattered by a shoplifting spree from two city department stores, central court was told today.

Donna Lee Eror, 18, pleaded guilty Monday to taking clothing worth $71.23 from Woolco and $28.20 from Woodward's Saturday.

Miss Eror's fiancee, Gary Munro, 21, has pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft under $50.

They were to be married Saturday.

Miss Eror's lawyer told the court her wedding plans have "gone by the board."

Magistrate William Ostler said this was "not at all a bad idea. I can't imagine a worse beginning for a marriage," he said.

The girl was sentenced to a day in jail and placed on two years' probation and a $500 bond.

Two other Nanaimo youths were also charged in connection with the thefts.

A girl appeared in juvenile court, and her boyfriend, Spencer B. Malthouse, was fined $100 and placed on $200 bond today.

Malthouse stole clothing valued at $4.24 from Woolco.

"Many people feel department shops are fair game. They think of shoplifting as a lark or a challenge," the magistrate said imposing sentence.

NEWFIE SQUID DIGGER WHERE Y' TO?

Are there any Newfoundlanders living in Victoria?

Rev. Albert E. King of Metropolitan United Church would like to know, because he is holding a special Newfoundland Night service at 7:30 Sunday.

"It seems very hard to find anyone from Newfoundland out here," he said, "but I feel sure there must be some."

If possible, Mr. King would like a Newfoundlander to read the Scripture.

Council Approves Concrete Plant

A world-wide cement company's application to build a concrete mix plant on the Inner Harbor today got informal approval of Victoria city council and advisory planning commission.

Plans by Lafarge Cement, through its subsidiary Deeks-McBride Ltd., envisage spending up to $1,200,000 to develop former Sidney Roofing property at the west end of Johnson Street bridge.

Advisory planning commission earlier recommended the application to lease the property be denied because it would conflict with the long-range plans for harbor beautification and traffic routing.

JOINT MEETING

Lafarge of North America president James Sinclair of Vancouver, appeared before a joint meeting of council and the commission to outline the firm's plans.

He said development would take place no sooner than a year's time, perhaps not for three years, depending on his company's competiitve position in Victoria.

Mr. Sinclair said he was surprised the application hit a snag when two other concrete plants are operating on the harbor within sight of the Sidney Roofing property.

IMPROVE APPEARANCE

Certain demolition, repair and paint-up work would be done almost immediately to improve appearance of the long-vacant property, he said.

Questioned by APC chairman James Genge, Mr. Sinclair said consideration could be given to providing a public viewpoint on the east end of the site to allow for an almost unique outlook across the harbor toward the legislative precinct and James Bay skyline.

Council and the commission later agreed that beautification of this spot would be a condition.

It would also be conditional to allow for alternative access to the property so that cement trucks would not further congest the bridge area.

WEATHER DELAYS PLANES

Frustrating Wait for QOR Families

More than 100 soldiers' wives, children and friends, journeyed to Victoria International Airport at noon Thursday to meet a plane which didn't arrive.

After hanging around the airport for over two hours they were told the plane had been delayed 16 hours.

It finally reached the airport at 4 this morning and was met by about 50 soldiers' wives and few older children.

125 ABOARD

Aboard the plane were 125 officers and men of the First Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, returning from a six-month peace-keeping mission in Cyprus.

"The plane was delayed by bad weather over Marville, France," said a spokesman for the Armed Forces Information Office.

"This was unavoidable, but for some reason we were not advised of the delay until Thursday afternoon.

"We are trying to discover why the message was not relayed earlier."

It was the fifth since the RCAF began returning 650 members of the battalion last August.

The sixth, scheduled to arrive this afternoon, has also been delayed by bad weather. It is now expected to reach Victoria International Airport at 4 a.m. Saturday.

DUE SUNDAY

The seventh and final flight, bringing 88 soldiers and the battalion's equipment, is due at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. It had been scheduled to arrive at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Aboard the last flight will be Lieutenant-Colonel C. L. Kirby, who took command of the battalion last January.

THREE-DAY VACATION FOR CITY HALL CLOCK

Clock watchers will have one less clock to watch for about three days next week when the timepiece on city hall tower gets its first overhaul in 13 years.

F. W. Francis Ltd., jewelers, will dismantle the 80-year-old clock and bring the pieces down to ground level for maintenance.

Sentence Lengthened After Prison Fracas

Colquitz Jail inmate Gerald Brune was sentenced in city court today to one month for assaulting prison guard Frank Bedford.

He was convicted on Sept. 30.

The fracas started when the guard tried to remove a writing board from the cell of another prisoner, John Lawrence Smith.

Both were imprisoned awaiting trial on other charges at the time. Smith began fighting with the guard and then Brune grabbed Bedford.

PEACEMAKER?

Brune's lawyer Alan Bigelow said Brune did not strike the guard "but was merely trying to hold the man so the fight could be stopped."

"Perhaps his role was minor, but discipline in prisons must be maintained," said Magistrate William Ostler in imposing sentence.

Smith was sentenced to four months for his part in the scuffle at an earlier hearing.

Atheists Get Invitation But No Decree

A Dutch couple refused Canadian citizenship because they wouldn't take the oath "So help me God," have been invited to a reception for new Canadian citizens next Wednesday.

Greater Victoria Citizenship Council has invited them to a coffee party in the new Y building following the swearing in of 32 new Canadians.

But Mr. and Mrs. Martin Vanderpol, 2738 Grainger, will not be sworn in. They will simply attend the reception as guests.

"It is a very nice gesture on the part of the Citizenship Council," Mr. Vanderpol said today. "At first I thought it meant we were to receive Canadian citizenship. This is not so. The Law Courts have received no word on our case."

Mr. Vanderpol said he is still awaiting word from Ottawa as to whether he and his wife can become Canadians without taking the oath "So help me God."

They were refused citizenship in Victoria County Court earlier this year when they told Judge Montague Drake they were atheists and could not conscientiously take the oath.

Judge Drake expressed regret but said he had to abide by the Citizenship Act.

A Dutch couple living in Caledonia, Ont. — Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bergsma — also refused to say "So help me God" in their application for citizenship because they said they were atheists.

Yet they will receive their papers next week.

When they were first refused citizenship, their case was brought up in Parliament by Dr. William Howe, NDP member for Hamilton South.

"In my opinion the Bergsmas have been shopping around for a sympathetic magistrate," Mr. Vanderpol said.

Orange Ambrosia

THANKSGIVING DESSERT

Fall being the time of year when families get together for the time-honored Thanksgiving weekend and other celebrations, a large-quantity dessert comes in handy at mealtime.

Featured here is Orange Ambrosia which serves 12 guests. The dessert combines orange-flavored jelly powder with coconut, velvetized evaporated milk and delicate lady fingers. It has a smooth, light texture because the evaporated milk first is whipped into fluffy mounds and then folded into the jelly powder mixture.

ORANGE AMBROSIA FOR GUESTS

Twelve lady fingers, 2, 3-oz. packages orange jelly powder, ½ cup sugar, 2 cups hot water, 2 tablespoon grated orange rind, ½ cup orange juice, 1 1/3 cups fine flake coconut, 1⅔ cup (large can) undiluted velvetized evaporated milk, ¼ cup lemon juice, orange for garnish.

Line sides of 9-inch spring form pan with split lady fingers. Mix jelly powder and sugar in large bowl. Add hot water; stir until jelly powder dissolves. Add orange rind, juice and coconut.

Chill to consistency of unbeaten egg white. Chill evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft ice crystals form around edges of tray (25 to 30 minutes). Whip until stiff (2 to 3 minutes).

Add lemon juice; whip very stiff (2 minutes longer).

Fold whipped evaporated milk into jelly powder mixture.

Pour into spring form pan. Chill 2 to 3 hours or until firm.

Serve garnished with orange sections.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You Inherit Color of Teeth Like You Do Hair Shade

Q—I am having an awful time getting my teeth white. I do not smoke or do any of those crazy things. I brush my teeth regularly and they are still yellow. I've used several brands of toothpaste and none has helped. Are there some teeth which are just harder to clean than others?

Lowman

I have written to you before for various information and now I can thank you for my clear complexion. About two years ago I bought a complexion brush and some soap you recommended and used them daily. They really did wonders!

A—Some persons are just born with whiter teeth than others. You inherit the color of your teeth like you do the color of your hair. Of course, smoking stains the teeth and some physical conditions affect the color. I suggest you see your dentist. He can probably give you something which will whiten your teeth unless that is their natural color. If he feels that you should see a physician, he will recommend that. I'm glad the advice about the complexion helped this reader!

Q — I am 16 years old and weigh 205 pounds. I can't seem to lose weight. I don't eat much more than the ordinary girl my age, but the pounds just seem to add up. I have tried exercising more and eating less but it just didn't seem to work. School has started and I am getting so much larger than I was when it closed. No one else in my age group seems to get that much fatter during vacation. How much can I lose in two weeks? Please print this soon. I am desperate!

A — The sentence "I don't eat MUCH more than the ordinary girl my age," sounds suspicious. Since you realize that you do eat more, the "much" is probably MUCH more. Perhaps you do not realize how rapidly a small piece of cake, a candy bar, a small package of peanuts, a chocolate soda and other such items, add up.

Your did not give me your height, but you are evidently very much overweight. If you have really stuck to a diet I suggest that you see your family physician and tell him that you seriously want to reduce.

He will probably want to make some tests and I am sure can help you in many ways. You have so many pounds to lose that I think this would be wise.

Q—I am a great fan of yours and have read about your Beauty Improvement Plan. I am one or two months pregnant. Would you still recommend this plan for me? If not, I'll start the plan after pregnancy is over.

A—The BIP includes exercise and calorie restrictions. Therefore I think you should wait until after the arrival of your baby. Each case is different and exercise should be prescribed by your doctor. You cannot now cut your calorie intake to a reducing level. Of course that doesn't mean that you should become overweight during pregnancy.

BE SMART—

Here's a handbag to build a reputation with: a long, skinny "baguette" in shiny black crocodile, larger than we've seen in some time, and designed to clutch preciously in the curve of an arm. This from Paris . . . the shape will appear here soon.

Because of illness, a reception to honor well-known pianists, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Wood, to be given in the Terrace Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. John Graeme, has been postponed until a later date.

To Speak Here On 'Down Under'

Sir Leon Gotz, high commissioner for New Zealand, will be guest speaker when the Women's Canadian Club meets in the Empress Hotel ballroom next Thursday at 2:30 p.m. His topic will be "The World from Down Under."

The speaker entered the New Zealand Parliament in 1949. Minister of the Crown from 1961 to 1963, during those years he held the portfolios of internal affairs, civil defence and island territories. He was instrumental in guiding his country's island territories to self-government. He also acted as minister in attendance on Queen Elizabeth during her New Zealand tour.

Receiving the accolade of a knight commander from Her Majesty in 1963, Sir Leon took up his appointment as high commissioner on April 1, 1965.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Small Alternative!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for only three months and already I have a problem. My wife thinks it's her "duty" to stay nights with her mother every time her father goes on an overnight business trip, which is about twice a week. Mother Bea is a registered nurse, so my wife picks her up at the hospital at 11 p.m. when she gets off duty, and the two of them drive cross-town to spend the night together at Mother Bea's. Meanwhile, I sleep alone. So where does that leave me?

NORMAN.

DEAR NORMAN: Sleeping alone is hardly fair for a man who is still technically on his honeymoon. Tell your bride to persuade her mother either to get a large watchdog for protection, or to find a woman companion who has no marital responsibilities. As a last resort, you could invite Mother Bea to sleep at your place, which is just a notch better than sleeping alone.

DEAR ABBY: We own a small, but nicely furnished motel, and you wouldn't believe what some people steal. Everything from ashtrays to towels, bed linen, light bulbs, bath mats, pillows, shower curtains, window shades, not to mention pictures and furniture. (They've even unscrewed hardware and fixtures!)

Once a woman checked out with one of our bath towels over her arm and thinking she'd mistaken it for her own, I politely pointed out our name on it. She said she knew it was ours, but she thought she was doing us a "favor" by taking it because it was good advertising.

Abby, please tell folks that if they think the articles they steal are not missed, they are wrong. When a guest checks out we know exactly what goes with him. It's a disgrace!

MOTEL OWNER.

DEAR OWNER: I agree. We may see the day when it's necessary to search the luggage and person of all guests who check out of hotels and motels. Insulting to those of integrity? Yes, but it may be preferable to having the rates raised higher and higher to cover the cost of replacing the many stolen articles.

DEAR ABBY: Why are left-handed people treated as though they were handicapped? Our biggest complaint seems to be against waitresses. When we move a cup of coffee from the right to the left side of the plate for our convenience, why does the waitress invariably return it to the right side when she refills it? (It is like having one's hands slapped.)

I carried a five-dollar bill in a special place in my wallet for three years, waiting to give it to the first waiter or waitress who recognized that I was a lefty and treated me accordingly. I finally found that waitress in a small coffee shop in Vancouver. She was startled and grateful when I gave it to her. She found it hard to believe it had taken me three years to find a waitress who was alert enough to make a left-handed person happy.

ELSIE THE LEFTY.

Pink Gladioli at the Altar For Pickup-Midgley Vows

Arrangements of gladioli in pink tones were at the altar of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, recently, when Dr. J. L. W. McLean eard marriage vows exchanged between Maureen Ann Midgley and James Herbert Pickup.

"The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Miss W. Cox, accompanied by organist C. C. Warren, during the ceremony uniting the daughter of Mrs. V. Midgley, 2921 Ilene Terrace, and the late Mr. Midgley, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pickup, 1975 Lee Avenue. "The Wedding Prayer" was sung during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her brother, Reg Midgley, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon over taffeta, styled with Alencon lace appliques starring the skirt. A band of similar lace encircled the waistline. The bodice featured an oval neckline and sleeves ending in lily points. Her three-tier bouffant veil of silk illusion net, made by Mrs. J. Ostle, misted from a self-fabric circlet. Only jewelry was a culture pearl necklace and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Matron of honor Mrs. A. Midgley, bridesmatrons, Mrs. J. Midgley and Mrs. J. Spence and bridesmaids the Misses Vicky Rigby and Sandra Midgley, were in matching bell-skirted gowns of aqua nylon sheer.

They complemented their ensembles with toning circlet headpieces and carried bouquets of white and aqua feathered carnations. Jewelry was pearl necklaces and earrings, gifts of the bride.

Flowergirl Patti Stewart was in a frock of pink nylon, highlighted with pearls. Her headpiece was a circlet of carnations and she carried a colonial flower basket.

Best man was Evan Stewart. Bob Allison, Dick Midgley and Ross Williams ushered guests to pews marked with white carnations.

The groom's mother made the three-tier wedding cake, decorated in blue and white, which centred the bride's table for the reception following in the Union Centre.

Ernie Oliver proposed the toast to the bride.

The couple is now making their home in Victoria following a honeymoon trip to Oregon.

For travelling, the new Mrs. Pickup chose a white Italian-knit suit, complemented with black accessories and white rosebuds en corsage. Topping the ensemble was a muskrat jacket, gift of the groom.

Atcheson of Duncan; Mr. and Mrs. H. North of Alhambra, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Auld and Jamie of Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. Lea Smith of Hornby Island, B.C.

In Victoria

Mrs. Francis Porter travelled from her Vancouver home, recently, to attend the wedding of her niece, Miss Shirley Van Nes, and Mr. Garry Marshall. Other out-of-town guests were the groom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Marshall of Kamloops, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Barnhill of Vancouver.

Pre-Nupital Parties

A corsage of red roses was presented to bride-elect Miss Patricia Edge, whose marriage to Paul Apro takes place this Saturday, when Mrs. C. Spencer held a shower in her Carey Road home.

Mother of the guest of honor, Mrs. T. W. Edge, and grandmother, Mrs. J. Edge, both received corsages of pink roses and daisies.

Also attending the shower were Mrs. G. Beecroft, Mrs. J. Schuring, Mrs. C. Moffit, Mrs. W. Schuring, Mrs. W. Clouston and Miss Linda Edge.

Co-workers at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce entertained at a shower for Miss Edge in the Easter Road home of Mrs. J. Yost.

Pink and red roses en corsage were given to the bride-elect and her mother respectively. Gifts were in a decorated laundry basket.

Also present were Mrs. Beecroft, Mrs. W. Townsend, Mrs. D. Lewis, Mrs. S. Moorhouse, Mrs. D. Coverdale, Mrs. M. Bowden, Mrs. R. Vose, the Misses Darlene Young and Joan Hoffman.

The Rockwell Road home of Mrs. A. Kent was the setting for a shower for Miss Edge.

The bride-elect was presented with a corsage of red gladioli and her mother and grandmother both received daisies en corsage. A decorated box held the gifts.

Guests included Mrs. S. Whittaker, Mrs. R. Copley, Mrs. M. Foster, Mrs. B. Youell, Mrs. Kent, Mrs. T. Youell, Mrs. J. Thom, Mrs. P. Howe, Mrs. M. Grant, Mrs. Beecroft, Mrs. R. Youell, Mrs. D. Youell, Mrs. K. Nelson and Miss Bernice Nelson.

A decorated laundry basket held gifts when Mrs. S. Dunnell entertained at a shower in her Selkirk Road home. A corsage of red rosebuds, surrounded by silver leaves, was presented to the bride-elect and her mother received pink rosebuds en corsage.

Invited guests included Mrs. Foster, Mrs. L. Wardell, Mrs. B. Burley, Mrs. Beecroft, Mrs. D. Huck, Mrs. B. Watson, Mrs. J. Edge, Mrs. A. Angus, Mrs. M. Angus, the Misses Wanda Wardell, Barbara and Janice Huck, Diane Burley and Lynda Edge.

Red roses en corsage were presented to Miss Edge when Mrs. K. Nelson held a shower in her Carey Road home.

Her mother was given a corsage of pink carnations and her grandmother received white chrysanthemums. A laundry basket held the gifts.

Guests included Mrs. Whittaker, Mrs. H. Nowotniak, Mrs. Bowden, Mrs. A. More, Mrs. Coverdale, Mrs. E. Dack, the Misses Pat Nowotniak, Bernice Nelson and Lynda Edge.

Tots Capture Hearts With Song at Party

Thirteen starry-eyed pre-schoolers, ranging from 16 months to five years of age, stole all hearts as they sang "Jesus Loves Me" at the annual Pound Party and Donation Tea sponsored by the Ladies' Committee of the British Columbia Protestant Orphans' Home on Thursday afternoon in the auditorium of the home.

The main part of the program consisted of a selection of hymns sung by the older children of the home, directed by Rev. Cecil Barner, and accompanied by Mrs. N. Harwood at the piano.

Mrs. J. Collins received pound gifts of preserves, sugar, flour, line, and candies for the children.

Cashiers Mrs. R. S. D. Clack and Mrs. A. Adams reported donations totalling $350. The ladies' committee uses these donations for the general welfare of the children in the home.

Receiving guests at the tea, which has been an annual event for many years, were Mrs. N. Harwood, president; Mrs. W. Luney, past president; Mrs. A. M. Ludgate, matron, and Mrs. O. Wiseman, assistant matron.

Mrs. F. Lesley was convener, assisted by Mrs. C. J. McLeod, Mrs. P. W. Mackereth, Mrs. G. Murdoch, Mrs. F. M. Shandley, Mrs. J. W. King, Mrs. M. H. French, Mrs. W. Clark, Mrs. J. MacLachlan and Mrs. A. Wiszniewski.

Mrs. T. McGimpsey was in charge of the flowers, which featured arrangements of chrysanthemums in autumn tones.

Tea and an assortment of cookies were served to the guests.

The program ended with all the children singing their theme song, "God Bless Our Children's Home."

106,000 IN FIVE YEARS

Commission Predicts Big Rise In Co-Ed Numbers

OTTAWA (CP) — More and more co-eds will make the campus scene over the next 10 years, the Bladen commission on higher education predicted this week.

A statistical study prepared for the commission forecasts young women will increase their share of full-time university enrolment to 36 per cent in 1975 from 30 per cent a year ago, and only 21 per cent eight years ago.

Female enrolment is projected at 106,000 five years from now and 165,000 in 1975, compared with 50,000 a year ago and only 13,300 in the fall of 1951.

The commission, appointed by the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, did not make any specific recommendations about women students.

The universities were accused Monday of showing intolerance and prejudice against women by Mrs. M. J. Sabia of St. Catharines, president of the Canadian Federation of University Women.

She told the Ottawa Club most universities discourage women graduate students by imposing quotas and age restrictions. For instance, McGill University in Montreal had a five per cent quota for women in architecture and a 10 per cent quota in medicine.

Worn By Mrs. John Auld

LACE HIGHLIGHTS GOWN

A slim-line silk gown, styled with hand-clipped Chantilly lace appliques highlighting the soft pleats of the skirt, was worn by Carolyn Doris Cornish when she became the bride of John Auld.

Similar lace accents were repeated at the scalloped neckline and a panel at the back of the skirt. The bodice featured lily-point sleeves. A cluster of small roses, highlighted with sprays of pearls, held her veil of illusion net. White roses, gardenias and stephanotis were in her cascade bouquet.

St. Matthias' Anglican Church was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums when Rev. A. Cameron heard vows uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cornish, 2667 Dunlevy Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Auld of Vancouver. Mr. Cornish gave his daughter in marriage.

"The Wedding Prayer" was sung by soloist Miss Joan Oswald, accompanied by organist E. Edwards, during the ceremony. Aurora borealis brooches, gifts of the bride, was the only jewelry worn by matron of honor, Mrs. R. McKeever, bridesmatron, Mrs. R. Auld, and bridesmaids, the Misses Gayle Oswald and Sharon Jordon. All were in gowns of pink crystal peau, with matching floral headpieces and cascade bouquets of white gladioli.

Robert Auld was best man for his brother. Ushering guests were Brian and Glen MacDonald, and Don McCurdy, Vancouver.

A three-tier pink and white wedding cake, surrounded by pink roses and candles, centred the bride's table for the reception in Holyrood House.

Douglas Campbell proposed the toast to the bride.

A powder-blue wool crepe suit, accented with a beige, feathered hat, beige accessories, mink stole and a gardenia corsage was worn by the bride for travelling on honeymoon to the mainland.

Laundrying of Bed Sheets Costs Little In France

PARIS (Reuters)—One of the best bargains in France is having the sheets washed.

Laundry services and other basic utilities are subject to government price control on 179 specific items, chosen at random to serve as examples for a stabilized national economy.

A price ceiling, based on a survey of living costs in 1962, has been fixed on sheets, which are the single largest volume item processed by French laundries.

Today, a standard size plain white sheet is laundered for 1.35 francs, about 25 cents. But a pillow case and a Turkish towel cost 1.10 francs, about 22 cents, and a handkerchief 35 centimes, about 7 cents.

The reason for this discrepancy in price is that articles other than sheets and men's working clothes are not subject to price control, and the industry balances its budget by charging disproportionately higher prices on the non-controlled items.

SHOPPING GUIDE

'Almost Instant' Meal Makes Holiday a Snap

By PENNY SAVER

Thanksgiving's swung around once again, and it's time to start thinking about all the festive dishes you're going to present to family and friends who arrive for the holiday. It seems like just the other day we were in the throes of preparing turkey-and-all-the-trimmings for the hungry hordes that descended on the dinner table last Thanksgiving. (No, that was Christmas, my family assures me. Last Thanksgiving we were all invited over to a relative's for dinner, and the lady of that house did the work.)

This year, then, I am drawn by the temptation (and I'm pretty sure I'm going to give in to it) to save myself all sorts of time and effort by serving already-prepared foods. This excludes the turkey, of course—there'd be a dreadful furor if that wasn't done in the traditional manner!

"Frozen pumpkin pie, which is ready to serve and doesn't even need any baking, is the chief blessing I've found. Delicious pumpkin filling, combined with the best pastry, comes frozen, but need only be stored in the refrigerator until you thaw it out.

I'm going to buy a couple, at 49 cents each, and keep one stored in my fridge for emergencies.

Another frozen product, just right to serve for brunch or in-between snacks, is a fresh orange cake, already baked and iced, which also needs only to be defrosted at room temperature for a couple of hours before eating.

This is a real favorite with my family, as the orange flavor is delicious and quite unusual. A bonus feature of the cake, which sells for 79 cents, is that unusued portions of it can be refrozen for later use.

One of the favorite vegetables to be eaten with turkey in our family is broccoli, green and delicious. A nifty idea in frozen food, selling for 45 cents, provides sharp, tender broccoli spears and a mouth-watering butter sauce, the perfect topping. Best part of it, though, is the boil-in-a-bag idea, which lets you just pop the plastic bag of broccoli into boiling water, leave for a few minutes, and it's cooked! So easy—and it couldn't be more delicious when you're finished.

Finally, a small variation on the cranberry sauce which is the popular favorite to be eaten with turkey. It's cranberry-orange relish—an unexpected combination, but delicious all the same. Little orange peel slivers lend a tangy flavor to the cranberry, and really bring out the best taste in turkey.

The relish is 33 cents a jar, can also be used as dessert topping or in gelatin salads.

PORTION OF WEDDING GOWN

'Something Old' From Her Sister

A piece of her sister's wedding dress was "something old" sewn into the white lace over peau de soie gown worn by Shirley Alice Van Nes recently, when she became the bride of Garry Lee Marshall in St. John's Anglican Church.

The bodice of the gown was styled with a scallop-edged neckline and short sleeves. Her jewelry was a zircon and pearl necklace, gift of the groom. A floral headpiece held her short scallop-edged veil. She carried a white Bible topped with a purple orchid and trailing stephanotis.

The church was decorated with baskets of red and white gladioli when Dr. John Sandys-Wunsch heard vows uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Nes, 2342 Howard Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marshall, 4025 Martha Crescent.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Ronald Drayton.

BROCADE GOWNS

Gowns of pink and white brocade, complemented with floral headpieces edged with veils, and bouquets of toning roses and chrysanthemums, were worn by maid of honor Miss Bernice Taillefer and bridesmaids, the Misses Sandra Corbett and Julie Boudreau. Jewelry was gold lockets, gifts of the bride.

Flower girl Amanda Drayton was in a similar frock and accessories and wore a silver bracelet, gift of the bride.

Brian Marshall was best man for his brother. Guests were ushered by Wayne Stewart and Jim Ferguson.

Ted Porter proposed the toast to his niece at the reception in the Victoria Golf Club. The bride's table was decorated with arrangements of pink and white roses and candles.

Geoff Venables' orchestra played for dancing.

The couple is now making their home at 1524 Foul Bay Road, following a honeymoon trip to Banff and Calgary.

A navy blue wool suit was the bride's choice for travelling. Accents were a toning hat, brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

Opening lead—see article.

This was the situation that faced Becker of America and Belladonna of Italy on the last board of the first day's play in the Italy-America match.

Becker made the winning decision and gained six International Match Points for the United States. This brought our lead to 26 IMPs. Unfortunately that was our largest lead of the match and Italy started whittling away at it from then on.

Becker bid three no-trump. He knew that Italian vulnerable pre-empts were pretty good bids and did not want to take any chance that they would make a vulnerable game.

When West opened the jack of spades and he saw dummy he was quite unhappy but the day turned bright very quickly. East rose with the ace of spades and continued with the queen to knock out South's king.

Now South led a club to dummy. West ducked and dummy won. He came back to his hand with a diamond and led a second club. West went up with his ace this time whereupon South claimed the balance of the tricks.

Avarelli of Italy decided to pass. He knew that American pre-empts were never good hands and decided to try for a sure profit by setting the three-spade contract.

He opened a club and eventually the defense made one club, one spade and three cards in the red suits. East was down one for a loss of only 200 points.

HERE ARE THE FACTS
Three Important Points everyone should check before buying any motorcycle

1. SAFETY
Check accident record through motor vehicle office. Check your tires. Top traction is maintained by using tires similar to those at western motorcycle road meet.

2. REPAIRS and PARTS
On some machines it might cost up to $22 to replace a head gasket. On others they are so machined as to eliminate this needless expense. Check and compare the cost of replacing and repairing other parts of your motorcycle. For example, rings and valve grind on our bike cost approx. $12. On others it often runs about $60 to $70.

3. RESALE VALUE
Check this column any weekend and you will see. Ask yourself, why are all these people trying to sell this certain make of bike, and some after having owned it for as little as a week.

EQUITY
CAN MEAN
CASH IN YOUR HAND

That investment you have in your home is an asset in more ways than one. You qualify for the Associates' Home Owner's Loan Plan. Under this plan, you may borrow from $2,000 to $20,000 on the equity you've built up. The interest rate is reasonable. There are no hidden charges or obscure clauses. You completely repay the loan in equal monthly installments over a period of up to ten years. There are no "balance" or "balloon" payments. Interest is computed monthly on the unpaid balance. This means that each payment you make reduces the amount of interest you pay.

There are 101 reasons why you might need cash—financing a university education, buying a second car, remodelling your home. Keep the Associates' Home Owner's Plan in mind.

The Associates is one of Canada's largest financing firms with branch offices in principal cities across the country.

ONE OF THE NICEST MOTELS
we have been privileged to offer in recent years.

This ten-unit operation has ample room for expansion—being located on nearly 3 acres level parkland. Three more units could be completed at low cost and operation could be expanded to 2 or three times present size. Trailer or mobile home park at rear. All units were completely refurnished in 1964 and all buildings and services are in top condition.

Just half mile off Highway 1 on Victoria outskirts — steady year-round repeat clientele. Realistically priced at $75,000, one-third/one-half cash and low interest mortgages.

SEA VIEW RETIREMENT PERFECTION

I have an exclusive listing on the most perfect retirement home I have yet seen. Everything is in immaculate condition. The living room has wall-to-wall carpeting and looks out over Selkirk waters, the master bedroom is large and has one complete wall of closets. The second bedroom is presently being used as a den and the 4-pce. bathroom is completely tiled with built-in vanity and glass enclosed tub. The kitchen and dining areas of the house are a housewife's dream with arborite cabinets, garburator and range, exhaust fan. Step out the back door to a covered patio and carport and a small steam heated greenhouse and workshop. The garden just has to be seen to be appreciated — the prize roses are still blooming and the property is fully landscaped with many hundreds of dollars worth of shrubs and rock plants. This home will be truly appreciated by the person wanting both quality and modern convenience — something not too easily found these days.

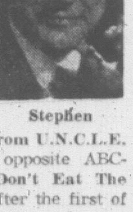
Andy Stephen Looks at TV

It was only a question of time. CBS-TV's Slattery's People, which was almost axed last season because of low rating but given another chance this fall, will be cancelled after its Nov. 26 showing.



Stephen

Rawhide, another major CBS-TV series, faces extinction in mid-season, too.

In both cases, ratings are low.

Slattery's People, starring Richard Creena (he deserved a much better fate), will be replaced by an Art Linkletter series, similar to last summer's talent show. Linkletter will start Dec. 3.

Slattery's competition this season are ABC-TV's Jimmy Dean show and NBC-TV's incomparable The Man From U.N.C.L.E.

Rawhide, meanwhile, will remain opposite ABC-TV's Combat and NBC-TV's Please Don't Eat The Daisies and My Mother, the Car until after the first of the year, when its future plans will be announced.

The time slot now filled by the new-look Rawhide will be taken over by a new one-hour series based on the movie "Clarence, The Cross-Eyed Lion."

The series deals with a veterinarian who has set up a compound in Africa and focuses on the study of animal behavior.

Marshall Thompson will take the lead role. Executive producer of the series is Ivan Tors, whose Flipper series on NBC-TV is so successful.

Ratings may also be the death of NBC-TV new Convoy series, about Atlantic ship crossings during the Second World War.

* * *

The lure of the coho was too strong for bearded Sebastian Cabot. He quietly crept into town this week to try his luck with the fish heading to their spawning grounds.

Things are going good for the summertime resident of Deep Cove.

He'll play the part of a billionaire trying to form a syndicate for underwater farming in a November episode of The Beverly Hillbillies.

On Oct. 14, he'll make a speech on behalf of the United Campaign Fund in Pittsburgh, and has an Oct. 19 video-tape recording date with CBC-TV's panel show, Flashback.

But until then, it's on the chuck each morning for a try at the salmon.

* * *

Dorothy Malone, who underwent serious surgery two weeks ago, will have her role in ABC-TV's Peyton Place taken over, temporarily, by Lola Albright.

OPEN HOUSE
1266 OAKMOUNT
SAT., 2 - 5 P.M.

If I described this delightful home in the glowing terms it deserves, the owners would probably "buy it themselves" and I'd be out a listing. Suffice it to say that it is in the high treed section close to the Cook-Maplewood intersection, featuring a beautiful living room with dining area in the "L," hardwood floors, the prettiest kitchen ever, 2 lovely big bedrooms, rose-toned bath, full basement with recreation room, OOM heating and mature landscaping. Best of all, down payment and terms are flexible. Full price $13,750. BEV McARTHUR in attendance. For advance information, please call EV 5-6741 anytime.

High Over Cordova Bay
FABULOUS VIEW

If you are capable of buying this type of property, you should make a point of viewing this delightful home. Just a year old, this home has the most fabulous view in the city. Perched high over Cordova Bay, it has an uninterrupted 180 degree view of the sea and mountains. Four bedrooms, three outstanding bathrooms. Along with these features, the formal, large living room has a most unique fireplace. This room was designed to get the most out of the views. Separate dining room. The large cabinet kitchen is indeed a woman's delight. Much, much more could be said about the many extra features, but why not come and see it for yourself. Full price $45,000. For viewing, dial 385-6741 anytime.

ROCKLAND
OVERLOOKING GOVERNMENT HOUSE

Seldom do we get such listings as this one where we can combine location with such fantastic value. This is a 5 suite apartment block set in approximately 1½ ACRES OF THE CHOICEST PRESTIGE LOCATION IN TOWN overlooking the beautiful gardens and residence of the LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR. It is a stately three-gabled Tudor property and most of the suites are in the 1400-1500 square feet class. Money has been no object on the maintenance side and in EXCESS OF $90,000 has been lavished on the property. The lot is subdivided into 3 distinct parcels, but all combine to make one huge country garden with seclusion, yet WITHIN 5 MINUTES OF THE CENTRE OF THE CITY BY CAR. Due to ill health, the owner is forced to sacrifice this beautiful block and it can be bought for the low price of $78,000. For further information, call J. Henderson, 386-1368. Res. 383-8652.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed tenders for the construction of works at the Forest Service Maintenance Depot, 3150 Celtic Ave., Vancouver, will be received by the undersigned up to 4 p.m. (P.D.S.T.) on October 20th, 1965, and opened in public at that time.

Work includes the dredging and excavation of a boat basin, the supply and placing of rip-rap, piling, material and construction of a barge loading ramp, gangway approach wharf, gangway and floats, material and construction of bulkheads.

Plans and specifications may be viewed on or after October 4th at:

1. Provincial Government Plan Viewing Room, 207 W. Hastings St., Vancouver.
2. The Architectural Centre, 567 Burrard St., Vancouver 1, B.C.
3. Vancouver Construction Assoc., 2675 Oak St., Vancouver, B.C.
4. Industrial Construction Centre, 1027 West Broadway, Vancouver, B.C.
5. Heavy Construction Association of B.C., 1122 Burrard St., Vancouver, B.C.
6. Victoria Builders Exchange, 543 Bastion St., Victoria.

Plans and specifications may be viewed and obtained by the General Contractor on or after October 4th at:

1. The Engineering Services Division, B.C. Forest Service, 525 Superior St., Victoria, B.C. (Telephone 382-6111, Local 2657).
2. Superintendent, Forest Service Maintenance Depot, 3150 Celtic Ave., Vancouver, B.C.

All enquiries should be made to the Engineering Services Division in Victoria. The plan deposit is $25.00 which will be refunded upon return of the plans and specifications in good condition within 30 days of the opening of tenders. The deposit of the successful tenderer is not refundable.

Tenders will not be considered unless made out on the form provided and signed. Tenders must be submitted in the envelope marked "Construction of Works at the Forest Service Maintenance Depot."

No tender will be considered having any qualifying clauses whatsoever and the lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

A Forest Officer will be available on the site during working hours on the 8th of October, 1965, to discuss details of the work with prospective tenderers.

HISTORY OF PPCLI

Lord Provost Aids In Book Research

The Lord Provost of Dundee—Hon. Garnet Reid—has replied to an inquiry from Victoria historian W. E. Bastedo.

Mr. Bastedo is editor of a new book to be called Tales and Memories of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

It is to be published early in November.

Mr. Bastedo appealed to the Lord Provost of Dundee for information concerning Hugh Mackenzie, a lieutenant in the PPCLI, who was killed while leading an attack on a German pill box at Passchendaele during the First World War.

The Lord Provost replied that Lieut. Mackenzie was born in Inverness and raised in Dundee. He migrated to Canada in 1912 and later joined the PPCLI.

He was killed at Passchendaele on Oct. 30, 1917, and left a widow and son in Verdun, Que.

LONG SEARCH

"We had been trying to locate information on him for some time," said Mr. Bastedo, who lives at 430 Dallas Road.

"He was one of three winners of the Victoria Cross we had in the Princess Pats during the First World War. And we wanted more of his background."

Mr. Bastedo said his book, Tales and Memories of the PPCLI, is to be printed in eastern Canada and he hopes it will be "out" before Remembrance Day, Nov. 11.

It will contain eight colored plates and more than 100 black-and-white photos recording the regiment's history in the First World War.

SURVEY TRIP NORTH

One of its heroes will be Col. Macgregor Macintosh of Victoria, a veteran of the PPCLI who perished on a survey trip north in 1955.

Mr. Bastedo said the colonel's son, Major Richard Macgregor Macintosh — now in Germany with the PPCLI — had been most helpful in compiling his book.

"We plan to print about 6,000 copies," he said, "and that will be barely enough since they are wanted by so many survivors and relatives of men who served with the PPCLI."

2-Foot Casts Show Only the Toe Marks!

TORONTO (CP)—The Royal Ontario Museum announced Tuesday in its acquiring something new for its vertebrate palaeontology section—seven sets of dinosaur tracks.

Dr. Gordon Edmund, associate curator of the section, and technician Gordon Gyrmov have been working at the B.C. Hydro site at Hudson Hope, making latex moulds of the tracks before they are submerged by the Peace River power project.

They are driving back to Toronto with the moulds and should be back early next week.

From the moulds, casts will be made and placed on display. The museum has a large collection of Canadian dinosaur skeletons but until now has had no footprints.

MOULDED TRACKS

Dr. Edmund reported to the museum by telephone that he has moulded the tracks of seven different animals.

Many of the prints are about two feet long—and that is just the toemarks. The beasts walked on the toes of their powerful hind feet, rarely leaving heel prints. Here and there small prints show where they set down their less-powerful forelegs.

The museum says that when the tracks were fresh the Hudson Hope area probably was the shore of a great lake. The climate was warm and dinosaurs flourished.

By chance, these tracks were protected from erosion. Over millions of years the mud turned into shale, keeping a perfect record.

Halt Fighting, Then Talk, Urges Britain

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Britain Thursday proposed that both sides stop fighting and end interference in Viet Nam, then join in a conference "under whatever auspices might promise success."

"From that," British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart told the general assembly, "let us get a situation in which South Viet Nam, and north, is firmly guaranteed against attack. Let us have a program of rehabilitation, administered by the United Nations, to repair the ravages of war."

Britain and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference on Viet Nam, which many countries have demanded reconvene. However, Stewart did not limit his call for negotiations to that body.

He said a Commonwealth mission, spurned by the Communists, stood ready to go to North Viet Nam and Communist China "as soon as those doors are opened."

Killed at Funeral

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Two persons were killed and five others injured near here when a tractor-trailer skidded into a funeral procession. Killed were Marsha Lynn Otwell, 12, attending the funeral of her grandfather, Wallace S. Gulledge, 63; and Clint Otwell, 31, an uncle.

Coffee Jar Assault Costs Man $250

A man convicted Thursday in Saanich court of hitting his former common-law wife with a coffee jar was fined $250 and placed on $250 good behaviour bond for six months.

Laszlo Balogh, 131 Clarence St., had also assaulted Mrs. Vivian Bedwell, 3804 Quadra St., three years ago, court was told.

Mrs. Bedwell testified she was sleeping when Balogh came to her house early in the morning of Sept. 29.

They went into the living room where her sister was watching television. Balogh said he wanted to talk, she testified.

Then he told her he wanted some coffee and she said she did not have any.

FOUND JAR

Balogh went into the kitchen and found a large jar of instant coffee.

"I told him I did not want to make coffee. Then I turned around and felt a blow on my head. The coffee jar went past me and fell to the floor and broke," Mrs. Bedwell said.

Balogh said he was making a turning motion when the jar stuck her and he did not realize she was so close to him.

Funeral Today For Manager Of City Bank

Funeral services were held today for W. P. Milner, 53, manager of the Hillside and Quadra branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, who died suddenly Tuesday.

Mr. Milner, 2059 Hampshire, lived in Victoria eight years.

He is survived by the widow, Florence; daughters Sheila and Susan; brother Frank of North Vancouver, and sister, Mrs. Ruth Olmstead of Long Beach, California.

Rev. Canon George Biddle officiated in Thomson and Irving's funeral chapel. Cremation followed.

Polio In Decline

GENEVA (Reuters) — Poliomyelitis is on the way out in every country where mass vaccination has been used during the last 10 years, the World Health Organization announced here today. Figures for Canada showed 2,381 reported cases in 1954 and only 21 in 1964.

2 PER CENT COVERED BY PLAN

The provincial government's medical insurance plan now covers about 130,000 persons, Dr. Peter Banks revealed today.

This represents less than 2 per cent of the population of B.C.

He did not say how many family subscriptions were included in the figure "but it is increasing every day."

He is a director of the B.C. Medical Plan which issued about 60,000 subscriptions covering 95,000 members and their dependents in the start of September.

Neither the directors nor the government has yet said how many of the subscribers have obtained the government subsidies, from 25 to 50 per cent of premiums, for low income applicants.

Arson Racket Under Probe

The B.C. attorney-general's department has become intensely interested in $1 million consolation paid a single B.C. businessman by insurance companies after several fires.

"We are aware that there is a considerable amount of arson about (the province) including one major case of a career of unfortunate experiences with fire that is under continuing investigation now."

He was commenting on the "quick-lime" gangland murders in Quebec involving a bankruptcy-arson racket ring.

Mr. Bonner said there was no indication any bankruptcy racketeering in B.C. But there were a number of suspected arson cases under study.

These, however, pointed towards "individual private enterprise rather than the activities of some apparatus" or ring.

He did not identify the major case under investigation except to say that it involved mainly manufacturing buildings.

The arson studies so far show a "lamentable gap" of information among fire underwriters enabling some persons to obtain insurance on the same property from a variety of companies, or repeatedly obtaining insurance with ease, even after a string of fires.

Mr. Bonner said it appeared that competition among the underwriters was so severe that they could not co-operate by exchanging information about customers. Also they were loath to turn down too many applicants for fear of getting a "tough" reputation.

The studies by his department may lead to an eventual recommendation for establishment of an institution to act as a neutral clearing house of information on frequently burned-out claimants and other suspicious circumstances.

Joint Project For Centenary 'Lost Cause'

DUNCAN — A Duncan - North Cowichan co-operative centennial project here is a lost cause, said James L. Whittome, chairman of the city's centennial committee Thursday.

He said it would be impossible unless North Cowichan's projected $300,000 ice arena was voted down by the people.

At Thursday's meeting the committee invited further project suggestions from the public.

A motion by committee member Chuck Maguire to pursue the idea of a park and recreation centre was tabled.

DISCRETION is the better part of valor. So he won't need bandages afterwards, this court witness against liquor law violators in Orlando, Fla., was bandaged by police so he wouldn't be recognized. (AP Wirephoto.)

OVER MEDICARE

Doctor Denies Conflict Talk

Dr. Peter Banks, past-president of the B.C. Medical Association, and a director of the government B.C. Medical Plan, today denied the two organizations are on a collision course.

Although he admitted there was a future possibility of conflict, the Victoria doctor told the Times speculation that recent developments indicated potential battle lines were being drawn up, was unfounded.

Dr. Banks is attending the medical association's convention in Vancouver.

The speculation arose from resignation of Dr. E. C. McCoy from the government plan's board of directors because of a possible conflict of interest with his other position as executive director of the B.C. Medical Association. The action was taken after a discussion at the association's annual meeting.

NO DISAGREEMENT

It followed Dr. Bank's own stand to the convention that he had to keep his function of consultant to the B.C. delegation at a recent federal-provincial medicare conference entirely separate from his association membership.

Dr. Banks said neither of these situations reflect any disagreement between doctors and the provincial government "and I say that emphatically."

"Right now I can't see any likelihood of our being on a collision course with the provincial government because we have a written contract that is a reasonable one."

But, he agreed, "if the federal government insists on its four initial conditions then there might conceivably be a collision."

(Among Ottawa conditions for a federal-provincial medicare plan by 1967 was universal and compulsory coverage which is bitterly opposed by the medical profession).

'SANITY RETURNS'

"However, sanity returned at the recent Ottawa conference when the federal government agreed to go back to the British North America Act which gives jurisdiction over health to the provinces," Dr. Banks said.

"If that attitude of the federal government survives, there will be no collision,' he predicted.

Dr. McCoy was replaced Thursday through a cabinet order by Dr. Harry Watson, of New Westminster, as a director of the medical plan.

The order also appointed Geoffrey Stewart as president of the BCMP board to replace William Veitch who recently was named deputy provincial treasurer of Manitoba.

Mr. Stewart retains his post as secretary-treasurer of Government Employees' Medical Services which insures almost 60,000 civil servants and dependents.

Rites Saturday For Former Weyburn Mayor

Funeral services will be held Saturday for Dr. J. K. Brimacombe, 80, former mayor of Weyburn, Sask., who died here Thursday.

Dr. Brimacombe had lived here for 12 years. He was a member of Metropolitan United Church.

He is survived by the widow, Clara, at 350 Douglas and one niece, Mrs. J. C. Scott.

Rev. Albert King will officiate at 4:30 p.m. at McCall Brothers Floral Chapel, 1400 Vancouver St.

Bite Fighter Chewed Out By Magistrate

A youth who punched and bit Esquimalt police officer Stuart Rhodes was given a stern lecture by Magistrate William Ostler in city court today.

Michael W. Mathews, 17, of 1287 Park Terrace, was placed on probation for two years and bound on the sum of $500 to keep the peace.

Police were called to Esquimalt Sports Centre Saturday night where they found Mathews and another youth creating a disturbance.

Mathews punched Constable Rhodes in the mouth when he tried to get him into the police car.

He later bit the officer's fingers when the officer was trying to handcuff him.

Magistrate Ostler termed Rhodes' conduct "insolent."

"You were intoxicated and you thought you were a big enough man to teach the officer something about his work. Obviously you weren't," he said.

He also ordered Mathews to make a sincere apology to Constable Rhodes.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Debbie Schultz, age 13, of Fountain Valley, Calif., for her question:

What is oceanography?

Canada has many trained experts in oceanography and there is plenty of work for many more. If you plan a career in this fascinating young science, you need a groundwork of courses in chemistry and physics, in biology and geology, in math and, of course, in sailing.

Geography is the study of the earth's ups and downs, its curves and corners. Oceanography is the study of the watery oceans that cover most of its surface. The salty seas link together in a world-wide ocean, and its scope is immense. It covers more than 70% of our planet and this vast area holds enough water to fill 330 million square tanks, each a mile high and a mile wide.

It spans the globe from torrid to polar regions. Its surface is exposed to winds and weather, climate and changing seasons. Its waters merge and mingle in currents and tossing tides. Every year rivers dump into it some 6,000 cubic miles of fresh water, and millions of tons of surface water evaporate and fall again as rain. This fluid interplay is treated by the physical oceanographer.

Another branch of oceanography treats the floor of the sea. There are ooze-covered plains and lonely mounts, staggering cliffs and pits deep enough to swallow Mt. Everest. There are volcanoes and earthquake faults and the earth's most massive mountains are under the sea.

Specialize in Sea Farming

Marine biologists are oceanographers who specialize in teeming life that throngs in the salty seas. The ocean offers a wide range of conditions, warm or cool, light or dark, deep or shallow. Different creatures are adapted to live in different places. Plants thrive in the sunlit surface and seaweeds throng in the shallow continental shelves.

Some creatures can live only under tremendous pressure in the ocean abyss, others need tidal pools and others follow the drifting pastures of floating plankton. Chemical oceanographers work with the biologists to detect the salty quality of the restless water, for this, too, affects marine life. Much of our food comes from the sea and we need to know all we can about these and other inter-related branches of oceanography.

The moist air above the sea breeds storms and calms and meteorologists keep an eye on the interchange of weathery air masses between land and sea. And some oceanographers experiment in sea farming. This is man's first attempt to cultivate and control rich harvests of food that someday may be reaped from the vast and watery ocean.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

NEW YORK—Apparently Hugh Hefner of Playboy fame is in a rage over Tom Burke's lengthy attack on him in this month's issue of Gentleman's Quarterly. Hefner refused to join Burke in a debate on ABC-TV's "Young Set" program, and that meant Burke was cancelled. But the battle has just begun. Burke's blast in the next edition of GQ goes farther in his criticism of the Playboy publisher and his enterprises, and those who've seen the proofs predict Hugh will be screaming for his lawyers when he sees the second edition . . . Barbra Streisand, 22-year-old star of "Funny Girl," admits she doesn't know how to react to applause. She says, "When I finish a song, I feel like I've done my job. That I should get off the stage. But when they applaud, it always gets me. I especially love Saturday matinees with lots of kids. They really go wild" . . . Ann-Margaret's statements for benefit of a scandal sheet are really a screech. Delightedly admitting that she is "wild" and wants a man to "tame" her, she talks about cavemen as though she had been around thousands of years ago, when the chaps were dragging their adored ones by the hair. It's hard to figure out what she's trying to prove, except that she wants to get her name into print . . . A happy Lana Turner reports that eye surgery on her husband, Bob Eaton, was a complete success. The impaired vision was caused by an old injury, when a piece of metal flew into Bob's eye.

★ ★ ★

Here is a really wild one. The rumor in Latin America is that Red China "cooled" the India-Pakistan war as a deal—some facets being the recognition of China as an atomic power, and eventual admittance at the United Nations . . . The Giants football team is still doing capacity business, but the fans aren't betting on them the way they used to . . . The forthcoming Irving Berlin movie, "Say It With Music," marks the ninth time writers Betty Comden and Adolph Green have teamed with producer Arthur Freed for a fine track record . . . Have another excessively long title. The Carol Channing video special, due in February, is called "An Evening With Carol Channing or How To Watch TV Without Being Plugged In" . . . Marjorie Steele, who lived in a luxurious Sutton Place duplex when she was the wife of Huntington Hartford, is back in New York living unpretentiously in an uptown West Side hotel with her British actor husband, Dudley Sutton, for whom she gave up the Hartford millions.

★ ★ ★

Jule Styne's TV musical, "The Dangerous Christmas of Red Riding Hood," a November event, has been sold to nine nations . . . When Rod Steiger's sixth wedding anniversary to Claire Bloom arrived, he was in Madrid hard at work making a movie and Claire was in London rehearsing a play. Philosophized Steiger: "Perhaps this is why our marriage has been a success. Out of the six years, we have spent only three together." . . .

Charles Aznavour, due here for a three-week stay on Broadway this month, is doing it the French way. His best girl has flown in from Paris to add to his happiness and fend off the New York ladies.

SHOCK TACTICS USED ON WESTERN TRIP

Indifference, No—Hostility, Yes—Lesage Admits

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec said Thursday at times he felt "latent hostility" during his tour of the four western provinces but he believes indifference and misconceptions about Quebec in the West are falling off.

Delivering what he referred to as a preliminary report on his western speaking tour to a meeting of English- and French-speaking newspaper editors. Mr. Lesage said he deliberately used shock tactics in his western speeches to arouse interest.

"I really believe that I have achieved the objective I had set for myself on this trip," he said. "I wanted my English-speaking compatriots to get to know Quebec's attitudes, aims and problems."

He said he hoped that he had sown a seed of awareness in the West that there exists in Canada a difficult period for Confederation, a period so difficult some have called it a crisis.

"It is obvious I went to Western Canada to raise issues," he said in a prepared address which he delivered in English, with little departure from the text.

"Many of my speeches appeared to be and were—shock treatments. This was done deliberately. For, as you may readily suppose, I had no intention of going there to deal in generalities or platitudes."

While he anticipated he would be met with indifference, this did not happen, "even though I sometimes felt the latent hostility I expected."

Mr. Lesage took advantage of the fact that his audience was made up of the leading newspaper editors of Ontario and Quebec to call for a greater exchange of correspondents between East and West within Canada.

Many of the misconceptions between French and English Canada are the result of a lack of communication, he said. The Quebec premier stressed this point more firmly during the afternoon while taking part in a seminar discussion of political relations between Ontario and Quebec.

Newspapers are concerned with international news, national news and regional news, he said, but seldom do they print stories emanating from provinces other than their own. Mr. Lesage said while he was in Calgary he noticed only four French-Canadian names in an edition of a local newspaper: Lucien Rivard (convicted of drug trafficking); Georges Lemay (escaped from jail); Yvon Dupuis (former cabinet minister charged with influence peddling), and Jean Lesage (Quebec premier in town).

Mr. Lesage also told the seminar the lack of knowledge of Quebec he found during his western tour led him to believe Canada is not yet ready to begin reshaping its constitution.

GIANT HEARING AID, to pick up signals from more than a billion miles away, is nearly completed near Goldstone, Calif. The $12 million parabolic antenna is expected to extend the United States space-tracking ability by more than 600 per cent. The huge radio "ear" is 234 feet high and 210 feet in diameter, by far the largest in the United States. (AP Wirephoto.)

INTEGRATION

King Elected To Head Drive

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga. (AP) Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., emerged today in control of the Negro civil rights drive in this small town after a power struggle with political implications.

Small groups of Negroes tried once again either to board school buses with white children or block the vehicles today. Eighty state troopers thwarted the attempt. Four Negroes lay on the street but were moved quickly.

Another group tried to run through police lines and one trooper was bowled over but he tackled a Negro youth.

Negroes involved in the Taliaferro County school integration push voted overwhelmingly Thursday night at a mass meeting to turn control of the movement to King and his Southern Christian Leadership Conference—and to continue demonstrations.

"As far as I am concerned, the movement is out of my hands now," said Calvin Turner, the local Negro leader, at the mass meeting. "It is now in the hands of SCLC and Dr. King."

In a similar vein, chairman W. E. Watson of the county commission told reporters the dispute is out of local control. "Nobody is going to move in any direction until a moratorium is observed, until good faith is shown."

Watson said Negro leaders have shown they do not want a settlement.

JOINED GOVERNOR

Watson had joined with Governor Carl E. Sanders in calling for a halt to demonstrations.

Turner asked for a show of hands on the question of control at the meeting. Nearly all the approximately 150 Negroes voted for King and his SCLC.

The significance of this action lies in the fact that the governor and state Senator Leroy Johnson of Atlanta, a Negro, had sought to solidify Georgia Negro leaders in a more moderate course that would have halted demonstrations — and blocked SCLC.

SCLC leaders, particularly Hosea Williams, the director of political education, said Johnso would not be a spokesman for the civil rights movement. Williams has charged the governor with a political play to his reported intentions of seeking a U.S. senate seat next year.

King has a Monday visit to Crawfordville scheduled. It was in 1962 that King, winner of the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize, lost his first major, mass demonstration campaign against segregation in Albany, Ga.

In a report to Negroes Thursday night, Turner said nothing was accomplished in a conference Wednesday between the governor, Negro leaders and Taliaferro County officials.

Unless demands are met or King changes his mind, a highway march from Crawfordville to Atlanta will be staged to dramatize token school integration as the 1965 Alabama drive focused on voting rights and brought federal legislation.

PROUD PARENTS

100 Million To 1 Chance Is Beautiful

BRIDGEND, Wales (AP)—Mrs. Phyllis Keeble, a grandmother, has become a mother again at the age of 53. She says she is delighted although still a little surprised.

The new baby, a boy, weighed nine pounds, five ounces at birth Thursday. Bill and Phyllis, the happy parents, already had six daughters and four sons and seven grandchildren. They live in the Glamorgan town of Llanharry.

The hospital reported today that "mother and baby are in remarkably fine fettle."

Phyllis said: "The new baby is beautiful."

Bill, a factory worker, also 53, was proud to be a proud father again.

"It's marvellous," he said. "I can hardly believe it. It was a bit of a shock, mind you, when we knew about the baby—especially at our age.

"And we were a little embarrassed when we had to tell the other children. But everything is great."

Doctors say the chance of having a baby after the age of 52 is 100,000,000 to 1. But even so, Mrs. Keeble is a long way behind the record.

That is held, medical men say, by Mrs. Ruth Kistler of Portland, Ore. Now 66 she had a daughter, Susan, when she was 57.

The oldest British woman to have a baby is Mrs. Winifred Wilson of Cheshire. She had a daughter when she was 55. She now is 83.

2-YEAR CURE FOR SMOKERS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A medical journal reports that individuals are not really "cured" of the smoking habit until they have abstained from cigarettes for at least two years.

The article in the journal of the Medical Medical Association also said that persons who start smoking at a young age have the least chance of breaking the habit.

The article added that smokers who give up tobacco entirely have a better chance of giving up smoking than those who switch to pipes or cigars.

AT BATTLE OF BULGE

U.S. Prepared to Use Bomb Against Nazis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt seriously considered dropping the first atomic bomb on Germany when he feared a Nazi counter-attack which went down in history as the Battle of the Bulge, might stop the Allies, Lt.-Gen. Leslie R. Groves, retired, said Thursday.

Roosevelt raised this possibility at a White House meeting late in December, 1944, with U.S. War Secretary Henry L. Stimson and with Groves, who, as head of the super-secret Manhattan Project, was in charge of developing the A-bomb.

"The president said he was concerned that the Battle of the Bulge might upset the timetable of ending the war in Europe and remarked that maybe this would force us to use the bomb against Germany," Groves said in an interview.

Groves said Roosevelt was "perfectly prepared" to use the new weapon against the Nazis, despite many difficulties, including the fact the first bomb would not be ready until August, 1945.

This, Groves said, should answer what he called irresponsible criticism the United States hesitated to drop the bomb on the enemy which happened to be white-skinned but preferred to use it on another, which was of the yellow race.

Suspend Sentence For Possession Deadly Weapon

An old age pensioner charged with possession of deadly weapons was given a two years' suspended sentence Thursday in Saanich court.

Robert Crawford, 79, pleaded guilty to the charge at an earlier hearing.

Police said he went to his housekeeper's residence armed with a gun, hammer, two knives and a pair of tin snips.

"This might have been a great tragedy," Magistrate William Ostler commented. He also placed him on a $500 bond to keep the peace.

MOTHER'S SAD TASK is performed by Madame Nasution, wife of Indonesian Defence Minister Abdul Nasution, as she carries bundled body of her six-year-old daughter, Ade Erma Suryani, from her house in Jakarta for funeral services. Child was killed during last week's abortive coup.

Moslem Youths Fire Indonesia's Red Quarters

JAKARTA (AP) — Young Moslem demonstrators burned the Indonesian Communist party's headquarters to the ground today in a riotous reaction to the leftist coup attempt last weekend.

Several thousand youths staged the raid, ignoring President Sukarno's efforts to protect the Communist party. Known as the PKI and claiming 3,000,000 members, it has been a powerful element in Sukarno's support.

Also ignored was a declaration by the Communists that they had nothing to do with the abortive uprising, led by Lt.-Col. Untung, a battalion commander of Sukarno's presidential guard.

The youths, demonstrating in a fashion developed by the Indonesian Communists, demanded dissolution of the party and its leader. They paraded with shouts of "To hell with the PKI" and "Long live America."

Indonesian troops who broke the back of the attempted coup last Friday, cordoned off streets leading to the PKI headquarters and made no attempt to interfere.

'KILL AIDIT'

The demonstrating youths shouted "Kill Aidit" and "Dissolve PKI." D. N. Aidit is the first secretary of the PKI. He has been out of sight since the coup failed last weekend.

(A Jakarta radio broadcast, heard in Kuala Lumpur, said 50,000 persons held an anti-Communist rally in Jakarta's main stadium today. The broadcast said "the rally was held in very tense atmosphere" and got somewhat out of hand when some of the crowd began to shout "Kill! Kill! Kill immediately!")

Most of the demonstrators were from Ansor, the youth wing of the biggest Moslem political group.

The Indonesian Army meanwhile continued its anti-Communist campaign despite President Sukarno's attempts to check it.

The army newspaper Berita Yudha reported the arrest of three Communist Youth Front members who it said had confessed taking part in the murder of six Indonesian army generals during the attempted coup last week.

Since martial law was proclaimed last Saturday, the army has had control of the capital and its suburbs.

Sukarno at a cabinet meeting at his summer palace in Bogor Wednesday said he disapproved of the army's anti-Communist campaign and declared, "we should not take revenge."

Marine police in Singapore today reported gunfire and explosions on the Indonesian island of Samboe, in the Riau archipelago 15 miles from Singapore.

A revolution appeared to be in progress," police sources said but they had no information.

57 Deaths On Roads Predicted

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Highway Safety Council said Thursday the number of traffic deaths during the Thanksgiving Day weekend might total 57.

The council said in a statement relatively warm weather will draw more drivers to the highways.

Last year the weekend produced 40 deaths, 12 below the eight-year average of 52.

Oil Inferno On Cyprus Controlled

NICOSCIA, Cyprus (UPI) — British troops worked in shifts today to contain a multi-million dollar blazing inferno at a Shell Company oil depot in southeast Cyprus, believed started by Communist sympathizers.

The huge blaze which destroyed five storage tanks began Thursday morning after four masked raiders set time bombs at the depot 20 miles from here at Larnaca.

At one point late Thursday night, a strong wind blowing from the sea sent fears that the blaze would reach several other tanks in the enormous oil complex.

But the wind stopped and with it fears of a major catastrophe.

More than 150 troops from the British bases on the island worked in shifts with Cypriot firemen. The Royal Air Force also lent a hand by providing equipment and foam.

Greek Cypriot Interior Minister Polycarpos Georgadjis said "enemies of the people" were responsible for the blaze. No one was reported to have been injured.

NATO Split Bid Rejected

NEW YORK (CP)—The United States today rejected France's suggestion that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization be divided into a European and a North American structure which would work together in defence of the Atlantic alliance nations.

Wayne L. Hays, head of a U.S. House of Representatives delegation to the NATO parliamentarians' conference, said "France is wrong in its approach" to the reform of the Atlantic alliance.

TROOPS USE TEAR GAS IN ATTACK

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. paratroopers launched a big new operation on the fringe of the Viet Cong's D zone and used non-lethal tear gas, a U.S. military spokesman said.

No further details were immediately available on the gas attack.

In a major change of policy, the field commander had been authorized before the operation to use non-lethal tear gas if he deemed it necessary. The object was to flush out the Viet Cong without wounding or killing non-combatants.

A U.S. military spokesman said the Americans made "significant contact" with the enemy.

Thousands of U.S. troops combed a densely jungled area about 30 miles north of Saigon. Australian forces supported the operation.

B-52 bombers from Guam hammered the area twice before the U.S. ground offensive.

MOVE IN CONVOYS

The paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed by helicopter and moved into the Viet Cong area in convoys along Highway 13, near the district capital of Ben Cat.

The fighting was believed to have been heavy. A personnel carrier hit a Viet Cong mine and overturned. Casualties were reported moderate.

Informed sources said the authorization to use tear gas in the D zone operation was given by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, because it was felt that non-lethal gas was the most humane weapon that could be used in certain situations the paratroopers probably would encounter.

The Viet Cong often take cover among non-combatant civilians, many times among women and children, in the trench systems, underground holes that dot much of the countryside in D zone.

KIDNEY STONE, GALL BLADDER REMOVED

Johnson Doing Well After Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's gall bladder operation was performed without complications today and three hours later he was reported "doing well."

However, White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson, as would any patient recovering from a gall bladder operation, was "experiencing mild discomfort."

The operation itself went "beautifully and as expected" in the words of one of the doctors and was pronounced a "complete success."

The surgical team did find and remove a kidney stone in the ureter as well as removing the faulty gall bladder. The ureter is a passage through which urine is voided.

Johnson was in the operating room from 7 a.m. to 9:15 a.m.

Moyers reported Johnson began to emerge from an anesthetic sleep less than an hour after the surgery by a medical team enlisted in part from the famed Mayo Clinic.

He said he himself had talked with the president about 11 a.m.

Moyers said the doctors told him the operation was "routine." There was no cardiac irregularity and the president's blood pressure remained normal throughout.

A month ago, Johnson suffered stomach pains that led medical experts to conclude—after extensive tests—that he had a poorly functioning gall bladder with stones.

Dr. George A. Hallenbeck of the Mayo Clinic, who performed the operation, said Johnson might be able to get out of bed later in the day—surely by Saturday. But, said Hallenbeck, the president won't feel good-as-new for perhaps six weeks.

Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey is remaining in Washington at least through the early stages of Johnson's hospital stay. He has authority to make any presidential decisions that might be necessary while Johnson is under anesthsia or later, in the event of any medical crisis that might disable the president.

Mrs. Johnson and their 18-year-old daughter, Luci Baines, spent the night in hospital, in rooms adjoining the president's third-floor suite.

Johnson's hospital stay is forecast for 10 to 14 days, to be followed by several weeks of reduced activity during recuperation either at the White House or, perhaps, his Texas ranch.

OTTAWA CONFERENCE TO LAUNCH BATTLE

War Against Crime Shaping

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Cardin announced today provincial attorneys-general will meet federal authorities here Dec. 2-3 to discuss all aspects of crime in Canada.

The decision to hold such a conference was taken July 22 at the federal-provincial conference here but exact dates were left to be settled through correspondence between Mr. Cardin and his provincial counterparts.

Mr. Cardin announced the dates in an interview but said details of the conference agenda must await further correspondence with the attorneys-general.

He said the agenda will be as "comprehensive and useful as possible."

Asked about a Quebec report that the conference is expected to discuss fraudulent bankruptcies and arson rackets, Mr. Cardin said it was possible these topics would be on the agenda, depending on whether any attorneys-general recommend their inclusion.

He estimated 25 to 30 officials will attend the conference and that heads of police associations likely will be invited.

Lime Pit Murders May Go to Ten

Fourth Victim Found

(Times News Services)

QUEBEC CITY — Quebec's lime pit murders totalled four today and Quebec Justice Minister Claude Wagner said he expects more bodies will be found.

"I don't know when it will end — whether there will be six murders, or seven, or ten or more," he said.

Police Thursday night found the body of Henri-Paul Chandonnet, 38, who was to have been a witness in arson and false bankruptcy cases now before the courts.

The body covered in quicklime, was in a thickly-wooded area near the village of Hamsud, Que., near Sherbrooke. Three bodies had earlier been found in quicklime near St. Gilles, 30 miles south of Quebec City.

All the murders have been tied by police to the arson and bankruptcy cases.

The latest victim was a close friend of suspected fraud and arson kingpin, Moise Darabaner, who has been sent to trial on two charges of arson and conspiracy for arson.

The justice department said the victim was a director of a company belonging to Darabaner.

Darabaner appeared in court this morning at Quebec City but the preliminary hearing was postponed until Oct. 15.

The charges involve a fire last May which badly damaged a building here housing offices of the roads department. Earlier this week Darabaner was ordered to stand trial on charges involving a 1961 fire at a home in nearby St. Lambert de Levis.

At Darabaner's preliminary hearing on those charges, witness Oliva Boulet testified he saw Robert Faucher shot and killed with a revolver, near St. Gilles, 30 miles south of here. The body of Faucher is one of four police have found in an alleged underworld killing spree to get rid of witnesses.

FRAUD CHARGE

Darabaner is scheduled for trial Oct. 12 on a fraud charge involving $115,000.

The arson charges against Darabaner and several other persons are the result of a provincial investigation into a series of fires believed to have involved arson in Quebec province over the last few years.

In an interview today, Justice Minister Wagner said that the fourth victim, Chandonnet, was a travelling salesman from Champigny, just outside Quebec City. He disappeared Sept 25.

On Sept. 27 he was shot to death by underworld gangsters and buried—covered with caustic lime—in a pit near the small village of Ham South about 40 miles north east of

'No Evidence MPs Linked With Offences'

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Cardin said Thursday night in a statement that the Montreal police have no information indicating any member of Parliament has committed, directly or indirectly, any offence in connection with any of the bankruptcy cases being investigated in Quebec.

He said: "I have been in touch with the deputy director of the Montreal police and he informs me that, contrary to certain press reports, the Montreal police have no information that indicates that any member of Parliament of any party has committed, directly or indirectly, any offence in connection with any of the bankruptcy cases they have investigated."

Mr. Cardin said there is nothing in bankruptcy documents in his department's files to indicate "that any offences or irregularities have been committed by any member of Parliament or other public servant."

Mr. Cardin said he was replying to statements made by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and Erik Nielsen, Conservative MP for the Yukon in the last Parliament.

RELATE TO COMPANIES

He said two of the three departmental files referred to by Mr. Nielsen relate to companies with which Max and Adolph Sefkind were associated.

"All three files contain routine financial reports. They do not contain any information related to any allegation of fraud or to any other aspect of the administration of the Bankruptcy Act."

RED ENSIGN FOR MANITOBA

WINNIPEG (CP)—Manitoba has received royal approval for its proposed provincial flag and the way now is clear for formal proclamation of the Provincial Flag Act, Premier Roblin announced today.

The flag is a red ensign with the provincial coat of arms on the fly.

PULSE OF THE NATION APPEARS SATURDAY

Canadian political scientist S. Peter Regenstreif, who forecast accurately the results of the last two federal elections, will again take the political pulse of the nation for Times readers.

Mr. Regenstreif, of the University of Rochester, is on a 10,000-mile coast-to-coast tour aimed at predicting what the Canadian voter is going to do on Nov. 8.

The first of his reports will appear on Saturday.

In 1962, Regenstreif forecast the minority Progressive Conservative government and the resurgence of the Social Credit party.

Just before the 1963 voting, he said the Liberals, "poised on the brink of a majority," would have a 35 seat edge over the Tories. Their margin was 34.

OVER RHODESIA

Talk Breakdown Sharpens Crisis

LONDON (AP) — Top-level talks aimed at settling the future of Rhodesia, Britain's central African colony, broke down tonight, posing the threat of a Rhodesian grab for independence.

A joint British-Rhodesian communique announcing the collapse said simply:

"Despite intensive discussion no means have been found of reconciling the opposing views.

"No further meeting has been arranged."

The statement was issued after Prime Ministers Wilson of Britain and Ian Smith of Rhodesia had tried for the second successive day to find some basis of compromise.

Smith emerged from a 2½-hour meeting with Wilson at 10 Downing Street and told correspondents the only agreement he had reached with Wilson was that "we have agreed to differ."

It was considered likely Smith would defy Britain and declare independence, bringing down on his head a British economic boycott.

No arrangements have yet been made for new exchanges, Smith said.

He told one questioner the two governments have "for the moment" reached the end.

"Has Rhodesia lost the battle?" another reporter asked. Smith replied slowly but firmly: "No, I wouldn't say that."

The big question dominating all thinking now is whether the empty-handed Smith and his fellow-ministers will fly back to Salisbury and fulfil their threats to seize independence for Rhodesia in defiance of Britain's legal right of veto.

In four days of intensive talking, Smith has run into a brick wall of British resistance to his demands Rhodesia be given independence unconditionally now.

FAILED TO PERSUADE

Wilson and his ministers have failed to persuade Smith to accept their terms for Rhodesian independence. Central condition is that the white-minority Smith government must recognize the inevitability of Negro majority rule in Rhodesia within the foreseeable future and must help to speed the process.

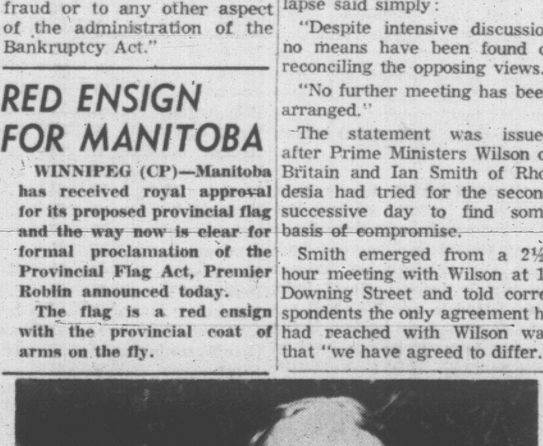
As the talks began British government spokesmen emphasized there is no question of Britain modifying its terms.

Most-Wanted Criminal Arrested

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial Police announced today the capture of Edwin Yule, 37, No. 1 on their list of 10 most wanted men.

He was arrested Thursday night a few hours after police had captured the third and fourth men on their list, Georges Normand and Andre Daoust.

Yule was sought following his escape in January, 1963, from the Verdun Protestant Hospital where he was being held after a coroner's jury found him criminally responsible but insane and unfit to stand trial for the 1951 rape and murder of a seven-year-old girl.



UP TO HIS EARS in popcorn, 22-month-old Douglas Curtis of Mount Holly, N.J., actually had a ball as he began gobbling up this giant treat made by his father, Bill. Dad explained that after he started to make the ball for his son he "sorta got carried away." (AP Wirephoto.)

Unotex Petroleum Pays Out $627,000

EDMONTON (CP) — Unotex Petroleum Ltd. Thursday paid $627,000 for petroleum and natural gas permits on land in the Cold Lake area of eastern Alberta.

The sum, paid for three parcels totalling about 53,000 acres, was the largest paid out by any company in the sale, which netted the Alberta government $1,061,695.

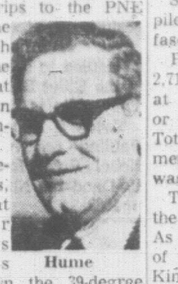
BUSINESS VIEWS

Mine 'Skip' Provides Real Thrill

By JIM HUME
Times Business Editor



Hume

For a cheap thrill people who can't afford trips to the PNE could try the "skip" which functions in the No. 1 shaft at the Sullivan Mine, at Kimberley.

It isn't designed for thrills, but that's what the amateur miner gets when he zips 1,000 feet down the 39-degree angle shaft at 1,620 feet per minute.

To Sullivan Mine underground workers the "skip" is just a means of getting to work. To the gathered white-skinned and somewhat flabby office workers visiting the mine Tuesday morning it was a breakfast-raising, head-ducking event unsurpassed since youthful rides on the Big Dipper at the local fun-fair.

After several sessions down small mines, the Sullivan is a little awe-inspiring. With its multi-tunnels, tramway systems, crushers, slushers, first-aid stations, powder magazines it is more like an underground city than a mine.

* * *

Some of the statistics compiled by Sullivan staffers make fascinating reading.

Production during 1964 was 2,710,832 tons of ore working out at 10,715 tons per working day or 7,407 tons per calendar day. Total production since commencement to December, 1964, was 91,623,659 tons.

That the mine is important to the economy of B.C. is obvious. As obvious as the importance of the mine to the economy of Kimberley in particular and the East Kootenays in general, for with 716 men on permanent payroll Sullivan's payroll keeps more than one small merchant in business.

B.C. Hydro reports that Vancouver Island is switching on the electricity and leaving it on—with greater frequency.

In an interim report Hydro says sales of permanent-type electric heating equipment in the Hydro service area has increased 570 per cent over last year in the first eight months of 1965.

The largest number of increase in the number of heating installations were experienced on Vancouver Island and the Interior.

On Vancouver Island the total sales in kilowatts over the eight-month period, with last year's figures in brackets, were 3,723 (620). In Metropolitan Vancouver by comparison the figures were 397 (92).

Shell Canada executive D. W. Smith, manager of Northern Division exploration, was careful with his phraseology when he addressed the Rotary Club at the Empress Thursday noon.

Talking on offshore drilling programs he touched lightly on the matter of rights and cleverly straddled that controversial fence.

". . . thus on the basis of a possible sedimentary basin . . . Shell Canada secured the petroleum exploration rights from the federal government on about 11 million acres in the offshore waters . . . this has since been increased to about 13 million acres . . . we later filed with the British Columbia government on the same acreage . . ."

Which reminds us, when will the ruling be handed down on the matter of offshore rights?

Not until well after the federal election, we suppose, for Premier Jean Lesage has indicated that his province, not recognizing the jurisdiction of the court, will fight a federally favorable ruling.

Premier Bennett hasn't gone quite that far, but he has left no doubt that he agrees with his Quebec counterpart that what oil or natural gas lies just off the B.C. coast belongs to the nearest province—not Ottawa.

RETIRING after 20 years as chief negotiator for Canada's 100,000 non-operating railroad workers is Frank Hall, 72. He said he will leave the railway labor scene gradually, remaining as an adviser for another 18 months. At that time his retirement as Canadian head of his own union, the International Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, becomes effective.

Wall Street flirted with historic highs in late trading today as prices advanced, following news that President Johnson's operation was successful. Trading was heavy.

Airlines and electronics were conspicuous gainers. Eastern Airlines rose more than two.

Prices were fractionally higher in all sections on the Toronto exchange.

Industrials moved ahead behind gains of ½ to Algoma Steel at 65, Canada Iron at 59½ and Oshawa wholesale A at 49½. Dominion Bridge jumped 1¼ to 28¼ and Bell Telephone ¼ to 58¼.

AT TORONTO papers were lower. Great Lakes dropped 1 to 21⅝, Consolidated ¼ to 38¾ and MacMillan, Bloedel and B.C. Forests ⅜ each to 29⅜ and 24⅝ respectviely.

Base metals spurted with Falconbridge up 1 to 104. Hudson Bay lent support for a gain of 1¼ at 69¾ while Noranda tacked on ⅝ at 50¼.

In oils, place, a speculative issue, traded actively in gaining 8 to 81 cents. Recent-favorite Banff dipped 15 cents to $7.30.

AT NEW YORK among electronics, Zenith and Raytheon spurted more than four, Motorola and Admiral about two each, Magnavox and Fairchield Camera three, Radio Corp. one.

KLM Airlines, up nearly five, was heavily traded. Texas Gulf Sulphur was active and up about two.

AT MONTREAL industrials and utilities were up but most other sections were off in moderately active trading today.

AT LONDON the market was quiet today and there was no definite trend to be seen. The Rhodesian situation was an unhelpful influence, especially in the mining section, although coppers were not as depressed as might have been expected.

AT VANCOUVER two stocks hit new highs for the year and two hit lows in moderate trade on the stock exchange up until noon today.

Highs were recorded by Aetna, up .03 to $1.33, and Croydon, which settled to .45, up once cent after a high of .46.

Chataway, off .05 to $1.15 and Canadian Breweries, off ⅛ to $7.87, hit lows for the year.

Northlodge led in volume selling 115,000 shares to rise .05 to .55. Vanmetals gained .03 to .19 on 78,500 shares.

GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Most of today's sparse activity on the Winnipeg grain exchange was in oilseeds, where prices were irregular to lower.

Export interest was quiet.

Flax was sharply lower, reflecting hedging sales, generally favorable prairie harvest weather and lack of export interest.

Rapeseed losses were less severe, due mainly to advances in Chicago soybean prices.

Oats, barley and rye moved narrowly in routine trade.

CHICAGO (AP)—A good milling demand for soybeans keyed the Board of Trade to firm prices through most of today's session.

There was even some buying of soybeans by traders who were encouraged by continued strong oil and meal quotations and hopeful that Monday's U.S. crop forecast will show some scaling down of previous production estimates.

The tone generally was good for other futures.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1965—PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

While the new 1966 chariots were still in embryo, I read that one of the networks planned a show to be titled, "My Mother, the Car", a circumstance that caused me to mutter, "Well I'll be a son of fastback, stick-shift, bucket-seated Wheezis!"

That particular model is now obsolete, of course, and has been since the day before yesterday, when its sponsors announced a new, exciting queen of the blacktop, with a longer, lower look, more horses under the hood, and an interior jam-packed with luxury (pronounced lugzury on TV).

As for the show with the disturbingly significant title, it's still lugging along, and so am I, on the same four wheels that rolled me on my errands before the automotive industry staged its annual extravaganza.

By so doing, I'm well aware that I threaten the North American economy, which is based solidly upon the premise that the union between man and car should be dissolved at two-year intervals or even oftener, and that only squares who have forgotten how to live young will keep an automobile longer.

This bothers me, especially during Unveiling Week, when the industry kicks through with a batch of those full-page display ads that put the jam on a newspaper guy's bread and butter.

★ ★ ★

Nobelesse oblige, the code whereby if you do something nice for me I'd better darn well reciprocate, urges me to head for automobile row; and some year soon, I will.

There are, however, difficulties. For one thing, the outside of my garage has become through the years a mere shell for a pretty complex interior structure.

This my present car fits like hand in glove. But what happens if I try to insert a vehicle of different dimensions into the arbitrarily defined space?

First, the lovely intruder nudges with her left front bumper tip a child's sled that has hung undisturbed from the wall since the last hard winter.

This swings, crashing into a stepladder on top of which sits the can of latex I meant to paint the roof gutters with a month or two ago. The can falls on the car hood, and, naturally, its lid flies off.

Meanwhile, the ladder has struck my herring rake, which triggers a complex reaction in the right rear corner of the garage.

This involves two sacks of ammonium sulphate, one of agricultural lime, a garden basket piled with flower pots, and an old boat-trailer hitch certain to catapult through that flawless, though now paint-spattered, windshield.

★ ★ ★

Another difficulty is that when I get within a block of a dealer's palace, my usually faithful car coughs, floods and stalls.

Then, while I'm lifting her bonnet, taking off her air cleaner and hammering on the knuckle that houses the needle valve, she talks to me.

"Hey, son," she says, "remember that time you ran me between two trees on what you claimed was a road and I knew was a deer trail? Remember how we couldn't go forward or back, and you kept spinning my hind wheels like an idiot, and then I gave one last wiggle . . .?"

"Sure," I growl, "and let's not forget how you threw that rod last June, and the time you chewed up your voltage regulator and burned out your lights, and the way if there's glass arounud, you tramp on it."

"We can't all be perfect," says she, and begins to whimper, keeping on until I promise to take her home. Then she purrs.

There was a time when I would have felt kind of silly, personalizing a car in this fashion; but that was before the advertising geniuses really turned on the heat.

Well, I haven't had a good walk in years, thanks to a fellow's best friend, so I think I'll stroll down to automobile row.

Not to buy, you understand. I'll just gaze through the show windows at the 1966 models in all their power and pride, glamour and lugzury, while whistling "Mammy" off-key between my teeth!

MAKE-BELIEVE victims of explosion at Rocky Point naval arsenal get fast first aid from naval firemen in National Fire Prevention Week exercise.

Watching workers hope such scenes always will remain in realm of fiction. But preparedness is necessary. (Strickland Photos.)

THREE 'VICTIMS'

Explosion Drill At Rocky Point

The situation was explosive at the navy's amunition depot at Rocky Point Thursday.

Shortly after noon three underwater demolition bombs "exploded," injuring three men.

There was no cause for alarm, though, because the navy's five-man first-aid team was on hand to deal with the simulated emergency.

The firefighters, 1963 provincial first-aid champions, were taking part in a demonstration designed to show employees at the depot exactly how a real emergency should be handled.

The mock disaster was arranged by Ken Soles and Howard Nelson, both employees of HMC Dockyard who are industrial first-aid experts.

●

The first explosion knocked the front off a building. Then the firemen, who were not aware exactly what was going to happen, entered the building and brought out one "casualty." Another "casualty" managed to get out on his own.

A few minutes later faint cries of help were heard coming from the building.

Firemen rushed back inside and brought out a third injured man.

The victims were expertly made-up to show injuries which included large blisters from burns, jagged edges of bones protruding from legs and arms and "blood" was flowing from several wounds.

MARILYN POULTON
. . . comforter

The RCN's Miss Fire Prevention, Marilyn Poulton, was also on hand to comfort the "victims" following the disaster.

The members of the first-aid team, under Captain Charles Williamson, are Bob Hull, Stan Armstrong, Cec White and Hardy Lane.

Mayor Suggests Downtown Sports Centre

By AB KENT
City Hall Reporter

Development of land adjoining Memorial Arena and Victoria Curling Club as a sports-convention-exhibition building was proposed today by Mayor R. B. Wilson.

He linked the plan with renewal of Royal Athletic Park facilities and a stadium at University of Victoria.

He said funds from the T. S. McPherson estate could be used to erect a 1,500-seat soccer stand and fire insurance money would construct stands for baseball at Royal Athletic.

This would cover the smaller organized sports and the proposed building uniting the curling rink and arena would take care of indoor sports such as basketball.

The building could also utilize McPherson money to provide what the mayor called "an admirable area for auto and equipment shows, conventions, large concerts and assemblies."

"You could walk under cover from Blanshard through to Quadra—a wonderful structure that would fulfill many community needs."

Rock from excavation could be used for a breakwater at Gonzales Bay, he suggested, improving small boating and beach recreation.

University Site for Stadium Backed

He said the scheme would augment a proposed outdoor sports stadium at University of Victoria, a compromise site for a Greater Victoria Confederation centennial project.

He called the university stadium, which a Uvic spokesman said would be formally proposed to Greater Victoria municipalities in about a week, "a very happy solution to what would appear to be a stalemate."

But the municipalities would have to have representation on a stadium board "to ensure fair use by the community," the mayor said.

The proposed university stadium would be built on about 40 acres of land on the northwest corner of Gordon Head campus. About $450,000 of centennial grants would be available if the plan were approved.

Saanich had opposed an earlier city-backed site at Topaz Park for stadium development, arguing that space limitations made it impractical.

But Reeves of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt speak favorably of the university site for stadium development.

"It makes a great deal of sense to me," Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich said.

"I think this is a very good solution to what seemed to be a deadlock . . . although I want to see it outlined in much more detail," said Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox.

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele said, "It sounds like a good idea . . . better than having the stadium in the city."

Both reeves said the proposal would be discussed formally by their councils.

Pat Frumento, chairman of Victoria Sports Council stadium committee which earlier supported the Saanich site, said he would prefer a civic rather than university stadium, unless it could be guaranteed that a control board would protect community sports interests.

Junior Naturalists Making Field Trip

The younger section of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Douglas and Hillside for a field trip to Langford Lake.

If it rains they will go to Francis Park.

Eror Errors, Wedding Struck Out

A Nanaimo girl's marriage plans have been shattered by a shoplifting spree from two city department stores, central court was told today.

Donna Lee Eror, 18, pleaded guilty Monday to taking clothing worth $71.23 from Woolco and $28.20 from Woodward's Saturday.

Miss Eror's fiancee, Gary Munro, 21, has pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft under $50.

They were to be married Saturday.

Miss Eror's lawyer told the court her wedding plans have "gone by the board."

Magistrate William Ostler said this was "not at all a bad idea. I can't imagine a worse beginning for a marriage," he said.

The girl was sentenced to a day in jail and placed on two years' probation and a $500 bond.

Two other Nanaimo youths were also charged in connection with the thefts.

A girl appeared in juvenile court and her boyfriend, Spencer B. Malthouse, was fined $100 and placed on $200 bond today.

Malthouse stole clothing valued at $4.24 from Woolco.

"Many people feel department shops are fair game. They think of shoplifting as a lark or a challenge," the magistrate said imposing sentence.

Council Approves Concrete Plant

A world-wide cement company's application to build a concrete mix plant on the Inner Harbor today got informal approval of Victoria city council and advisory planning commission.

Plans by Lafarge Cement, through its subsidiary Deeks-McBride Ltd., envisage spending up to $1,200,000 to develop former Sidney Roofing property at the west end of Johnson Street bridge.

Advisory planning commission earlier recommended the application to lease the property be denied because it would conflict with the long-range plans for harbor beautification and traffic routing.

JOINT MEETING

Lafarge of North America president James Sinclair of Vancouver, appeared before a joint meeting of council and the commiission to outline the firm's plans.

He said development would take place no sooner than a year's time, perhaps not for three years, depending on his company's competiitve position in Victoria.

Mr. Sinclair said he was surprised the application hit a snag when two other concrete plants are operating on the harbor within sight of the Sidney Roofing property.

IMPROVE APPEARANCE

Certain demolition, repair and paint-up work would be done almost immediately to improve appearance of the long-vacant property, he said.

Questioned by APC chairman James Genge, Mr. Sinclair said consideration could be given to providing a public viewpoint on the east end of the site to allow for an almost unique outlook across the harbor toward the legislative precinct and James Bay skyline.

Council and the commission later agreed that beautification of this spot would be a condition.

It would also be conditional to allow for alternative access to the property so that cement trucks would not further congest the bridge area.

Frustrating Wait for QOR Families

More than 100 soldiers' wives, children and friends, journeyed to Victoria International Airport at noon Thursday to meet a plane which didn't arrive.

After hanging around the airport for over two hours they were told the plane had been delayed 16 hours.

It finally reached the airport at 4 this morning and was met by about 50 soldiers' wives and few older children.

125 ABOARD

Aboard the plane were 125 officers and men of the First Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, returning from a six-month peace-keeping mission in Cyprus.

"The plane was delayed by bad weather over Marville, France," said a spokesman for the Armed Forces Information Office.

"This was unavoidable, but for some reason we were not advised of the delay until Thursday afternoon.

"We are trying to discover why the message was not relayed earlier."

It was the fifth since the RCAF began returning 650 members of the battalion last August.

The sixth, scheduled to arrive this afternoon, has also been delayed by bad weather. It is now expected to reach Victoria International Airport at 4 a.m. Saturday.

DUE SUNDAY

The seventh and final flight, bringing 88 soldiers and the battalion's equipment, is due at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. It had been scheduled to arrive at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Aboard the last flight will be Lieutenant-Colonel C. L. Kirby, who took command of the battalion last January.

THREE-DAY VACATION FOR CITY HALL CLOCK

Clock watchers will have one less clock to watch for about three days next week when the timepiece on city hall tower gets its first overhaul in 13 years.

F. W. Francis Ltd., jewelers, will dismantle the 80-year-old clock and bring the pieces down to ground level for maintenance.

Sentence Lengthened After Prison Fracas

Colquitz Jail inmate Gerald Brune was sentenced in city court today to one month for assaulting prison guard Frank Bedford.

He was convicted on Sept. 30. The fracas started when the guard tried to remove a writing board from the cell of another prisoner, John Lawrence Smith.

Both were imprisoned awaiting trial on other charges at the time. Smith began fighting with the guard and then Brune grabbed Bedford.

PEACEMAKER?

Brune's lawyer Alan Bigelow said Brune did not strike the guard "but was merely trying to hold the man so the fight could be stopped."

"Perhaps his role was minor, but discipline in prisons must be maintained," said Magistrate William Ostler in imposing sentence.

Smith was sentenced to four months for his part in the scuffle at an earlier hearing.

Dutch Atheists Still Await Acceptance

A Dutch couple who were refused Canadian citizenship because they wouldn't take the oath "So help me God," have been invited to a reception for new Canadian citizens next Wednesday.

Greater Victoria Citizenship Council has invited them to a coffee party in the new Y building following the swearing in of 32 new Canadians.

But Mr. and Mrs. Martin Vanderpol, 2758 Grainger, will not be sworn in. They will simply attend the reception as guests.

"It is a very nice gesture on the part of the Citizenship Council," Mr. Vanderpol said today. "At first I thought it meant we were to receive Canadian citizenship. This is not so. The Law Courts have received no word on our case."

Mr. Vanderpol said he is still awaiting word from Ottawa as to whether he and his wife can become Canadians without taking the oath "So help me God."

They were refused citizenship in Victoria County Court earlier this year when they told Judge Montague Drake they were atheists and could not conscientiously take the oath.

Judge Drake expressed regret but said he had to abide by the Citizenship Act.

A Dutch couple living in Caledonia, Ont. — Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bergsma — also refused to say "So help me God" in their application for citizenship because they said they were atheists.

Yet they will receive their papers next week.

When they were first refused citizenship, their case was brought up in Parliament by Dr. William Howe, NDP member for Hamilton South.

"In my opinion the Bergsmas have been shopping around for a sympathetic magistrate," Mr. Vanderpol said here.

OTTAWA CONFERENCE TO LAUNCH BATTLE

War Against Crime Shaping

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Cardin announced today provincial attorneys-general will meet federal authorities here Dec. 2-3 to discuss all aspects of crime in Canada.

The decision to hold such a conference was taken July 22 at the federal-provincial conference here but exact dates were left to be settled through correspondence between Mr. Cardin and his provincial counterparts.

Mr. Cardin announced the dates in an interview but said details of the conference agenda must await further correspondence with the attorneys-general.

He said the agenda will be as "comprehensive and useful as possible."

Asked about a Quebec report that the conference is expected to discuss fraudulent bankruptcies and arson rackets, Mr. Cardin said it was possible these topics would be on the agenda, depending on whether any attorneys-general recommend their inclusion.

He estimated 25 to 30 officials will attend the conference and that heads of police associations likely will be invited.

Moslem Youths Fire Indonesia's Red Quarters

JAKARTA (AP) — Young Moslem demonstrators burned the Indonesian Communist party's headquarters to the ground today in a riotous reaction to the leftist coup attempt last weekend.

Several thousand youths staged the raid, ignoring President Sukarno's efforts to protect the Communist party. Known as the PKI and claiming 3,000,000 members, it has been a powerful element in Sukarno's support.

Also ignored was a declaration by the Communists that they had nothing to do with the abortive uprising, led by Lt.-Col. Untung, a battalion commander of Sukarno's presidential guard.

The youths, demonstrating in a fashion developed by the Indonesian Communists, demanded dissolution of the party and its leader. They paraded with shouts of "To hell with the PKI" and "Long live America."

Indonesian troops who broke the back of the attempted coup last Friday, cordoned off streets leading to the PKI headquarters and made no attempt to interfere.

'KILL AIDIT'

The demonstrating youths shouted "Kill Aidit" and "Dissolve PKI." D. N. Aidit is the first secretary of the PKI. He has been out of sight since the coup failed last weekend.

(A Jakarta radio broadcast, heard in Kuala Lumpur, said 50,000 persons held an anti-Communist rally in Jakarta's main stadium today. The broadcast said "the rally was held in very tense atmosphere" and got somewhat out of hand when some of the crowd began to shout "Kill! Kill! Kill immediately!").

Most of the demonstrators were from Ansor, the youth wing of the biggest Moslem political group.

The Indonesian Army meanwhile continued its anti-Communist campaign despite President Sukarno's attempts to check it.

The army newspaper Berita Yudha reported the arrest of three Communist Youth Front members who it said had confessed taking part in the murder of six Indonesian army generals during the attempted coup last week.

Since martial law was proclaimed last Saturday, the army has had control of the capital and its suburbs.

Sukarno at a cabinet meeting at his summer palace in Bogor Wednesday said he disapproved of the army's anti-Communist campaign and declared, "we should not take revenge."

Marine police in Singapore today reported gunfire and explosions on the Indonesian island of Samboe, in the Riau archipelago 15 miles from Singapore.

A revolution appeared to be in progress," police sources said but they had no information.

NEW YORK (CP)—The United States today rejected France's suggestion that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization be divided into a European and a North American structure which would work together in defence of the Atlantic alliance nations.

Wayne L. Hays, head of a U.S. House of Representatives delegation to the NATO parliamentarians' conference, said "France is wrong in its approach" to the reform of the Atlantic alliance.

57 Deaths On Roads Predicted

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Highway Safety Council said Thursday the number of traffic deaths during the Thanksgiving Day weekend might total 57.

The council said in a statement relatively warm weather will draw more drivers to the highways.

Last year the weekend produced 40 deaths, 12 below the eight-year average of 52.

Oil Inferno On Cyprus Controlled

NICOSCIA, Cyprus (UPI) — British troops worked in shifts today to contain a multi-million dollar blazing inferno at a Shell Company oil depot in southeast Cyprus, believed started by Communist sympathizers.

The huge blaze which destroyed five storage tanks began Thursday morning after four masked raiders set time bombs at the depot 20 miles from here at Larnaca.

At one point late Thursday night, a strong wind blowing from the sea sent fears that the blaze would reach several other tanks in the enormous oil complex.

But the wind stopped and with it fears of a major catastrophe.

More than 150 troops from the British bases on the island worked in shifts with Cypriot firemen. The Royal Air Force also lent a hand by providing equipment and foam.

Greek Cypriot Interior Minister Polycarpos Georgadjis said "enemies of the people" were responsible for the blaze. No one was reported to have been injured.

TROOPS USE TEAR GAS IN ATTACK

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. paratroopers launched a big new operation on the fringe of the Viet Cong's D zone and used non-lethal tear gas, a U.S. military spokesman said.

No further details were immediately available on the gas attack.

In a major change of policy, the field commander had been authorized before the operation to use non-lethal tear gas if he deemed it necessary. The object was to flush out the Viet Cong without wounding or killing non-combatants.

A U.S. military spokesman said the Americans made "significant contact" with the enemy.

Thousands of U.S. troops combed a densely jungled area about 30 miles north of Saigon. Australian forces supported the operation.

B-52 bombers from Guam hammered the area twice before the U.S. ground offensive.

MOVE IN CONVOYS

The paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed by helicopter and moved into the Viet Cong area in convoys along Highway 13, near the district capital of Ben Cat.

The fighting was believed to have been heavy. A personnel carrier hit a Viet Cong mine and overturned. Casualties were reported moderate.

Informed sources said the authorization to use tear gas in the D zone operation was given by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, because it was felt that non-lethal gas was the most humane weapon that could be used in certain situations the paratroopers probably would encounter.

The Viet Cong often take cover among non-combatant civilians, many times among women and children, in the trench systems, underground holes that dot much of the countryside in D zone.

KIDNEY STONE, GALL BLADDER REMOVED

Johnson Doing Well After Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's gall bladder operation was performed without complications today and three hours later he was reported "doing well."

However, White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson, as would any patient recovering from a gall bladder operation, was "experiencing mild discomfort."

The operation itself went "beautifully and as expected" in the words of one of the doctors and was pronounced a "complete success."

The surgical team did find and remove a kidney stone in the ureter as well as removing the faulty gall bladder. The ureter is a passage through which urine is voided.

Johnson was in the operating room from 7 a.m. to 9:15 a.m.

Moyers reported Johnson began to emerge from an anesthetic sleep less than an hour after the surgery by a medical team enlisted in part from the famed Mayo Clinic.

He said he himself had talked with the president about 11 a.m.

Moyers said the doctors told him the operation was "routine." There was no cardiac irregularity and the president's blood pressure remained normal throughout.

A month ago, Johnson suffered stomach pains that led medical experts to conclude—after extensive tests—that he had a poorly functioning gall bladder with stones.

Dr. George A. Hallenbeck of the Mayo Clinic, who performed the operation, said Johnson might be able to get out of bed later in the day—surely by Saturday. But, said Hallenbeck, the president won't feel good-as-new for perhaps six weeks.

Vice - President Hubert H. Humphrey is remaining in Washington at least through the early stages of Johnson's hospital stay. He has authority to make any presidential decisions that might be necessary while Johnson is under anesthsia or later, in the event of any medical crisis that might disable the president.

Mrs. Johnson and their 18-year-old daughter, Luci Baines, spent the night in hospital, in rooms adjoining the president's third-floor suite.

Johnson's hospital stay is forecast for 10 to 14 days, to be followed by several weeks of reduced activity during recuperation either at the White House or, perhaps, his Texas ranch.

Lime Pit Murders May Go to Ten

Fourth Victim Found

(Times News Services)

QUEBEC CITY — Quebec's lime pit murders totalled four today and Quebec Justice Minister Claude Wagner said he expects more bodies will be found.

"I don't know when it will end — whether there will be six murders, or seven, or ten or more," he said.

Police Thursday night found the body of Henri-Paul Chandonnet, 38, who was to have been a witness in arson and false bankruptcy cases now before the courts.

The body covered in quicklime, was in a thickly-wooded area near the village of Hamsud, Que., near Sherbrooke. Three bodies had earlier been found in quicklime near St. Gilles, 30 miles south of Quebec City.

All the murders have been tied by police to the arson and bankruptcy cases.

The latest victim was a close friend of suspected fraud and arson kingpin, Moise Darabaner, who has been sent to trial on two charges of arson and conspiracy for arson.

The justice department said the victim was a director of a company belonging to Darabaner.

Darabaner appeared in court this morning at Quebec City but the preliminary hearing was postponed until Oct. 15.

The charges involve a fire last May which badly damaged a building here housing offices of the roads department. Earlier this week Darabaner was ordered to stand trial on charges involving a 1961 fire at a home in nearby St. Lambert de Levis.

At Darabaner's preliminary hearing on those charges, witness Oliva Boulet testified he saw Robert Faucher shot and killed with a revolver near St. Gilles, 30 miles south of here. The body of Faucher is one of four police have found in an alleged underworld killing spree to get rid of witnesses.

FRAUD CHARGE

Darabaner is scheduled for trial Oct. 12 on a fraud charge involving $115,000.

The arson charges against Darabaner and several other persons are the result of a provincial investigation into a series of fires believed to have involved arson in Quebec province over the last few years.

In an interview today, Justice Minister Wagner said that the fourth victim, Chandonnet, was a travelling salesman from Champigny, just outside Quebec City. He disappeared Sept 25.

On Sept. 27 he was shot to death by underworld gangsters and buried—covered with caustic lime—in a pit near the small village of Ham South about 40 miles north east of

'No Evidence MPs Linked With Offences'

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Cardin said Thursday night in a statement that the Montreal police have no information indicating any member of Parliament has committed, directly or indirectly, any offence in connection with any of the bankruptcy cases being investigated in Quebec.

He said: "I have been in touch with the deputy director of the Montreal police and he informs me that, contrary to certain press reports, the Montreal police have no information that indicates that any member of Parliament of any party has committed, directly or indirectly, any offence in connection with any of the bankruptcy cases they have investigated."

Mr. Cardin said there is nothing in bankruptcy documents in his department's files to indicate "that any offences or irregularities have been committed by any member of Parliament or other public servant."

Mr. Cardin said he was replying to statements made by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and Erik Nielsen, Conservative MP for the Yukon in the last Parliament.

RELATE TO COMPANIES

He said two of the three departmental files referred to by Mr. Nielsen relate to companies with which Max and Adolph Sefkind were associated.

"All three files contain routine financial reports. They do not contain any information related to any allegation of fraud or to any other aspect of the administration of the Bankruptcy Act."

RED ENSIGN FOR MANITOBA

WINNIPEG (CP)—Manitoba has received royal approval for its proposed provincial flag and the way now is clear for formal proclamation of the Provincial Flag Act, Premier Roblin announced today.

The flag is a red ensign with the provincial coat of arms on the fly.

PULSE OF THE NATION APPEARS SATURDAY

Canadian political scientist S. Peter Regenstreif, who forecast accurately the results of the last two federal elections, will again take the political pulse of the nation for Times readers.

Mr. Regenstreif, of the University of Rochester, is on a 10,000-mile coast-to-coast tour aimed at predicting what the Canadian voter is going to do on Nov. 8.

The first of his reports will appear on Saturday.

In 1962, Regenstreif forecast the minority Progressive Conservative government and the resurgence of the Social Credit party.

Just before the 1963 voting, he said the Liberals, "poised on the brink of a majority," would have a 35 seat edge over the Tories. Their margin was 34.

OVER RHODESIA

Talk Breakdown Sharpens Crisis

LONDON (AP) — Top-level talks aimed at settling the future of Rhodesia, Britain's central African colony, broke down tonight, posing the threat of a Rhodesian grab for independence.

A joint British-Rhodesian communique announcing the collapse said simply:

"Despite intensive discussion no means have been found of reconciling the opposing views.

"No further meeting has been arranged."

The statement was issued after Prime Ministers Wilson of Britain and Ian Smith of Rhodesia had tried for the second successive day to find some basis of compromise.

Smith emerged from a 2½-hour meeting with Wilson at 10 Downing Street and told correspondents the only agreement he had reached with Wilson was that "we have agreed to differ."

It was considered likely Smith would defy Britain and declare independence, bringing down on his head a British economic boycott.

No arrangements have yet been made for new exchanges, Smith said.

He told one questioner the two governments have "for the moment" reached the end.

"Has Rhodesia lost the battle?" another reporter asked. Smith replied slowly but firmly, "No, I wouldn't say that."

The big question dominating all thinking now is whether the empty-handed Smith and his fellow-ministers will fly back to Salisbury and fulfil their threats to seize independence for Rhodesia in defiance of Britain's legal right of veto.

In four days of intensive talking, Smith has run into a brick wall of British resistance to his demands Rhodesia be given independence unconditionally now.

FAILED TO PERSUADE

Wilson and his ministers have failed to persuade Smith to accept their terms for Rhodesian independence. Central condition is that the white-minority Smith government must recognize the inevitability of Negro majority rule in Rhodesia within the foreseeable future and must help to speed the process.

As the talks began British government spokesmen emphasized there is no question of Britain modifying its terms.

Most-Wanted Criminal Arrested

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial Police announced today the capture of Edwin Yule, 37, No. 1 on their list of 10 most wanted men.

He was arrested Thursday night a few hours after police had captured the third and fourth men on their list, Georges Normand and Andre Daoust.

Yule was sought following his escape in January, 1963, from the Verdun Protestant Hospital where he was being held after a coroner's jury found him criminally responsible but insane and unfit to stand trial for the 1951 rape and murder of a seven-year-old girl.

Two Men Missing In Plane

COMOX—An RCAF Albatross with a para-rescue team aboard left here today in search of a missing pilot and his passenger.

The pilot, G. Moore, of Bellevue, Wash., was reported missing in his single seater plane at 6 p.m. Thursday.

That was the time he was due to land in Calgary on a flight from his home-town.

His radio was last heard as he passed over Kimberley, B.C., but attempts to contact him failed.

A quick check of airports both sides of the border failed to find any trace of the missing men.

The passenger was identified as Harvey Ringe. His address is not known.

In addition to the Comox rescue team, other search craft joined in the hunt today.

Training Camp Open

LAKE COWICHAN—A logging camp complete with bunkhouse, cookhouse and fully equipped logging operation has been set up near here to teach men to be loggers.

The vocational training course began Monday.

Twenty students were billeted under remote camp conditions at Nanaimo army camp.

After two weeks of classroom instruction the logging students will be taken to a prepared logging site on Wolf Mountain.

There is 400,000 board feet of Crown timber there for a "classroom."

Chief instructor Michael Severn of Duncan has six assistants who could graduate up to 24 classes a year.

The curriculum includes working in the field with wooden spar rig-ups and steel spars, cat logging, power saw instruction, rigging, yarding and loading. Pass is 75 per cent.

Mr. Severn said: "Students will graduate as fully-fledged chokermen and logging companies will later provide on-the-job training."

Pair Facing Trial

CHEMAINUS—Gerald Morgan, 28, of Nanaimo, and Trevor McLeod, 23, of Chemainus, have been committed for trial charged with the attempted rape of a 19-year-old Ladysmith girl.

They will appear at the next Nanaimo Assize Court.

Morgan and McLeod were committed after a two-day preliminary hearing.

Accidental Death

CHEMAINUS—A verdict of accidental death was returned here Thursday night by a jury investigating the death of Frank Eastwood, 58, of Chemainus.

Eastwood died September 23 in Royal Jubilee Hospital, Victoria, after suffering multiple injuries.

He was working as a swamper at Chemainus sawmill when heavy timbers fell on him from a loading machine.

Expansion Program

MILL BAY—More facilities rather than more students is the aim of a $250,000 expansion program at Brentwood College.

Headmaster David MacKenzie said despite construction of a new $136,000 dormitory the school will expand its capacity of 178 boys by only a dozen.

Brentwood College was reopened in 1961 after being closed since 1948 following fire.

A fund drive started in June has raised $250,000 and the program now under way includes a $60,000 science block and a playing field besides the new 55-bed dormitory. Existing facilities will be improved.

Before the fire destroyed the boys' school in 1947 the college was at Brentwood. It later took over the site and buildings formerly occupied by the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay.

25 Cars Towed Away

DUNCAN—If you can't or won't read then your night school fees here can go up by $5.50 a night.

Motorists who ignored warning signs in Cowichan High School grounds this week found their cars impounded.

Monday night three wreckers were busy in the school yard. Twenty-five cars were towed away.

Tow truck drivers were acting on instructions from the school board and RCMP.

Parking at the school, a problem for some time, was brought to a head this week.

Volunteer firemen turned out to practice on the school roof but couldn't get the fire truck near the building because of illegally-parked cars.

Council Leans Toward Marina

NORTH COWICHAN—Municipal council Wednesday voted 5 to 2 to give a third reading to the controversial bylaw rezoning 25 acres at Genoa Bay for a marina and mobile home village development.

Final reading comes up in two weeks.

If the vote remains the same the bylaw will have the necessary two-thirds majority.

At Wednesday's meeting, Coun. Elaine Dobbyn added her opposition to the previously lone dissenting voice of Coun. Gerry Smith.

Mrs. Dobbyn said she was persuaded by the strong opposition of Maple Bay residents.

After the meeting she said: "I feel public opinion is worth consideration. "It is almost impossible to control pollution from over 100 boats which would be attracted by the proposed marina."

Reeve Donald Morton said it was the most solemn council meeting he ever attended.

Spokesman for a residents' delegation, Mrs. Wanda Varty, said if the area was rezoned, development should be contingent on council approving detailed plans for water supply and sanitation.

Nanaimo Approves Spending

NANAIMO—City voters Thursday gave the go-ahead for a $1,250,000 five-year capital improvement plan and a $55,000 bus purchase referendum.

In all, 2,279 taxpayers voted, 36.8 per cent of those eligible. They passed the bylaw with a 71.04 per cent majority—1,590 to 648.

The referendum was passed with a 72.4 per cent majority—1,623 to 618.

Biggest job to be handled under the five-year plan is street improvement throughout the city at a cost of $608,000.

A further $125,000 will go towards a new firehall and equipment.

A recreation complex is scheduled for Bowen Park, accounting for another $112,000. A $40,000 senior governments grant will pay the remaining cost of this project.

POLICE STATION

Police station and magistrates court will be extended for $78,000.

Another $20,000 will help renovate the civic arena, while smaller amounts will help complete the city works yard, provide a caretaker's building at the cemetery, install automatic signals at all rail crossings and renew downtown ornamental street lighting.

The bus bylaw will allow city to borrow up to $55,000 to buy new buses for Nanaimo Transit Ltd.

The transit company will repay the loan annually with interest.

Said Mayor Pete Maffeo today: "The voters have shown their confidence in our plans. We can now go ahead with those plans."

Referendum Slated For Open Hearing

CHEMAINUS—Members of the public will be given details of a $1,398,600 school referendum—to be voted on Nov. 6—at a public meeting in Chemainus secondary school auditorium Oct. 16. Sponsored by Chemainus Ratepayers' Association, the meeting begins at 8 p.m.

RUSSIANS POACHING B.C. FISH?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Russian fishing vessels were intercepted within Canada's 12-mile fishing limit off the west coast Thursday morning, Fisheries Minister Robichaud disclosed.

He said fisheries' patrol ships ordered the Russian boats to move outside the limit and the Russians "obeyed the orders."

Mr. Robichaud made the disclosure during a hurried press conference Thursday night at which he was asked about Russian and Japanese catches off the west coast of North America.

He did not say how many Russian ships were involved and did not pinpoint the area in which they were found.

Chum Fishing One Day Only In Fraser River

VANCOUVER (CP)—A one-day opening of the Fraser River for chum salmon fishing next week was announced Thursday by Fisheries Minister Robichaud.

The minister told a press conference fishing for chum will be permitted on the river for 24 hours from 8 a.m. Tuesday to 8 a.m. Wednesday.

However, he stressed that only the Fraser would be open and the 12-mile fishing "blue" line would remain closed.

The minister said his department had investigated complaints by B.C. fishermen that chum fishing had been restricted to 24 hours this year while United States boats had three days a week in the Strait of Juan de Fuca. These boats were said to be taking chum salmon bound for Canadian rivers.

Mr. Robichaud said his department had warned fishermen earlier that restrictions would be imposed because of a poor chum run in 1961.

Reserve Asked Near Wharf For Boat Basin

CROFTON—Ratepayers here have asked the provincial government to reserve a foreshore lease near the government wharf for construction of a public boat basin.

The ratepayers are also asking North Cowichan municipality to make the upland area above the proposed boat basin into park land.

The stretch of foreshore in question was subject of a protest petition earlier this year when Pacific Logging Co. wanted to use it for log storage.

Council killed the company's plans when it announced the foreshore in question was zoned commercially.

Chemainus Water 'Dirty, Smelly'

CHEMAINUS—Dozens of local residents drove to the provincial highway drinking fountain to get their water supply recently.

Coun. Gerry Smith said Wednesday this indicated how bad the water was for a three-week period during the extremely dry spell.

He said this week's rains improved the situation.

However, he asked municipal council what steps were being taken to effect a permanent improvement.

Coun. Smith said he received complaints from Chemainus hospital as well as many private householders.

The water supply was dirty and smelly, he said.

Public works chairman George Whittaker promised engineering examination of three alternatives to bring about improvement.

NORTH COWICHAN—Somenos residents are giving it a third try to get an improved water supply.

Twice this year Bell-McKinnon Road residents have defeated a bylaw proposing to extend Duncan city water into the area.

Wednesday, Somenos Water Extension Committee asked North Cowichan council to consider the feasibility of a system of deep water-wells.

The committee said there are examples in the province of such systems to service pockets of urban development.

Reeve Donald Morton agreed to raise the question at a meeting today with the municipality's consulting engineers.

Small Boats Busy Rescue Men

The RCAF Rescue Co-ordination Centre in Vancouver handled a total of 508 incidents from June to September of this year, Search and Rescue officials revealed today.

Included in the June-September figures are 339 marine incidents, 28 aircraft incidents, 34 missing persons and mercy flights and 107 communication checks.

Overall, tabulating the figures from January, 1965, to September, the Rescue Centre has handled 800 incidents this year, an increase of 121 incidents over the 1964 figures.

Squadron Leader R. H. Strouts, officer commanding the Rescue Centre attributes the increase to the generally fine weather experienced during the summer months this year and an increase in the numbers of small boat owners in B.C.

Meet Doug Richards

He starts with finished engines

Doug Richards is foreman of the engine 'customizing' department at Finning. He takes the power of factory finished Caterpillar engines and makes it do precisely what the customer wants.

For example, the 765 h.p. giants in our picture are being modified to provide electricity for three of B.C.'s model industrial cities.

By the same token, four similar engines are being used to carry a 3000 h.p. punch to a big new tug boat's single prop.

Yet other Caterpillar engines (from 50 h.p. up) might become electric sets for microwave communications installations. Sample specifications: no load to full load instantaneously applied and no more than 1% variance in engine speed.

Or they may be tapped for duty as standby generators. Cut-in time: 7 seconds. (Doug plays it safe and makes sure they do it in four.)

There are many 'customizing' possibilities and Doug Richards is on top of every one. Not by accident. He has had 14 years job experience at Finning plus special service courses and five years night school. He will be 33 next birthday.

It is men like this who have made Finning a company that's big where it counts most . . . in thinking and capability.

NEW ROLE FOR B.C. KILLER WHALE

Namu to Star in Motion Picture

SEATTLE (AP)—Namu, the killer whale, is going to take a crack at the movies.

Ivan Tors Films Inc., producer of the television show about Flipper, the talented dolphin, has started work on a motion picture of Namu, who was caught off the B.C. coast and towed to a Seattle Aquarium last summer.

Robert F. Blumofe, vice president in charge of west coast operations for United Artists, said his organization has completed arrangements with Tors for a film featuring the four-ton, 22-foot whale.

Namu is holed up for the winter in Rich Cove, near Port Orchard, across Puget Sound from Seattle. A pier and a camera scaffold are being built there.

Ted Griffin, Namu's owner, has started training the whale for the film and he probably will double for the actors in scenes in the water with Namu.

OLD YELLER
Family Entertainment
Capitol Theatre

Possibly no man has done more to encourage kindness to animals than Walt Disney. And no man has earned more dollars doing so.

With remarkable astuteness, Mr. Disney brings back one of his best films whenever he feels a new generation is ready for it. Old Yeller is a notable example. It was last shown eight years ago and is now being seen for the first time by millions of young enthusiasts.

Old Yeller (as many will remember) is a big, battle-scarred stray mongrel who shows up at a homestead in pioneer Texas during the 1860s.

The man of the house (Fess Parker) is just leaving on a cattle drive to Kansas and entrusts the care of his wife Dorothy McGuire) and their six-year-old (Kevin Corcoran) to their teen-age son (Tommy Kirk).

But it is Old Yeller who protects them all, and his battle with a 500-pound bear is one of the highlights of the film. The action calls for him to stand off an enraged mother bear long enough for the six-year-old to be rescued from her clutches.

* * *

Later, the big dog battles a savage loafer wolf and takes on a mob of vicious, half-wild hogs. As in most Disney films, the animal photography is superb and the cast includes bears, deer, frogs, raccoons, wolves, cows, horses, squirrels, buzzards, mules and a horned toad.

An early sequence shows a startled squirrel running across a log at the very moment two frogs are seen jumping in a pond. There are many ingenious photographic tricks of this kind but, for sheer excitement, nothing can equal the scrap between the bear and the dog.

Kevin Corcoran is delightful as the six-year-old boy, and Jeff York contributes to the comedy element as a paunchy, ne'er-do-well farmer with a talent for dodging work.

Basen on a novel by Fred Gipson, the film was directed by Robert Stevenson and has an appropriate musical score by Oliver Wallace.

U.S. Plane Missing, China Claim Checked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. defence department said Wednesday a U.S. Air Force F-105 attack plane is missing on a bombing mission in North Viet Nam but that "at this time available information does not substantiate" China's claim that American planes flew over Chinese territory.

A Peking broadcast Tuesday said one of four U.S. planes intruding into Kwangsi province, which borders North Viet Nam, was shot down.

They laughed when they saw a Scot start to make gin.

He smiled.

In 1769, all London had a great laugh at the idea of a Scot trying to beat the English at their own game. Making gin.

But Alexander Gordon was a spirited man. With a line of spirited ancestors that reached clear back into Scottish antiquity.

And so, while London laughed, he smiled a knowing smile.

The rest is history—how a Scot made English gin famous the world over.

Today, Gordon's is the best-selling gin in the world. Because Gordon's descendants are as canny as he was:

Nobody but Gordon's makes Gordon's Gin, no matter where it's made—and it's made in nine different countries, including Canada.

The exact and original formula is never varied for any reason whatsoever. Ever.

And nobody but Gordon's can approve the finished gin for bottling.

Now, some people won't understand all this fuss about making good gin. But you understand, don't you? You like gin. So do we.

Arthur Mayse

While the new 1966 chariots were still in embryo, I read that one of the networks planned a show to be titled, "My Mother, the Car", a circumstance that caused me to mutter, "Well I'll be a son of fastback, stick-shift, bucket-seated Wheezis!"

That particular model is now obsolete, of course, and has been since the day before yesterday, when its sponsors announced a new, exciting queen of the blacktop, with a longer, lower look, more horses under the hood, and an interior jam-packed with luxury (pronounced lugzury on TV).

As for the show with the disturbingly significant title, it's still lugging along, and so am I, on the same four wheels that rolled me on my errands before the automotive industry staged its annual extravaganza.

By so doing, I'm well aware that I threaten the North American economy, which is based solidly upon the premise that the union between man and car should be dissolved at two-year intervals or even oftener, and that only squares who have forgotten how to live young will keep an automobile longer.

This bothers me, especially during Unveiling Week, when the industry kicks through with a batch of those full-page display ads that put the jam on a newspaper guy's bread and butter.

★ ★ ★

Nobelesse oblige, the code whereby if you do something nice for me I'd better darn well reciprocate, urges me to head for automobile row; and some year soon, I will.

There are, however, difficulties. For one thing, the outside of my garage has become through the years a mere shell for a pretty complex interior structure.

This my present car fits like hand in glove. But what happens if I try to insert a vehicle of different dimensions into the arbitrarily defined space?

First, the lovely intruder nudges with her left front bumper tip a child's sled that has hung undisturbed from the wall since the last hard winter.

This swings, crashing into a stepladder on top of which sits the can of latex I meant to paint the roof gutters with a month or two ago. The can falls on the car hood, and, naturally, its lid flies off.

Meanwhile, the ladder has struck my herring rake, which triggers a complex reaction in the right rear corner of the garage.

This involves two sacks of ammonium sulphate, one of agricultural lime, a garden basket piled with flower pots, and an old boat-trailer hitch certain to catapult through that flawless, though now paint-spattered, windshield.

★ ★ ★

Another difficulty is that when I get within a block of a dealer's palace, my usually faithful car coughs, floods and stalls.

Then, while I'm lifting her bonnet, taking off her air cleaner and hammering on the knuckle that houses the needle valve, she talks to me.

"Hey, son," she says, "remember that time you ran me between two trees on what you claimed was a road and I knew was a deer trail? Remember how we couldn't go forward or back, and you kept spinning my hind wheels like an idiot, and then I gave one last wiggle . . ?"

"Sure," I growl, "and let's not forget how you threw that rod last June, and the time you chewed up your voltage regulator and burned out your lights, and the way if there's glass arounud, you tramp on it."

"We can't all be perfect," says she, and begins to whimper, keeping on until I promise to take her home. Then she purrs.

There was a time when I would have felt kind of silly, personalizing a car in this fashion; but that was before the advertising geniuses really turned on the heat.

Well, I haven't had a good walk in years, thanks to a fellow's best friend, so I think I'll stroll down to automobile row.

Not to buy, you understand. I'll just gaze through the show windows at the 1966 models in all their power and pride, glamour and lugzury, while whistling "Mammy" off-key between my teeth.

MAKE-BELIEVE victims of explosion at Rocky Point naval arsenal get fast first aid from naval firemen in National Fire Prevention Week exercise. Watching workers hope such scenes always will remain in realm of fiction. But preparedness is necessary. (Strickland Photos.)

INJURIES of simulated victims at explosion drill at Rocky Point naval arsenal Thursday were realistic enough to cause shudders. Navy firemen first-aiders rescued the "victims" from building demolished by fake blast.

THREE 'VICTIMS'

Explosion Drill At Rocky Point

The situation was explosive at the navy's amunition depot at Rocky Point Thursday.

Shortly after noon three underwater demolition bombs "exploded," injuring three men.

There was no cause for alarm, though, because the navy's five-man first-aid team was on hand to deal with the simulated emergency.

The firefighters, 1963 provincial first-aid champions, were taking part in a demonstration designed to show employees at the depot exactly how a real emergency should be handled.

The mock disaster was arranged by Ken Soles and Howard Nelson, both employees of HMC Dockyard who are industrial first-aid experts.

●

The first explosion knocked the front off a building.

Then the firemen, who were not aware exactly what was going to happen, entered the building and brought out one "casualty." Another "casualty" managed to get out on his own.

A few minutes later faint cries of help were heard coming from the building.

Firemen rushed back inside and brought out a third injured man.

The victims were expertly made-up to show injuries which included large blisters from burns, jagged edges of bones protruding from legs and arms and "blood" was flowing from several wounds.

The RCN's Miss Fire Prevention, Marilyn Poulton, was also on hand to comfort the "victims" following the disaster.

Mayor Suggests Downtown Sports Centre

By AB KENT
City Hall Reporter

Development of land adjoining Memorial Arena and Victoria Curling Club as a sports-convention-exhibition building was proposed today by Mayor R. B. Wilson.

He linked the plan with renewal of Royal Athletic Park facilities and a stadium at University of Victoria.

He said funds from the T. S. McPherson estate could be used to erect a 1,500-seat soccer stand and fire insurance money would construct stands for baseball at Royal Athletic.

This would cover the smaller organized sports and the proposed building uniting the curling rink and arena would take care of indoor sports such as basketball.

The building could also utilize McPherson money to provide what the mayor called "an admirable area for auto and equipment shows, conventions, large concerts and assemblies."

"You could walk under cover from Blanshard through to Quadra—a wonderful structure that would fulfill many community needs."

Rock from excavation could be used for a breakwater at Gonzales Bay, he suggested, improving small boating and beach recreation.

University Site for Stadium Backed

He said the scheme would augment a proposed outdoor sports stadium at University of Victoria, a compromise site for a Greater Victoria Confederation centennial project.

He called the university stadium, which a Uvic spokesman said would be formally proposed to Greater Victoria municipalities in about a week, "a very happy solution to what would appear to be a stalemate."

But the municipalities would have to have representation on a stadium board "to ensure fair use by the community," the mayor said.

The proposed university stadium would be built on about 40 acres of land on the northwest corner of Gordon Head campus. About $450,000 of centennial grants would be available if the plan were approved.

Saanich had opposed an earlier city-backed site at Topaz Park for stadium development, arguing that space limitations made it impractical.

But Reeves of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt speak favorably of the university site for stadium development.

"It makes a great deal of sense to me," Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich said.

"I think this is a very good solution to what seemed to be a deadlock . . . although I want to see it outlined in much more detail," said Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox.

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele said, "It sounds like a good idea . . . better than having the stadium in the city."

Both reeves said the proposal would be discussed formally by their councils.

Pat Frumento, chairman of Victoria Sports Council stadium committee which earlier supported the Saanich site, said he would prefer a civic rather than university stadium, unless it could be guaranteed that a control board would protect community sports interests.

Junior Naturalists Making Field Trip

The younger section of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Douglas and Hillside for a field trip to Langford Lake.

If it rains they will go to Francis Park.

Eror Errors, Wedding Struck Out

A Nanaimo girl's marriage plans have been shattered by a shoplifting spree from two city department stores, central court was told today.

Donna Lee Eror, 18, pleaded guilty Monday to taking clothing worth $71.23 from Woolco and $28.20 from Woodward's Saturday.

Miss Eror's fiancee, Gary Munro, 21, has pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft under $50.

They were to be married Saturday.

Miss Eror's lawyer told the court her wedding plans have "gone by the board."

Magistrate William Ostler said this was "not at all a bad idea. I can't imagine a worse beginning for a marriage," he said.

The girl was sentenced to a day in jail and placed on two years' probation and a $500 bond.

Two other Nanaimo youths were also charged in connection with the thefts.

A girl appeared in juvenile court and her boyfriend, Spencer B. Malthouse, was fined $100 and placed on $200 bond today.

Malthouse stole clothing valued at $4.24 from Woolco.

"Many people feel department shops are fair game. They think of shoplifting as a lark or a challenge," the magistrate said imposing sentence.

Council Approves Concrete Plant

A world-wide cement company's application to build a concrete mix plant on the Inner Harbor today got informal approval of Victoria city council and advisory planning commission.

Plans by Lafarge Cement, through its subsidiary Deeks-McBride Ltd., envisage spending up to $1,200,000 to develop former Sidney Roofing property at the west end of Johnson Street bridge.

Advisory planning commission earlier recommended the application to lease the property be denied because it would conflict with the long-range plans for harbor beautification and traffic routing.

JOINT MEETING

Lafarge of North America president James Sinclair of Vancouver, appeared before a joint meeting of council and the commission to outline the firm's plans.

He said development would take place no sooner than a year's time, perhaps not for three years, depending on his company's competiitve position in Victoria.

Mr. Sinclair said he was surprised the application hit a snag when two other concrete plants are operating on the harbor within sight of the Sidney Roofing property.

IMPROVE APPEARANCE

Certain demolition, repair and paint-up work would be done almost immediately to improve appearance of the long-vacant property, he said.

Questioned by APC chairman James Genge, Mr. Sinclair said consideration could be given to providing a public viewpoint on the east end of the site to allow for an almost unique outlook across the harbor toward the legislative precinct and James Bay skyline.

Council and the commission later agreed that beautification of this spot would be a condition.

It would also be conditional to allow for alternative access to the property so that cement trucks would not further congest the bridge area.

NEWFIE SQUID JIGGER WHERE Y' TO?

Are there any Newfoundlanders living in Victoria?

Rev. Albert E. King of Metropolitan United Church would like to know, because he is holding a special Newfoundland Night service at 7:30 Sunday.

"It seems very hard to find anyone from Newfoundland out here," he said, "but I feel sure there must be some."

If possible, Mr. King would like a Newfoundlander to read the Scripture.

WEATHER DELAYS PLANES

Frustrating Wait for QOR Families

More than 100 soldiers' wives, children and friends, journeyed to Victoria International Airport at noon Thursday to meet a plane which didn't arrive.

After hanging around the airport for over two hours they were told the plane had been delayed 16 hours.

It finally reached the airport at 4 this morning and was met by about 50 soldiers' wives and few older children.

125 ABOARD

Aboard the plane were 125 officers and men of the First Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, returning from a six-month peace-keeping mission in Cyprus.

"The plane was delayed by bad weather over Marville, France," said a spokesman for the Armed Forces Information Office.

"This was unavoidable, but for some reason we were not advised of the delay until Thursday afternoon.

"We are trying to discover why the message was not relayed earlier."

It was the fifth since the RCAF began returning 650 members of the battalion last August.

The sixth, scheduled to arrive this afternoon, has also been delayed by bad weather. It is now expected to reach Victoria International Airport at 4 a.m. Saturday.

DUE SUNDAY

The seventh and final flight, bringing 88 soldiers and the battalion's equipment, is due at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. It had been scheduled to arrive at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Aboard the last flight will be Lieutenant-Colonel C. L. Kirby, who took command of the battalion last January.

THREE-DAY VACATION FOR CITY HALL CLOCK

Clock watchers will have one less clock to watch for about three days next week when the timepiece on city hall tower gets its first overhaul in 13 years.

F. W. Francis Ltd., jewelers, will dismantle the 80-year-old clock and bring the pieces down to ground level for maintenance.

Sentence Lengthened After Prison Fracas

Colquitz Jail inmate Gerald Brune was sentenced in city court today to one month for assaulting prison guard Frank Bedford.

He was convicted on Sept. 30.

The fracas started when the guard tried to remove a writing board from the cell of another prisoner, John Lawrence Smith.

Both were imprisoned awaiting trial on other charges at the time. Smith began fighting with the guard and then Brune grabbed Bedford.

PEACEMAKER?

Brune's lawyer Alan Bigelow said Brune did not strike the guard "but was merely trying to hold the man so the fight could be stopped."

"Perhaps his role was minor, but discipline in prisons must be maintained," said Magistrate William Ostler in imposing sentence.

Smith was sentenced to four months for his part in the scuffle at an earlier hearing.

Atheists Get Invitation But No Decree

A Dutch couple refused Canadian citizenship because they wouldn't take the oath "So help me God," have been invited to a reception for new Canadian citizens next Wednesday.

Greater Victoria Citizenship Council has invited them to a coffee party in the new Y building following the swearing in of 32 new Canadians.

But Mr. and Mrs. Martin Vanderpol, 2758 Grainger, will not be sworn in. They will simply attend the reception as guests.

MARTIN VANDERPOL
. . . 'nice gesture'

"It is a very nice gesture on the part of the Citizenship Council," Mr. Vanderpol said today. "At first I thought it meant we were to receive Canadian citizenship. This is not so. The Law Courts have received no word on our case."

Mr. Vanderpol said he is still awaiting word from Ottawa as to whether he and his wife can become Canadians without taking the oath "So help me God."

They were refused citizenship in Victoria County Court earlier this year when they told Judge Montague Drake they were atheists and could not conscientiously take the oath.

Judge Drake expressed regret but said he had to abide by the Citizenship Act.

A Dutch couple living in Caledonia, Ont. — Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bergsma — also refused to say "So help me God" in their application for citizenship because they said they were atheists.

Yet they will receive their papers next week.

When they were first refused citizenship, their case was brought up in Parliament by Dr. William Howe, NDP member for Hamilton South.

"In my opinion the Bergsmas have been shopping around for a sympathetic magistrate," Mr. Vanderpol said.

Newcomers to Victoria are Assistant Commissioner F. Spalding, RCMP, and Mrs. Spalding with their daughter, Sandra. They arrived in Victoria at the beginning of September when A/C Spalding took over the command of "E" Division of Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The family, formerly of Vancouver, is now making their home at 2560 Cotswold Road.

Of Personal Interest

UNIVERSITY BALL

One of the social highlights of the season will take place in the Empress Hotel ballroom on Friday, October 22, when the third annual University of Victoria Alumni Ball will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Patrons for the ball are His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, His Honor Judge J. B. Clearihue, chancellor of the university; Dr. Malcolm G. Taylor, university president, and Mayor R. B. Wilson. Dave Pepper's orchestra will play for dancing. A smorgasbord will be served later in the evening.

Nobel Prize Winner

Weekend visitors to the city will be Dr. and Mrs. Linus Pauling of Pasadena, Calif., who will arrive here Saturday morning for a one-day stay. Dr. Pauling, winner of the Nobel Prizes for Peace and Chemistry, will address a gathering of professors and students of the chemistry department at the University of Victoria Saturday afternoon and will speak at an international affairs seminar in the evening. Dr. and Mrs. Pauling will be honor guests at a dinner Saturday evening, given by the Alma Mater Society of the university in Holyrood House. Autumn-toned chrysanthemums and gladioli will centre the head table. Guests will include Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm G. Taylor, Dean Ronald Jeffels and Mrs. Jeffels, Dean R. T. Wallace and Mrs. Wallace, Dr. Brock Chisholm and members of the Uvic Students' Council. A tea in honor of Mrs. Pauling will be given Saturday afternoon by the Voice of Women in the Dallas Road home of Prof. and Mrs. C. S. Burchill. Special guests will be Dr. and Mrs. Chisholm and Miss Sara Spencer.

Following Dr. Pauling's address in the afternoon, he will be honored at a reception by the Uvic department of chemistry. Attending will be faculty members.

Tots Capture Hearts With Song at Party

Thirteen starry-eyed pre-schoolers, ranging from 16 months to five years of age, stole all hearts as they sang "Jesus Loves Me" at the annual Pound Party and Donation Tea sponsored by the Ladies' Committee of the British Columbia Protestant Orphans' Home on Thursday afternoon in the auditorium of the home.

The main part of the program consisted of a selection of hymns sung by the older children of the home, directed by Rev. Cecil Barner, and accompanied by Mrs. N. Harwood at the piano.

Mrs. J. Collins received pound gifts of preserves, sugar, flour, line, and candies for the children.

Cashiers Mrs. R. S. D. Clack and Mrs. A. Adams reported donations totalling $350. The ladies' committee uses these donations for the general welfare of the children in the home.

Receiving guests at the tea, which has been an annual event for many years, were Mrs. N. Harwood, president; Mrs. W. Luney, past president; Mrs. A. M. Ludgate, matron, and Mrs. O. Wiseman, assistant matron.

Mrs. F. Lesley was convener, assisted by Mrs. C. J. McLeod, Mrs. P. W. Mackereth, Mrs. G. Murdoch, Mrs. F. M. Shandley, Mrs. J. W. King, Mrs. M. H. French, Mrs. W. Clark, Mrs. J. MacLachlan and Mrs. A. Wiszniewski.

Mrs. T. McGimpsey was in charge of the flowers, which featured arrangements of chrysanthemums in autumn tones.

Tea and an assortment of cookies were served to the guests.

The program ended with all the children singing their theme song, "God Bless Our Children's Home."

106,000 IN FIVE YEARS

Commission Predicts Big Rise In Co-Ed Numbers

OTTAWA (CP). — More and more co-eds will make the campus scene over the next 10 years, the Bladen commission on higher education predicted this week.

A statistical study prepared for the commission forecasts young women will increase their share of full-time university enrolment to 36 per cent in 1975 from 30 per cent a year ago, and only 21 per cent eight years ago.

Female enrolment is projected at 106,000 five years from now and 165,000 in 1975, compared with 50,000 a year ago and only 13,300 in the fall of 1951.

The commission, appointed by the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, did not make any specific recommendations about women students.

The universities were accused Monday of showing intolerance and prejudice against women by Mrs. M. J. Sabia of St. Catharines, president of the Canadian Federation of University Women.

She told the Ottawa Club most universities discourage women graduate students by imposing quotas and age restrictions. For instance, McGill University in Montreal had a five per cent quota for women in architecture and a 10 per cent quota in medicine.

OES Bazaar On Saturday

Mrs. Frank Hindle is general convener of the annual bazaar of the Unity Chapter No. 84 Order of the Eastern Star, to be held in the Masonic Temple 679 Goldstream Avenue on Saturday from 2 to 4:30 p.m. She will be assisted by Mrs. Elmer Wolf.

The affair will be opened by grand officer Mrs. James Owen while guests will be greeted by worthy matron Mrs. Lawrence Rogers.

Convening the various stalls will be Mrs. Walter Aspin, Mrs. A. C. Erickson, Mrs. E. B. Hackett, Mrs. H. W. West, Mrs. F. Slater, Mrs. T. L. Bayley, Mrs. J. E. Braithwaite, Mrs. A. A. Rankin, Mrs. F. A. Raines, Mrs. W. A. Robinson, Mrs. William Galbraith, Mrs. T. Panter and Mrs. H. Smyth.

Contests will be convened by Roy Houston, Elmer Wolf, Mrs. S. Soudamore, Mrs. N. Kennedy and Mrs. Robert Reid.

Mrs. William Patterson and Miss Mary Powers will be in charge of receipts.

DR. J. L. W. McLEAN OFFICIATES

Pink Gladioli at the Altar For Pickup-Midgley Vows

Arrangements of gladioli in pink tones were at the altar of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, recently, when Dr. J. L. W. McLean heard marriage vows exchanged between Maureen Ann Midgley and James Herbert Pickup.

"The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Miss W. Cox, accompanied by organist C. C. Warren, during the ceremony uniting the daughter of Mrs. V. Midgley, 2921 Ilene Terrace, and the late Mr. Midgley, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pickup, 1975 Lee Avenue. "The Wedding Prayer" was sung during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her brother, Reg Midgley, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon over taffeta, styled with Alencon lace appliques starring the skirt. A band of similar lace encircled the waistline. The bodice featured an oval neckline and sleeves ending in lily points. Her three-tier bouffant veil of silk illusion net, made by Mrs. J. Ostle, misted from a self-fabric circlet. Only jewelry was a culture pearl necklace and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Matron of honor Mrs. A. Midgley, bridesmatrons, Mrs. J. Midgley and Mrs. J. Spence and bridesmaids the Misses Vicky Rigby and Sandra Midgley, were in matching bell-skirted gowns of aqua nylon sheer.

They complemented their ensembles with toning circlet headpieces and carried bouquets of white and aqua feathered carnations. Jewelry was pearl necklaces and earrings, gifts of the bride.

Flowergirl Patti Stewart was in a frock of pink nylon, highlighted with pearls. Her headpiece was a circlet of carnations and she carried a colonial flower basket.

Best man was Evan Stewart. Bob Allison, Dick Midgley and Ross Williams ushered guests to pews marked with white carnations.

The groom's mother made the three-tier wedding cake, decorated in blue and white, which centred the bride's table for the reception following in the Union Centre.

Ernie Oliver proposed the toast to the bride.

The couple is now making their home in Victoria following a honeymoon trip to Oregon.

For travelling, the new Mrs. Pickup chose a white Italian-knit suit, complemented with black accessories and white rosebuds en corsage. Topping the ensemble was a muskrat jacket, gift of the groom.

Auld, Mr. Don McCurdy, Mrs. M. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morrison, Duncan and Anne; Mr. and Mrs. Buck Sang Chung, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. D. Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. D. Fuhre, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Budd, the Misses Florence Brown and Daphne Bowman. Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. F. Hull, Nanaimo; Mr. and Mrs. R. Eades Sr. of Gibson's, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. L. Atcheson of Duncan; Mr. and Mrs. H. North of Alhambra, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Auld and Jamie of Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. Lea Smith of Hornby Island, B.C.

In Victoria

Mrs. Francis Porter travelled from her Vancouver home, recently, to attend the wedding of her niece, Miss Shirley Van Nes, and Mr. Garry Marshall. Other out-of-town guests were the groom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Marshall of Kamloops, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Barnhill of Vancouver.

Pre-Nuptial Parties

A corsage of red roses was presented to bride-elect Miss Patricia Edge, whose marriage to Paul Apro takes place this Saturday, when Mrs. C. Spencer held a shower in her Carey Road home.

Mother of the guest of honor, Mrs. T. W. Edge, and grandmother, Mrs. J. Edge, both received corsages of pink roses and daisies.

Also attending the shower were Mrs. G. Beecroft, Mrs. J. Schuring, Mrs. C. Moffit, Mrs. W. Schuring, Mrs. W. Clouston and Miss Linda Edge.

Co-workers at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce entertained at a shower for Miss Edge in the Easter Road home of Mrs. J. Yost.

Pink and red roses en corsage were given to the bride-elect and her mother respectively. Gifts were in a decorated laundry basket.

Also present were Mrs. Beecroft, Mrs. W. Townsend, Mrs. D. Lewis, Mrs. S. Moorhouse, Mrs. D. Coverdale, Mrs. M. Bowden, Mrs. R. Vose, the Misses Darlene Young and Joan Hoffman.

The Rockwell Road home of Mrs. A. Kent was the setting for a shower for Miss Edge.

The bride-elect was presented with a corsage of red gladioli and her mother and grandmother both received daisies en corsage. A decorated box held the gifts.

Guests included Mrs. S. Whittaker, Mrs. R. Copley, Mrs. M. Foster, Mrs. B. Youell, Mrs. Kent, Mrs. T. Youell, Mrs. J. Thom, Mrs. P. Howe, Mrs. M. Grant, Mrs. Beecroft, Mrs. R. Youell, Mrs. D. Youell, Mrs. K. Nelson and Miss Bernice Nelson.

A decorated laundry basket held gifts when Mrs. S. Dunnell entertained at a shower in her Selkirk Road home. A corsage of red rosebuds, surrounded by silver leaves, was presented to the bride-elect and her mother received pink rosebuds en corsage.

Invited guests included Mrs. Foster, Mrs. L. Wardell, Mrs. B. Burley, Mrs. Beecroft, Mrs. D. Huck, Mrs. B. Watson, Mrs. J. Edge, Mrs. A. Angus, Mrs. M. Angus, the Misses Wanda Wardell, Barbara and Janice Huck, Diane Burley and Lynda Edge.

Red roses en corsage were presented to Miss Edge when Mrs. K. Nelson held a shower in her Carey Road home.

Her mother was given a corsage of pink carnations and her grandmother received white chrysanthemums. A laundry basket held the gifts.

Guests included Mrs. Whittaker, Mrs. H. Nowotniak, Mrs. Bowden, Mrs. A. More, Mrs. Coverdale, Mrs. E. Dack, the Misses Pat Nowotniak, Bernice Nelson and Lynda Edge.

QUEBEC LIME PIT MURDERS COULD REACH 10

CLOUD OF SAND is kicked up by U.S. pro Tommy Jacobs of Denver, Colo., as he hits out of trap during Ryder Cup golf match at Southport, Eng., today. He and partner, Don January, of Dallas, Tex., played against Britain's Dave Thomas and George Will. After the morning round of today's foursomes, the U.S. led Britain 6½ to 5½ at the halfway mark of the three-day event. (AP Wirephoto.)

TROOPS USE TEAR GAS IN ATTACK

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. paratroopers launched a big new operation on the fringe of the Viet Cong's D zone and used non-lethal tear gas, a U.S. military spokesman said.

No further details were immediately available on the gas attack.

In a major change of policy, the field commander had been authorized before the operation to use non-lethal tear gas if he deemed it necessary. The object was to flush out the Viet Cong without wounding or killing non-combatants.

A U.S. military spokesman said the Americans made "significant contact" with the enemy.

Thousands of U.S. troops combed a densely jungled area about 30 miles north of Saigon. Australian forces supported the operation.

B-52 bombers from Guam hammered the area twice before the U.S. ground offensive.

MOVE IN CONVOYS

The paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed by helicopter and moved into the Viet Cong area in convoys along Highway 13, near the district capital of Ben Cat.

The fighting was believed to have been heavy. A personnel carrier hit a Viet Cong mine and overturned. Casualties were reported moderate.

Informed sources said the authorization to use tear gas in the D zone operation was given by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, because it was felt that non-lethal gas was the most humane weapon that could be used in certain situations the paratroopers probably would encounter.

The Viet Cong often take cover among non-combatant civilians, many times among women and children, in the trench systems, underground holes that dot much of the countryside in D zone.

Analyst's Comments

By HAL MALONE

FIRST RACE: In a typical scramble, racing luck could be the deciding factor. Colinda looked like money in the pocket in her last but couldn't withstand Whaang Leather's charge. We expect her and Golden Bough to lead them with Yamoto and Smoke Call in the second flight. Loodani, Donmaid and Cross Message all get well out of it the first part and need a faltering pace to show to advantage. Mild preference is given to Yamoto who obviously needed that last one . . . YAMOTO (Colinda).

SECOND RACE: There isn't much to choose between these and trying to figure out the pace is like hanging wallpaper with one hand tied behind your back. Little Rooster, Commander Joe, Busy Morn and Man of Mark may be early leaders with Fifteen Freckles, who is dropping, and Miss Ky Lea the late runners. Busy Morn drops three pounds and gets a different rider. Miss Ky Lea ran into a wall of horses when she was making a big move but she may miss Salas. In a grab-bag . . . LITTLE ROOSTER (Busy Morn).

THIRD RACE: Since they elected to bring Whaang Leather off the pace, she's been much more impressive. Horses don't always run as well on a drying track as they do in the slop but in her case the spot looks ideal. Lloyter drops eight for this but he needs handling in the lane. Aleja should be able to draw clear early and without anybody pushing her might hang on better. Sunrise Gal is an interesting possibility at a price . . . WHAANG LEATHER (Lloyter).

FOURTH RACE: Bossy Belle, if she goes, Some Royal Flush and Bold Mister, if he's in the mood, should reel off fast early fractions here. Some Royal is the most reliable but he'd like it better if there was nobody to push him. Gulf Island gets Broomfield today and could get on the board. The fast pace could set it up for Fighting Hawk. He doesn't have legs like Betty Grable but his courage could carry him home. . . FIGHTING HAWK (Gulf Island).

FIFTH RACE: There's nothing in here of whom you can say "no chance." With all the early lick we suspect they'll take Read It off the pace. She's dangerous either way but in this spot her chances, we suspect, would be enhanced if they let her play it cool the first part. Pils Friday, Speedy Arrow, Some Standard and Brown Wheat all roar from the gate. Harlion has four wins under his saddlecloth and looms as the one to beat but at the weights and considering how she should appreciate the fractions we came up with . . . PATRICIA BAM (Harlion).

SIXTH RACE: We've always regarded Ky Look as a sprinter, but unless there are mass changes in strategy here Combs could get her a long way in front. Trejos gave Cadala a perfect ride over

Fourth Victim Found by Police

(Times News Services)

QUEBEC CITY—Quebec's lime pit murders totalled four today and Quebec Justice Minister Claude Wagner said he expects more bodies will be found.

"I don't know when it will end—whether there will be six murders, or seven, or ten or more," he said.

Police Thursday night found the body of Henri-Paul Chandonnet, 38, who was to have been a witness in arson and false bankruptcy cases now before the courts.

The body, covered in quicklime, was in a thickly-wooded area near the village of Hamsud, Que., near Sherbrooke. Three bodies had earlier been found in quicklime near St. Gilles, 30 miles south of Quebec City.

All the murders have been tied by police to the arson and bankruptcy cases.

The latest victim was a close friend of suspected fraud and arson kingpin, Moise Darabaner, who has been sent to trial on two charges of arson and conspiracy for arson.

The justice department said the victim was a director of a company belonging to Darabaner.

Darabaner appeared in court this morning at Quebec City but the preliminary hearing was postponed until Oct. 15.

The charges involve a fire last May which badly damaged a building here housing offices of the roads department. Earlier this week Darabaner was ordered to stand trial on charges involving a 1961 fire at a home in nearby St. Lambert de Levis.

At Darabaner's preliminary hearing on those charges, witness Oliva Boulet testified he saw Robert Faucher shot and killed with a revolver near St. Gilles, 30 miles south of here. The body of Faucher is one of four police have found in an alleged underworld killing spree to get rid of witnesses.

FRAUD CHARGE

Darabaner is scheduled for trial Oct. 12 on a fraud charge involving $115,000.

The arson charges against Darabaner and several other persons are the result of a provincial investigation into a series of fires believed to have involved arson in Quebec province over the last few years.

In an interview today, Justice Minister Wagner said that the fourth victim, Chandonnet, was a travelling salesman from Champigny, just outside Quebec City. He disappeared Sept. 25.

On Sept. 27 he was shot to death by underworld gangsters and buried—covered with caustic lime—in a pit near the small village of Ham South about 40 miles north east of

'No Evidence MPs Linked With Offences'

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Cardin said Thursday night in a statement that the Montreal police have no information indicating any member of Parliament has committed, directly or indirectly, any offence in connection with any of the bankruptcy cases being investigated in Quebec.

He said: "I have been in touch with the deputy director of the Montreal police and he informs me that, contrary to certain press reports, the Montreal police have no information that indicates that any member of Parliament of any party has committed, directly or indirectly, any offence in connection with any of the bankruptcy cases they have investigated."

Mr. Cardin said there is nothing in bankruptcy documents in his department's files to indicate "that any offences or irregularities have been committed by any member of Parliament or other public servant."

Mr. Cardin said he was replying to statements made by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and Erik Nielsen, Conservative MP for the Yukon in the last Parliament.

RELATE TO COMPANIES

He said two of the three departmental files referred to by Mr. Nielsen relate to companies with which Max and Adolph Sefkind were associated.

"All three files contain routine financial reports. They do not contain any information related to any allegation of fraud or to any other aspect of the administration of the Bankruptcy Act."

N.Y. Paper Strike End Looms

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner said today that negotiations for the New York Times and American Newspaper Guild have reached agreement to settle a strike which has blacked out six daily newspapers for 23 days.

Resumption of publication would depend on acceptance of the proposals by members of the striking New York Times unit of the American Newspaper Guild.

Chicago Students Stage Riot

CHICAGO (UPI)—Police today evacuated Austin High School on Chicago's northwest side when bottle-throwing fights spread through the buildings. Police said some of the fights were between white and Negro students. However, other brawls broke out between Negro bands and still more between mixed groups of white and Negro teen-agers.

Three Armed Men Arrested

HAMMOND, Ont. (CP) — Three armed men, suspected members of a gang that robbed a Casselman, Ont., bank of $4,000 Thursday, were arrested in a farmer's barn today by provincial police armed with sub-machine guns, shotguns and rifles. A fourth man was arrested in the same area later.

Top Choice Wins First At Sandown

Breaking on top out of the gate the favored Pascanna, with jockey Sandy Shields aboard, made a parade of the first race at the Sandown track this afternoon.

Solid Beat, another top choice, finished in the second slot after running back of the leader all the way. Centennial Su took third money.

Despite the unsettled weather there was a good crowd on hand and the track was rated as fast.

Pascanna paid $4.10, $2.90 and $2.70. Solid Beat's mutuels were $2.80 and $2.50. Centennial Su returned $4.30. The one-two was worth a slim $6.80.

57 Deaths Predicted On Roads

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Highway Safety Council said Thursday the number of traffic deaths during the Thanksgiving Day weekend might total 57.

The council said in a statement relatively warm weather will draw more drivers to the highways.

Last year the weekend produced 40 deaths, 12 below the eight-year average of 52.

KIDNEY STONE, GALL BLADDER REMOVED

Johnson Doing Well After Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's gall bladder operation was performed without complications today and three hours later he was reported "doing well."

However, White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson, as would any patient recovering from a gall bladder operation, was "experiencing mild discomfort."

The operation itself went "beautifully and as expected" in the words of one of the doctors and was pronounced a "complete success."

The surgical team did find and remove a kidney stone in the ureter as well as removing the faulty gall bladder. The ureter is a passage through which urine is voided.

Johnson was in the operating room from 7 a.m. to 9:15 a.m.

Moyers reported Johnson began to emerge from an anesthetic sleep less than an hour after the surgery by a medical team enlisted in part from the famed Mayo Clinic.

He said he himself had talked with the president about 11 a.m.

Moyers said the doctors told him the operation was "routine." There was no cardiac irregularity and the president's blood pressure remained normal throughout.

A month ago, Johnson suffered stomach pains that led medical experts to conclude—after extensive tests that he had a poorly functioning gall bladder with stones.

Dr. George A. Hallenbeck of the Mayo Clinic, who performed the operation, said Johnson might be able to get out of bed later in the day—surely by Saturday. But, said Hallenbeck, the president won't feel good-as-new for perhaps six weeks.

Vice - President Hubert H. Humphrey is remaining in Washington at least through the early stages of Johnson's hospital stay. He has authority to make any presidential decisions that might be necessary while Johnson is under anesthsia or later, in the event of any medical crisis that might disable the president.

Mrs. Johnson and their 18-year-old daughter, Luci Baines, spent the night in hospital, in rooms adjoining the president's third-floor suite.

Johnson's hospital stay is forecast for 10 to 14 days, to be followed by several weeks of reduced activity during recuperation either at the White House or, perhaps, his Texas ranch.

OTTAWA CONFERENCE TO LAUNCH FIGHT

War on Crime Shapes Up

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Cardin announced today provincial attorneys-general will meet federal authorities here Dec. 2-3 to discuss all aspects of crime in Canada.

The decision to hold such a conference was taken July 22 at the federal-provincial conference here but exact dates were left to be settled through correspondence between Mr. Cardin and his provincial counterparts.

Mr. Cardin announced the dates in an interview but said details of the conference agenda must await further correspondence with the attorneys-general.

He said the agenda will be as "comprehensive and useful as possible."

Asked about a Quebec report that the conference is expected to discuss fraudulent bankruptcies and arson rackets, Mr. Cardin said it was possible these topics would be on the agenda, depending on whether any attorneys-general recommend their inclusion.

He estimated 25 to 30 officials will attend the conference and that heads of police associations likely will be invited.

Moslem Youths Fire Indonesia's Red Quarters

JAKARTA (AP) — Young Moslem demonstrators burned the Indonesian Communist party's headquarters to the ground today in a riotous reaction to the leftist coup attempt last weekend.

Several thousand youths staged the raid, ignoring President Sukarno's efforts to protect the Communist party. Known as the PKI and claiming 3,000,000 members, it has been a powerful element in Sukarno's support.

Also ignored was a declaration by the Communists that they had nothing to do with the abortive uprising, led by Lt.-Col. Untung, a battalion commander of Sukarno's presidential guard.

The youths, demonstrating in a fashion developed by the Indonesian Communists, demanded dissolution of the party and its leader. They paraded with shouts of "To hell with the PKI" and "Long live America."

Indonesian troops who broke the back of the attempted coup last Friday, cordoned-off streets leading to the PKI headquarters and made no attempt to interfere.

'KILL AIDIT'

The demonstrating youths shouted "Kill Aidit" and "Dissolve PKI." D. N. Aidit is the first secretary of the PKI. He has been out of sight since the coup failed last weekend.

(A Jakarta radio broadcast, heard in Kuala Lumpur, said 50,000 persons held an anti-Communist rally in Jakarta's main stadium today. The broadcast said "the rally was held in very tense atmosphere" and got somewhat out of hand when some of the crowd began to shout "Kill! Kill! Kill immediately!")

Most of the demonstrators were from Ansor, the youth wing of the biggest Moslem political group.

The Indonesian Army meanwhile continued its anti-Communist campaign despite President Sukarno's attempts to check it.

The army newspaper Berita Yudha reported the arrest of three Communist Youth Front members who it said had confessed taking part in the murder of six Indonesian army generals during the attempted coup last week.

Since martial law was proclaimed last Saturday, the army has had control of the capital and its suburbs.

Sukarno at a cabinet meeting at his summer palace in Bogor Wednesday said he disapproved of the army's anti-Communist campaign and declared, "we should not take revenge."

Marine police in Singapore today reported gunfire and explosions on the Indonesian island of Samboe, in the Riau archipelago 15 miles from Singapore.

A revolution appeared to be in progress," police sources said but they had no information.

OVER RHODESIA

Talk Breakdown Sharpens Crisis

LONDON (AP) — Top-level talks aimed at settling the future of Rhodesia, Britain's central African colony, broke down tonight, posing the threat of a Rhodesian grab for independence.

A joint British-Rhodesian communique announcing the collapse said simply:

"Despite intensive discussion no means have been found of reconciling the opposing views.

"No further meeting has been arranged."

The statement was issued after Prime Ministers Wilson of Britain and Ian Smith of Rhodesia had tried for the second successive day to find some basis of compromise.

Smith emerged from a 2½-hour meeting with Wilson at 10 Downing Street and told correspondents the only agreement he had reached with Wilson was that "we have agreed to differ."

It was considered likely Smith would defy Britain and declare independence, bringing down on his head a British economic boycott.

No arrangements have yet been made for new exchanges, Smith said.

He told one questioner the two governments have "for the moment" reached the end.

"Has Rhodesia lost the battle?" another reporter asked. Smith replied slowly but firmly: "No, I wouldn't say that."

The big question dominating all thinking now is whether the empty-handed Smith and his fellow-ministers will fly back to Salisbury and fulfil their threats to seize independence for Rhodesia in defiance of Britain's legal right of veto.

In four days of intensive talking, Smith has run into a brick wall of British resistance to his demands Rhodesia be given independence unconditionally now.

FAILED TO PERSUADE

Wilson and his ministers have failed to persuade Smith to accept their terms for Rhodesian independence. Central condition is that the white-minority Smith government must recognize the inevitability of Negro majority rule in Rhodesia within the foreseeable future and must help to speed the process.

As the talks began British government spokesmen emphasized there is no question of Britain modifying its terms.

(See Page 20)

NEW YORK (CP)—The United States today rejected France's suggestion that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization be divided into a European and a North American structure which would work together in defence of the Atlantic alliance nations.

Wayne L. Hays, head of a U.S. House of Representatives delegation to the NATO parliamentarians' conference, said "France is wrong in its approach" to the reform of the Atlantic alliance.

Oil Inferno Controlled

NICOSCIA, Cyprus (UPI) — British troops worked in shifts today to contain a multi-million dollar blazing inferno at a Shell Company oil depot in southeast Cyprus, believed started by Communist sympathizers.

Most-Wanted Criminal Arrested

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial Police announced today the capture of Edwin Yule, 37, No. 1 on their list of 10 most wanted men.

He was arrested Thursday night a few hours after police had captured the third and fourth men on their list, Georges Normand and Andre Daoust.

Yule was sought following his escape in January, 1963, from the Verdun Protestant Hospital where he was being held after a coroner's jury found him criminally responsible but insane and unfit to stand trial for the 1951 rape and murder of a seven-year-old girl.

WOMAN BEARS SEXTUPLETS, FAIL TO LIVE

STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—A Swedish woman who received hormone treatment for sterility gave birth to sextuplets Sunday, but all the babies died a few hours after birth, a spokesman at Uppsala Academic hospital said today.

The two boys and four girls were born at the hospital in which a 54-year-old Swedish gynecologist, Professor Carl-Axel Gemzel, developed the treatment.

The mother was in good condition but he gave no details about her.

Gemzel has said his hormone treatment has resulted in more than 100 children being born in Sweden to women once believed sterile.

Hunter Lives After 200-Ft. Glacier Slide

KIMBERLEY (CP)—Donald Keough, Kamloops, was rescued from the 7,200-foot level of a mountain near here Thursday after he slid more than 200 feet down a glacier.

Keough and his brother, James had been hunting mountain sheep when the accident occurred. His slide down the glacier near the Estalla Mine ended when he crashed into trees.

His brother walked seven miles to Wasa Lake and telephoned for a helicopter.

Splints were placed on Keough's broken wrist and he was airlifted to Wasa and taken by ambulance to Kimberley hospital.

Police said Keough suffered possible broken ribs, a broken wrist and hip injuries.

. . . LIME PIT MURDERS

Sherbrooke in the eastern townships.

Thursday about a dozen Quebec Provincial Police from Montreal uncovered the body with Quebec City Chief Crown Prosecutor Anatole Corriveau looking on.

Like the three bodies found in the last ten days this one was mutilated beyond recognition by the burning lime.

The body was not moved immediately pending the arrival of experts from Montreal to analyze the soil surrounding it.

The autopsy will be held today.

There was no guesswork about this discovery.

Acting on an underworld tip-off in the last few days the police went straight to the area and dug.

"It was the result of much information received since Mr. Wagner's press conference in Montreal Monday," one of the justice minister's aides said.

Wagner himself said it was the "logical result of what has been going on."

"This is the reality of organized crime," he said.

Chandonnet was actually number six in the bodies the justice authorities had expected to discover, Wagner said.

FIRST THREE

The first three were dug up from lime pits in swampland south of Quebec City. Police are now digging in several areas.

They expect to find the remains of victims four and five, Maurice Gingras and Paul Nadeau, in locations southwest of Quebec City. Gingras has been missing since 1962 and Nadeau since 1959.

Wagner agreed the method used in the gangland murders was "grisly."

"But that is the only way the underworld knows of silencing witnesses," he said. "We are getting at them fast and they know it."

"These men could serve as witnesses and blow the whole thing open, and therefore they are silenced."

The justice minister said it was nothing new in organized crime—"These are the methods they use."

There is a "strong possibility" of a widespread international hook-up in the $100 million fraudulant bankruptcy and arson ring which the Quebec government is trying to smash after a year of intensive investigation, he said.
